HELPLESS AS BABY

Down in Mind Unable to Work, and What Helped Her.

Summit Point, W. Va.—Mrs. Anna Belle Emey, of this place, says: "I suffered for 15 years with an awful pain in my right side, caused from womanly trouble, and doctored lots for it, but without success. I suffered so very much, that it became down in mind, and as helpless as a baby. I was in the worst kind of shape. Was unable to do any work."

I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and got relief from the very first dose. By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored. I am now 43 years years old, but feel as good as I did when only 16."

Cardui certainly saved me from losing my mind, and I feel it my duty to speak in its favor. I wish I had some power over poor, suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them."

To Start a Gas Fire, You Strike a Match and Turn a Handle

There is no time lost in waiting for the fire to burn freely so that you can begin cooking with gas. The fire is ready the very second you are, and it can be put out just as quickly.

Gas only burns when needed, you control it just as easily as the water from the spigot in your kitchen sink.

Brotherhood of St. Andrew Will Attract Many Anderson People When it Meets in October

The Episcopals in Anderson and members of other denominations as well are evincing much interest in approaching annual convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, which will be held this year in Atlanta on October 18, 19 and 20. The Atlanta convention will be the first in the history of the order to come to the South and the convention is said to be the largest gathering of Christian workers composed strictly of laymen to be held in the world.

Admiral Beatty won promotion to the rank of commander for gallant service with the Nile boats in 1898. He was made captain for services in China in 1900 and reached flag rank at the age of thirty-nine. He was given the rank of rear admiral in 1910. The social career of Lady Beatty has been no less distinguished. In the highlands they rented a magnificent estate with famous game preserves, where they came into close touch with the royal family, which always maintains neighborly relations with the occupants of the great estate adjoining their castle.

SOUTH CAROLINA INVITED TO JOIN

Letters Were Received in Anderson Yesterday From Mississippi Asking This County To Aid

The Anderson Chamber of Commerce yesterday received a letter from T. H. Dickson, secretary of the Mississippi Bankers' Association, in which Mr. Dickson asked information as to whether or not South Carolina might be induced to join with the bankers of his state in an effort to put the Mississippi plan into operation here.

The Anderson Chamber of Commerce yesterday received a letter from T. H. Dickson, secretary of the Mississippi Bankers' Association, in which Mr. Dickson asked information as to whether or not South Carolina might be induced to join with the bankers of his state in an effort to put the Mississippi plan into operation here. This plan calls for the reduction of the cotton acreage and to increase the grain and leguminous crops. Mr. Dickson refers to the plan followed by the Oklahoma Bankers' Association which was first tried out in that state in 1913. The idea was to place 1,000,000 acres of land, formerly planted in cotton, in kafir corn instead and when the grain harvested it was found that 1,500,000 acres had been planted in corn.

According to the secretary of the Anderson Chamber of Commerce Kafir corn is similar to Milo, made by Egyptian corn and does not look much like Sorghum corn as found in South Carolina. The Oklahoma people chose this corn for the purpose of reducing the cotton acreage and also for the reason that it possessed drought-resisting qualities. Secretary Dickson also wrote to Lee G. Holleran, secretary of the South Carolina Bankers' Association, and Mr. Holleran is now giving the matter consideration. It is believed that Anderson will do everything in his power to help the movement along.

THE QUESTION IS WHO FIRED SHOT?

Negro May Lose Life as Result of the Usual Sunday Set-To

According to reports coming to Anderson yes today from West Pelzer, a shooting scrape took place there Sunday night, during which an unknown negro sustained a fatal wound. It is believed that the negro was shot by another member of the gambling party which a number of officials appeared on the scene to arrest the crowd, although the negroes involved in the affair claim that the shooting was done by one of the members of the posse and lay it on a member of the Pelzer police force.

The officers started out to find the gamblers up and when they flushed the "skin" affixes some one fired a shot, the bullet taking effect in a negro's abdomen. He was carried into Pelzer and medical assistance summoned and last night it was said that he could not possibly recover. Anderson county officials say that they have received no notification from Pelzer of the happening, and they are as much in the dark about who did the shooting as any one else.

Daughter of the Late Marshall Field Equips British Hospital Ship.

LADY DAVID BEATTY.

Lady David Beatty, wife of the British rear admiral whose fleet was in the recent fight with the Germans off Heligoland, has equipped her yacht Sheelah as a hospital ship and offered it for use to the English government. She herself will accompany the ship to whatever base the admiralty appoints for it.

The Beattys have a town house at Regent's park, London, and a country estate, Brookside hill, Leicester. The yacht Sheelah is a magnificent one. Yachting and hunting are two favorite recreations with Lady Beatty.

AUTUMN NECKWEAR.

Organic Collars and Cuffs Handomely Decorated With Hemstitching. The double organic collars so fashionable last spring have given place to hemstitched models and, naturally, hemstitched accessories are a bit more expensive than the other sort in which two pieces of fabric were seamed together and turned over. A very smart collar turns over in two sections from a high neckband, and each section has two rows of hemstitching all around. Inside the hemstitching are small hand embroidered dots.

Another collar, imported before the war started, is a flared model, opening rather low at the front in a Y. From the Y, two long, narrow revers which flare outward over the lapels of the coat. Collar, chemise and revers are of white organdie, with an inch and a half hem of white handkerchief linen set on with hemstitching. Still another imported collar of handkerchief linen is decorated with hemstitching and drawn work. This surprising collar rises close and high about the throat like the stock of several seasons ago. Two drawn work flaps turn down over the collar, and at the front is a tie of the linen plaited into narrow width and having sharply pointed ends decorated with the drawn work. This bit of neckwear is entirely new and is said to presage a return to high, stock collar effects.

BOHEMIAN OUTLINE.

Decorative Stich For Embellishing Gowns, Blouses and Negligees. Bohemian outlining in fancy work is nothing more or less than the use of the threaded run stitch. Two threads are used, which may either be of contrasting color or two shades of one color. The lines of the pattern are covered with a running stitch of one shade, taking a short stitch underneath and a longer one on top. The other thread is simply slipped over and under each stitch, producing a rope effect.

This stitch makes a decorative outline and is very effective on crapes, volles, crepe de Chine.

Organic Waistcoats. Waistcoats there are galore and dainty vests to insert in surplis bodices of silk with the fall and winter tailleur. The very newest vests is of organdie, puffed crossovers for what is called the "Victorian" effect, for in the early Victorian period puffs were the vogue. Some of these puffed waistcoats have little buttons of dark silk or velvet down the front, but these are only for ornament, the real closing being made with snap fasteners underneath.

These puffed, organic waistcoats are charming with blouse of tulle or tulle of striped pussy willow silk or of satin. But the really tailored street suit looks best with a more or less waistcoat of heavy silk or white plique.

PANTHER AND BEAR.

A Vicious Battle to the Death With a Thrilling Chase.

"When my grandfather was a young man he used to hunt a great deal." says a writer in the American Magazine. "He had a brother who had decided to go and spend the winter with this brother and hunt. One day his brother was telling about a large cave in the mountains where some panthers lived. He thought it would be a good chance to try to get one." "One morning a few days later he started out to find the cave. When he came in sight of it he didn't see any stir, so kept creeping closer."

"He finally came to a path; there seemed to be a lot of different tracks. He began looking for a place to hide and finally discovered a ledge and climbed up and sat down to rest. Suddenly he heard a sound of cracking brush. He got his rifle ready when down the path came a bear and three cubs; the little cubs were playing like kittens. The old bear walked up to the cave, sniffed a few times and went in. In a few minutes she came out with a little panther, killed it and gave it to the cubs. She repeated this three times, and every one she killed would scream and the old panther would answer away off in the woods, and each time nearer."

"After she had killed them all she cuffed the cubs and sent them up a tree. Then she began digging a hole in the ground and sniffing the air. In a few minutes the old panther screamed and it seemed just a little distance away. The old bear lay down on her back in the hole she had dug. She was ready for fight. The panther came straight for the bear. She gave one leap and struck on the bear. There was a fierce struggle, with screaming and snarling, and in less than ten minutes the bear was torn to fragments. The panther walked into the cave and came right out again and gave a scream that was bloodcurdling. Just then she saw the cubs. She gave a leap and brought them down and killed them. After the rest and killed them."

"He sniffed the air again and began coming toward my grandfather, who had been watching from the ledge above. He raised his rifle, took good aim and fired. "That was the last he knew until he became conscious again, for he faintly saw as soon as he shot, but the panther was dead—he had hit her between the eyes."

Falling Up Out of a Balloon.

If a man falls out of a visiting aeroplane or balloon he will not go toward the earth, but will continue rising into the air for an appreciable time. If the air machine were stopped in its ascent at the time it could catch the man as he came down. If the airship were ascending at the rate of thirty-two feet a second the man would rise sixteen feet before beginning to fall toward the earth. Thus, by reducing the speed of its ascent, the vessel might keep by the side of the man and rescue him. The reason why the man rises is the same as the reason for a bullet's rising when shot from a gun into the air—both the man and the bullet are given a velocity upward, and it takes some time for gravity to negative that velocity.—Glasgow News.

His Definition.

A Liverpool teacher asked her class to write an essay on London. Later she was surprised to read the following in one attempt: "The people of London are noted for their stupidity." "The young author was asked how he got that idea." "Please, miss," was the reply, "it says in the textbook, 'The population of London is very dense.'"—London Answers.

London's Old Cathedral. St. Paul's cathedral of London has had a strange association with fire. The first edifice on the present site was erected in 610 by Ethelbert, king of Kent, but in 1013 it was destroyed by fire. Finally, in 1891, when the great fire devastated most of London, St. Paul's was wrecked, his being its fifth fire. In 1897 the present church was built by Charles II in a cost of more than $7,500,000.

"Corpus Callosum"

"Corpus callosum" are measured in the north of England. They are the coils that have lain over the eyes of their dead. By this means infection has been spread, but superstition causes the custom to continue. A poor collier or peasant would never think of doing anything important unless he had on his person coils that have been upon the eyes of his dead relatives.—Westminster Gazette.

At the Palmetto

Nat "Chick" Haines Musical Comedy Company scored a big hit at the Palmetto. The company played to capacity houses at each performance. This attraction is one of the best that has played the Palmetto this season; there is plenty of good music, splendid costumes and a shapely chorus. Miss Mildred Dean became quite a favorite with the audience in her big New York hit—"The Cabaret." Nat Haines kept the audience in an uproar from start to finish. George Barker at "Cutey" and Bob Moran were both clever in their parts.

Taken as a whole the company is one of the best that has appeared at the above named play house this season. Today the company will present that side splitting farce entitled "JONES' BIRTHDAY PARTY" and another big bit is looked for from Haines' clever players.

FIRE YESTERDAY ON HORNET ROW

Blaze Destroyed Two Houses and Two More Were Damaged By Conflagration

Hornet Row, a section of the city thickly populated with negroes, was almost wiped off the map shortly before 12 o'clock yesterday when fire visited that section of the city. The blaze started in a house occupied by Will Thompson, a negro, and soon jumped to a house occupied by Eric Holland. The fire alarm was turned in and answered by the department, but there was no hydrant near the scene of the fire and by the time sufficient hose was connected up 50 feet a stream of water two of the houses had been completely destroyed and three more were on fire. These were extinguished with little damage done. The houses were all owned by Dr. B. A. Henry and he carried $1,500 insurance on the two burned structures. This is but a small part of the loss.

Better be safe than sorry—Willett P. Sloane, Insurance.
