Todd Has Made The Clock Stand Still in Anderson

The problem of life today is speed. He who can move, think and act quickly doubles his life.

The Ford doubles the life and power of the busy man. To be without a Ford, if you can possibly manage to get one, is to be out of step with the times.

The struggle for speed has been the story of mankind.

The Ford enables man to move about almost as rapidly as the bird—and now the intelligent citizen is telling himself, "The Ford is the car I shall buy."

Let us give some reasons why every man should buy a Ford: The Ford means economy.

All that a man has in his life is time, and not much of that.

The Ford adds minutes to the hour, and hours to the day and doubles, triples and quadruples man's efficiency.

And this does not apply only to the doctor, with his many visits, or to the fashionable woman rushed in nine directions by calling, shopping and other pleasures and duties—but to everyone.

The Ford will do as much for a plumber as for a man of leisure. It will do as much for the butcher, contractor or other business men as it will for the richest citizen.

We used to tell the workers then that one day they would be the chief user of the bicycle—and that statement is now false. We tell the workers today that the time is here when to them, more than to any other class, the Ford is the greatest blessing.

The day is here when the tradesman, builder, skilled mechanic, can economically own a Ford. Let a man care for his own machine—an intelligent boy can do it.

Let the owner consider that he is using his valuable property as he drives. Then the life of a Ford, low in price, is almost without limit.

And the ownership of a car, far from being an extravagance, is an actual economy. It saves time and makes money during the week. It gives happiness to the entire family on Sunday. It is a healthful, useful pleasure.

MARKET REPORT

New York Cotton

New York, Sept. 19.—The feature in cotton circles today and one which, if continued much longer, will go far towards making possible reopening of the exchange was the decided strength reported in southern spot markets. It gave much confidence to the long interest here and will doubtless have an effect in accelerating liquidation of the straddle account.

The conference committee reported sales yesterday of 400 bales, all at 9.50. The heavy rains reported from the central and eastern belts were expected to delay picking and the movement and perhaps the quality of cotton also, and this also had a stimulating effect on the local sentiment. The committee which went to Washington yesterday to confer with the secretary of agriculture over certain perplexing sections of the Lever bill is expected to make a report early next week.

Liverpool Cotton

Liverpool, Sept. 19.—Cotton spot in moderate demand. Sales 1400 bales including 1,200 American on basis of 5.80d for middling. Imports 1,935 bales. No American.

Cotton Seed Oil

New York, Sept. 19.—The cotton seed oil market was quiet with small price changes, but after a steady opening in sympathy with hard. Closing prices were unchanged to 8 points lower.

Chicago Grain

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Broadening demand carried wheat prices up today with a rush. The extreme advance was 3-3/8c but not all of the gain was held and the market closed unsettled 1-3/4 to 3-8c above last night. Corn bulged 1-1/4 to 1-3/8c net and oats 7-8 to 1c. In provisions the outcome was unchanged to 20c higher.

Dry Goods

New York, Sept. 19.—Cotton goods and cotton yarns markets were generally firmer and higher than they were a week ago although price relations on finished goods are now becoming more common in keeping with the revising made on gray goods and brown goods sometime ago. The inability to get dye stuffs continues to restrict trade in all colored goods lines and prices on those lines are generally higher than on bleached and unbleached lines. Financial conditions hamper trade a great deal for export and

OBITUARY

Mrs. Lou Wayfield.
Dear mother departed this life in peace September the 7th, after a long illness of eight months of awful suffering. She often times said that when death was to come on any one it could not be prevented. We would tell her not to talk that way, but she would talk the more, telling us to be ready to meet her in heaven. She leaves a husband and seven children to mourn her death, two sons and five daughters.

A precious one from us has gone. A voice we loved is still; A place is vacant in our home That never can be filled.

It was to her bedside she called us, and told us that she was going to die and stretched out her loving hands and kissed us good bye.

She told father that she would like to stay with him to help rear the two little children but as it was the Lord's will to take her she was willing and ready to go.

Farewell, dear mother, Sweet thy rest, Weary with years and worn with pain, Farewell until in some happy place We shall behold thy face again. S. E. M. Piedmont, S. C., Sept. 17.
