EARNING AND LEARNING.

Every Youth Should Work for College Training. Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Man is triune, and the highest ideal of a complete man or woman is a healthy body, a strong clear mind and a pure character.

Therefore, fortunate is the man who has an opportunity to work with his hands or body while he is training his constitution as a foundation, and weaklings must fall out.

The boys and girls who paid their own way and learned to economize closely and to work hard are the most influential class in every community.

It would be a great blessing to the nation if every student was compelled to earn all of his expenses while in college or university.

VALUE OF EDUCATION.

I think we may assert that in 100 men there are more than 90 who are what they are, good or bad, useful or pernicious to society, from the instruction they have received.

THE BONDING COMPANIES ARE AGAINST DRINK.

Men desiring to occupy certain positions of trust in the United States must be bonded by regular "bonding companies."

EMPLOYERS PREFER TOTAL ABSTAINERS.

Report of a Government Investigation. The United States Commissioner of Labor made an investigation into the question as to what extent the fact of being a drinking man bars a man from obtaining employment.

Circulars of inquiry were sent to 7,000 employing concerns, all of which are representative in their lines of business.

The reason is a good one, and should be pondered by every workingman. To have a reputation as a sober man is distinct in a man's favor in obtaining work.

WAYS OF WORKING THROUGH COLLEGE

Plenty of Opportunities Where There's a Will.

Madison C. Peters in New York Press.

A college education is an investment of from $1,000 to $10,000 and the only men who can not make interest on the investment are those who have no special qualifications as men.

The majority who do go to college must work their way through. The expenditure has mightily increased with the prosperity of the times, but there are hundreds of colleges whose tuition is low and often free, and where the expenses can easily be met by one's own exertions.

Many a boy by earlier rising has made his way by selling newspapers. Those with musical talent have found an easy way.

Teaching evenings opens a wide field. The teacher's desk has been the best stepping stone to fame and fortune.

If an ambitious barber should happen to read this, and would like a college education, let him go ahead, take his chair, his razors and scissors, his soaps and brushes along with him.

If you are a tailor and sigh for new worlds to conquer get a move on, make for the college best suited for your capacity.

During vacation seaside resort hotels, clubs, swimming pavilions and mountains clamor for help—give extra employment in summer to thousands, as well as the trolley lines—and as a general rule, the college student gets first chance.

It often happens that the extra labor involved, the worry and anxiety to get on, undermine health and the whole beautiful vision of the future crowned with the glittering stars of success, passes away, never to return.

Don't be ashamed to work your way through college. Thousands have done it and came out on top. What others have done, you can do, if you have the will.

LOOK YOUR BEST.

There is great power in appearance. You are usually judged by the way you look, and you usually look the way you feel.

To look your best is not expensive. Clothe your mind as neatly as you can; that will cost you nothing, and be as neat, as clean, and as presentable in person as you can.

A RISING MAN.

He's willing and prompt, a dependable chap, The busiest man in the store.

He does what the boss requires of him, And always a little bit more.

He doesn't spend time looking up at the clock, To see how soon he can quit.

He's full of ambition and willing to work, And some day he's going to be it.

He's bound to go up, for if he should leave The whole shop would notice the loss.

He makes himself useful from morning till night, And so he stands high with the boss.

He works just as if it were all for himself, Not waiting in sloth to be led. The business to him seems already his own.

And some day he'll stand at the head. —Somerville Journal.

THE CASH VALUE OF EDUCATION.

The best way to illustrate the cash value of an education is by a simple process of arithmetic.

You can easily obtain the value of the time spent at school by subtracting the earnings of a life of UNEDUCATED labor from the earnings of a life of EDUCATED labor.

An educated man usually works by the month or year. One thousand dollars a year is a low average for the earnings of educated labor.

SUCCESS.

One of the most impressive facts of history is that thousands of the world's most successful men started without the ghost of a chance.

There is not an occupation or profession in existence that has not been glorified by men or boys who, at the start, were no greater than the average boy or man.

Usually self-supporting students are the most desirable—they can't afford to drink, smoke, gamble or take part in the reckless excesses which so often characterize the college life of the sons of the rich.

Expectetis says: "Difficulties are things that show what men are."

When we are burdened with the daily toil and ceaseless grind, it will be worth while to remember that John Mitchell, former president of the United Mine Workers of America, once dug in a coal mine, and that Mr. Bryan cleaned up a business man's office in order to pay part of his college expenses.

SAILING OR DRIFTING—WHICH?

There are two kinds of men in the world; those who sail and those who drift; those who choose the ports to which they will go, and skilfully and boldly shape their course across the seas with the wind or against it.

The men who sail, in due time arrive; those who drift, often cover greater distances and face far greater perils, but they never make port.

There are few really fine things which he cannot get if he is willing to pay the price. Men fail, as a rule, because they will not pay the price of the thing they want.

Our employers do not decide whether we shall stay where we are or go on and up; we decide that matter ourselves.

"MAKE GOOD."

Make Good. Cut out "if," "could," and "should."

And start in to saw wood, You can still have the best Things in life, like the rest Of the men who've achieved Just because they've believed in themselves.

You must get out and rustle and bustle and hustle; You need all your muscle, for you've got to tussle, Plunge into the fight, Hit to left and to right, And keep crashing and smashing.

Nothing in the world can take the place of persistence. Talent will not; nothing is more common than un-successful men of talent.
