MAKING A MOUNTAIN OUT OF A MOLE HILL.

The alarming stories which had been circulated relative to the alleged injurious ingredients of coca cola revealed their dirt's shell when the U. S. Government made its searching investigation of the popular soda fountain drink. At a cost estimated in the neighborhood of 100,000.00 the government brought together the most distinguished array of medical, scientific and legal experts that ever investigated a food product. Professors of chemistry from the big universities, lecturers from the leading medical colleges of America, experts in analytical chemistry and pharmacology, scientists of national and international reputation and Government experts from the Bureau of Chemistry in that Department of Agriculture, labored with the brightest legal minds of America to find something wrong with Coca-Cola.

After years of investigation and nearly four weeks of joint discussion the court found that Coca-Cola was neither misbranded nor adulterated. The manufacturers' statement of the ingredients of the beverage was correct. No alcohol, cocaine or other narcotic drug could be found. Sugar, caramel, fruit flavors and caffeine (the active principle of tea and coffee) were found to be the essential ingredients. Even the caffeine was found to be present in only about one-half the quantity found in tea and coffee. The mountain turned out to be a mole hill.—Adv.

As Viewed From the Iron Duke

The English navy was taken into consideration when the great powers of Europe became involved. The navy never was in finer condition than just now. The above picture was taken from the Iron Duke, which is now in the North sea.

Deutschland, Second Line German Battleship.

THE Deutschland, member of Germany's second battle squadron, is one of the smaller battleships of the Kaiser's navy, although in her time, not many years ago, she was one of his most powerful vessels. She has a displacement of 13,000 tons and carries four eleven-inch guns in her main battery. There are also other ships similar to the Deutschland in the German navy.
