THE LATEST WAR NEWS

The Germans have taken Pilsener, and are now surrounding Deicattessen, where the worst is expected. The Belgian Hares have had a falling out with the Welsh Rarebits, and the Swiss Cheese is shot full of holes. This will make the Irish stew and the English mustard hot, and if the Russian Caviar sees the French Pastry, it may start a Swiss movement watch! The Spanish Onions are strong for a mixup, and if the Home Preserves are called out and spread over the German Noodles, they may Ketchup with the Navy Beans, thereby causing an uprising of the Brussels Sprouts. Loyce, of Belton, Route 1, was here on business Wednesday. Miss Jack Ward, who has been spending the summer in town the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J.

M. Ward, left Friday afternoon for New York city, where she will attend Columbia University. Miss Ward is taking a post graduate course in this institution and will receive her degree next summer. J. A. Shaw, Sr., of Belton, Route 1, was among those in town on business Wednesday. H. M. Geer, Mrs. Jessie Lewis, E. T. Brazzale and Miss Kirk Patrick were among those who motored over to Anderson Monday morning. M. C. Brown, a prosperous farmer of Belton, Route 4, was a business visitor here Monday. J. K. Phillips, the efficient express agent at the Southern depot, spent Sunday very pleasantly with friends in Greenville. Mrs. A. C. Latimer was called to Atlanta Tuesday morning on account of the illness of her son, Carroll. John Lowe, of Mt. Bethel section, was a business visitor here Wednesday. BIRTH. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Green, in Anderson, Monday, September 21, a fine son. The Belton Fair Premium List is ready for distribution and those interested in the premiums can get a copy by calling at the Journal office. The premiums are numerous this year and we hope that the entries will be large. The date of the fair is Wednesday, October 21. We want every one interested in this movement to do everything in their power to assist the officers in making the fifth annual Belton Fair a record-breaker. Get your exhibits ready and be on hand early the morning of the opening in order that everything can be placed early. The work done by the officers will be hard and we need the co-operation of everybody interested in this grand undertaking. BIRTHDAY PARTY. A number of Mrs. H. M. Geer's friends had her birthday arranged for a delightful meal and with Mrs. Mitchell's assistance had invited the guests without ever arousing Mrs. Geer's curiosity. The affair was most enjoyable. The dining room was beautifully decorated in roses and ferns. Mrs. Geer received a number of beautiful presents. Among those present were Mrs. and Mrs. D. A. Geer, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Geer, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Jell, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Rice, Jr. and Mrs. F. M. Cox, Mrs. Jessie Lewis, Mrs. Alice Geer, Mrs. W. H. Jobb, Jr., Miss Kirkpatrick, Miss Mary Rodgers, Miss Lizzie King, Miss Margaret Adams, Mrs. Frierson, L. A. Werts and Dr. A. B. Weatherbee. MILLINERY OPENINGS. The millinery openings of the two millinery stores here Tuesday and Wednesday of this week was a pleasant occasion. The Belton Mercantile Co. and Mrs. M. C. Cunningham are the proprietors of these popular millinery establishments and their many friends and customers were on hand in large numbers both days. The hats were very pretty and attractive this season and many were sold on the opening days. GOOD ROADS MEETING. Some time ago a call was issued by the Columbia Chamber of Commerce and Col. E. J. Watson, Commissioner of Agriculture, for a general good roads meeting to be held in Columbia on October 1st, at which time ways and means would be discussed for a campaign to construct bridges and highways throughout this state. Unforeseen complications have arisen, necessitating the postponement of this movement from the first of October until the first week in December. A great deal of interest is being manifested in this movement, not only by the citizens of South Carolina but by the American Highway Association, who are in sympathy with the movement and have volunteered their good offices toward making it a success. PRICE-CEPELANE. A wedding of much interest to many people in the county occurred in Pendleton on September 15th, when Miss Madge Price became the bride of Mr. Curtis C. Copeland, of Cheddar, the marriage ceremony being performed by Dr. Robert Adams, of the Pendleton Presbyterian Church. Miss Price, who has made her home in Greenville for some time, is a young lady of attractive and pleasant personality and has many friends in Cheddar who are glad to have her here. Mr. Copeland is one of the leading farmers of this community. After a few days' visit in Pendleton and Oconee, they are receiving the best wishes of friends at the home of the groom, near Cheddar.

NEGRO MANGLED. Ben Brownlee, a negro about 25 years of age, was caught in a pulley at the gin of Edward King, in Greenville county, about three miles from Toney Creek, last Monday and was badly mangled. Two of Belton's physicians were called immediately and reached him in a short time after the accident. Very little hope was held out for the recovery of the negro, but the physicians performed an operation and left the negro as comfortably as possible. Yesterday we saw one of the doctors and he informed us that the negro would very likely recover.

DAMAGED COTTON. S. G. Murdock, of the Craytonville section, was a visitor here Wednesday. Mr. Murdock is very much worried about his cotton. He had 10 acres of fine cotton and the whole crop has begun to rot. A dark spot comes on the boll after it is grown and then the boll rots. Mr. Murdock is afraid the boll weevil has struck his cotton. He has gathered three bales of cotton and may get three more, but should have gotten at least eight. He brought some of the damaged cotton to town. We examined six stalks and two-thirds of the grow bolls were rotten.

FAKE CHOLERA CURES. Farmers have no one but themselves to blame if they use fake cholera cures. The veterinary division of Clemson College has warned against them repeatedly. Every so-called cure for log cholera which it has examined has been a fake. When some of your hogs get cholera the only course to take is to separate the sick ones from the herd and notify your county demonstration agent or send to Dr. M. Eay Powers, Clemson College, for serum with which to inoculate the well hogs.

The girls and boys of the Belton high school gave an informal party at the school house Friday evening. Each girl carried her share of the evening's refreshments and a number of the young men in town were invited. Miss Skelton and Miss Allen, two of the teachers, chaperoned the young people, and everybody present seemed to have enjoyed the occasion.

CAMPBELL-BRADSHAW. One of the prettiest of the early autumn weddings was solemnized at the beautiful home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Campbell, of Campbell's store, Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock, when their daughter, Irene, was given in marriage to Mr. and Mrs. Bradshaw, of Anderson. It was a quiet affair, only the family and a few intimate friends witnessing the nuptials. Mendelssohn's wedding march rendered by Mrs. R. L. Parker, at the piano, announced the entrance of the couple, preceded by Rev. H. C. Marton, who in the soft glow of the shaded and attractively decorated parlor, pronounced the ceremony. Immediately following the ceremony they left by automobile for some railroad point their ultimate destination being various mountain resorts in North Carolina, and upon their return will reside in Anderson. The bride is a very winsome young lady and looked especially pretty in her coat suit of pale blue. She is exceedingly popular in her community, where her many attainments and sunny disposition has won her hosts of friends. The groom holds a clerical position with the Anderson Foundry and Machine Works and is recognized as a young man of sterling qualities.

MR. DAVIS WILL PLANT WHEAT. W. C. Davis, of Hodges, while in town yesterday declared that he will reduce his acreage of cotton another year at least five acres to the plow. He will in a few days sow down a number of acres of oats. Mr. Davis says that wheat will be one of his leading crops next year. He will plant thirteen acres of wheat, and stated that several of his neighbors would do likewise. Wheat, corn and oats should be the slogan on the farm another year. The acreage of cotton will be reduced considerably in almost every section of the state in the opinion of many farmers of this section. Plant just a little cotton—double the corn, oats and wheat crops and prosperity will be forthcoming.

WORK DAY AN ASSET. Work Day may be made a valuable asset to any Sunday school. In the spring, many Sunday schools observed "Missionary Day," and several thousand children were taught much about foreign and home missions. Feed the boards received several thousand dollars in contributions from these same children. In the Sunday schools. In this way the "Missionary Day" served a two-fold purpose: it brought money to the boards and trained the young people in missionary life. It is thus that Work Day may be made an asset to the church. The pastor or superintendent who features it.—The Connie Maxwell.
