THE BEST SHOW IN ANDERSON

Electric City Sparklets

F. M. Burnett Is At The Convention
Fred M. Burnett, secretary of the Anderson Y. M. C. A., left yesterday for Blue Ridge, near Black Mountain, N. C., where he will attend the conference to be held by the association of Secretaries and Presidents of Y. M. C. A. The leading secretaries and most prominent presidents of the association in all parts of the South will go to Blue Ridge for this conference and it is understood that a number of men prominent in the laymen's work of the country, will be present to deliver addresses. The conference is being anticipated with much pleasure by Mr. Burnett and by the other secretaries of this section.

Still Aiding In The Movement
Anderson business are determined that they shall not be accused of any lack of interest in the Buy-a-Bale movement and the good work still goes on. Almost every farmer and business man in the county admits that it is the best thing to be done for the farmers just at this time, and the people in the country seem to appreciate what their friends in the cities are doing for them. The latest recruit to join in the ranks is the Southern Public Utilities Company. Harry A. Orr, manager of the local office, yesterday afternoon placed an order for a bale at 30 cents per pound and said that he was glad of a chance to help the movement along.

Rothrock Tells Of Good Done
W. Rothrock, county agricultural agent for Anderson said last night that the first stock show Anderson ever experienced, held here yesterday, was far more of a success than he had expected and that the people who worked so hard on the arrangements for the day deserved to be generously thanked by the people of the county. Mr. Rothrock believes that untold good will result from the efforts put forth to encourage the livestock industry in this section and he says the next year will see more cattle and stock raised in Anderson county than ever before.

Wille Turner Learned Lesson
Wille Turner, a coal-black negro, left out of the country, moved to town a few weeks ago and not being properly broken before his advent into the city did not know how to conduct himself when walking along the public highway. Therefore on Friday evening when he became incensed over nothing in particular and everything in general, he concluded that he would let the people around him know that he was displeased with conditions and he proceeded to fire a revolver five times. He was arrested on a charge of shooting on the public highway and yesterday he was fined $10 when he appeared before the recorder.

Price of Cotton Was Immateral
Notwithstanding the fact that cotton was selling on the Anderson market yesterday for only 7 3/4 cents, there was one farmer in the city yesterday that did not care what cotton was bringing. This man brought in a fine load of watermelons, as fine as had been seen here during the winter watermelon season. He had no trouble in selling them and they all brought a good price. Talking to a reporter for The Intelligencer he remarked that he had lived at home and boarded at the same place and he does not have to depend upon the cash and paper sacks for his bread.

The Unbelievable Has Come to Pass
Even when it is possible to see dozens of pedestrians gaily tripping along the sidewalk by the new Blue Ridge passenger station it is almost impossible for the average Andersonian to believe that the sidewalk is actually made for use. For some three months people of the city have been dodging out into the street when they wished this particular point, fearing death in the shape of New England and other automobiles, motorcycles, baby carriages, bicycles, buggies, wagons and a great deal of other things up from the entire city when they stepped on the bridge is actually a box in use.

Preparing For The Convocation
Rev. Alexander R. Mitchell, dean of the Greenville convocation will preside at the meeting of that convocation to be held with Grace church at Anderson, October 20-22. The convocation is composed of the churches of Anderson, Abbeville, Cherokee, Chester, Greenwood, Laurens, Oconee, Pickens, Spartanburg, Lancaster and York. Rev. Sanders E. Guignard is secretary of the organization. Bishop Querry will probably be present at the meeting.
The Woman's Auxiliary to the convocation will meet with Grace church at the same time, for a one day session. It is expected that about 25 women delegates and 15 men will be the guests of the church which is host.

High School May Have Publication
The pupils of the West Market street high school have under consideration the matter of starting a monthly publication, to be issued by the pupils of the high school and to be devoted entirely to the school news and to matters of interest to the pupils in the higher grades. The plan contemplates having the editor-in-chief and the assistant editors chosen from among the advanced grades of the school. Many of the pupils are very enthusiastic over the plan and in all probability the paper will be started within the next few weeks.

Determined To Enforce The Law
It is beginning to appear that the Anderson city officials are about to enforce in earnest the traffic regulations of the city. Some time ago the police were instructed to make all drivers of automobiles and vehicles and bicycle riders to drive to the right and as a result the street congestion has been almost done away with, but there are still a few people who persist in disregarding the police and drive just wherever they please. From this time on "every man who violates the drive to the right" ordinance will be hauled into court and made to answer for the misdemeanor.

Jews Observed Atoneament Day
All the stores in Anderson operated by men of Jewish faith were closed yesterday and remained that way throughout the day. Yesterday was "Yom Kippur" or "Day of Atonement" and Anderson Jews fittingly observed the day, many of them spending the entire day in prayer. The day ended at 6 o'clock last night and all of the stores will be reopened today.

Dangerous to Even Cough Now
Evidently the physical man of today must be deteriorating at a very rapid rate, since it is no longer possible for a man to cough without impunity. Richard Roper, a well known merchant of Anderson, coughed one time yesterday and broke a rib. Probably had he been seized with a fit of coughing two or three other ribs or so might have met with the same fate. Mr. Roper was standing in his home on McDuffie street and he says that just as he coughed he distinctly heard the rib break.

U. D. C. Will Meet Friday Afternoon
The R. E. Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will meet at the home of Mrs. William West Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Other hostesses for this occasion will be Mrs. Charles Frank and Mrs. L. O. Dean and every member of the chapter is urged to be present.

Col. Cheshire Was Painfully Injured
Col. Victor B. Cheshire was going around the streets of the city yesterday on a pair of crutches, suffering with a severe injury to his leg. Tuesday night as he went to jump up on a curb stone near his home, he moved a little too quickly and tore a ligament in his leg. He at once summoned medical assistance and while the injury is very painful it will not discommode him for many days.

Ramsey West Was Killed Yesterday
An innocent into the death of Ramsey West, the young man killed by a train in Greenville Monday night, was held Wednesday in Greenville. The verdict of the jury was that the deceased came to his death by being run over by a locomotive engine under the care of Engineer J. H. Austell. The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at White Oak church, near the home of his parents. His brother, Arthur B., and Clarence O. West of Macon, Ga., and Tolliver West of Anderson, were in Greenville for the funeral.

Hold Services At Flat Rock
The usual preaching services will be held at the Flat Rock Presbyterian church next Sunday afternoon. Sunday school will take place at 2:30 and at 3:30. Proclamation services will be conducted by Fred M. Burnett, secretary of the Anderson Y. M. C. A. The people of this church have extended a cordial invitation to all the people of that section to meet with them on this occasion.

New Pharmacy To Open Soon
Anderson's newest pharmacy, to be known as Lewis' Pharmacy, will be open and ready for business within the next two or three days, according to a statement made yesterday by Dr. Lewis. The new establishment is to be located in a new store room on South Main street which is just being completed. It will be one of the handsomest and best appointed drug stores in the city and will be complete in every detail.

Auto Trip To Texas
W. W. Powell of the Anderson Choro-Cola Company will leave today on a long automobile trip. Mr. Powell plans to drive a Ford car and will go from this city to Beaumont, Texas, by way of New Orleans. He plans to make the trip on easy days, spending a day here and a day there and camp along the road at night. The car will carry flags advertising "Anderson is My Town."

Appointed On Federal Jury
Col. D. A. Taylor and J. D. Elrod, both of Sandy Springs, will be the only two Anderson county men on the Federal grand jury when the United States court convenes in Greenville on October 20. These gentlemen yesterday received official notice from Greenville to that effect. It is understood that the coming session will consist for the most part of liquor trials, men charged with running illicit distilleries and "blind tigers."

Editor Was In The City
A. L. Gossett, editor of the Tugalo Tribune of Westminster, was in Anderson yesterday for a few hours on business. While he did not come to Anderson for the purpose of attending the county stock show, he spoke very highly of the work that Anderson county is doing along the line and he says that the people behind the efforts should have the encouragement of all the people in the county. Business conditions in Westminster have been materially damaged by the war, according to Mr. Gossett.

You've probably heard the story of the little Mississippi steamboat that had such a big whistle that every time it blew the boat stopped. That's the way with some newspapers about their value as an advertising medium. We try not to blow too boisterously. Our small ads. are giving a lot of folks satisfaction. You test them and see.

Good Form

An Afternoon Diversion.
A hostess who wished to provide a novel diversion for her afternoon guests prepared a number of sheets of paper with the name of a course of an elaborate dinner written on each, and at the bottom of each sheet were written the words, "I vote for."
The papers were distributed, and the guests were invited to write an original recipe for the course, which fell to her lot. A quarter of an hour was allowed for the writing of the recipes, and at the end of the time the papers were gathered up and redistributed, so that no one had the paper she had written. As no names were on the papers no one knew whose paper she held, and thus with perfect boldness she read aloud the recipe on the paper in hand. Only the culprits knew who had written the recipes which provoked so much mirth when they were read aloud.
When all the recipes had been read each guest voted on the paper she held for the recipe she liked best. The papers were then collected again, and after the votes had been counted the prize, which was a cookery book, was awarded.
Some players were very serious and did the best they could with the limited knowledge at their command. The others were nonsensical and amusing.

Ballroom Etiquette.
Guests are privileged to arrive at a ball at any hour before midnight. Men and women check their wraps in their respective dressing rooms and bow courteously to those who stand by the door to receive them.
If a woman is not asked at once to dance she should seat herself beside her chaperon.
As soon as a dance is over a woman, should she wish to be free of her companion or feel that he is eager to leave her, is at liberty to ask that he accompany her back to her seat beside her chaperon.
When leaving the ballroom the guests should say farewell to the hostess and thank her for the evening's pleasure.
Silk gloves should not be worn on such an occasion. Kid ones are proper.

Five O'Clock Tea.
An afternoon tea is supposed to be late in the afternoon, yet not so late as to interfere with the dinner hour, while refreshments should always be light. No salads or meats are required, and often a hostess confines herself to the custom of serving hot toasted and buttered English muffins with the tea. Sweet cakes are not good with tea; neither is fruit of any sort. The simpler the fare the better may be the rule. Invitations are informal—just a call over the telephone or a line to ask friends to come up for a "cup of tea" at 5 o'clock such a day.

Deference to the Elderly.
The pretty deference of youth to age is less in evidence these days than in former years, yet it is always an evidence of gentle birth and breeding to be mindful of the homage that should be paid to those older in years and wisdom.
A man presents his young friends to his mother, then to his father; a husband presents his men friends to his father and mother first if they are present, as a matter of courtesy to the aged, and next to his wife.

When to Rise.
The hostess always rises for an introduction unless she is much older than those whom she is receiving. A man must always rise for an introduction. Under ordinary circumstances a woman need not rise for an introduction to either a man or a woman unless the person introduced is much older than herself or is particularly distinguished. In such a case it would be correct for her to show deference by rising.

Birth Announcements.
When you have received an announcement of the birth of a child to a friend politeness requires that you should call to inquire after the health of the mother and child and leave your card. If you live in a distant city and are unable to call you should post your card to the mother and inscribe "Heartly congratulations" on it.

Arms Off the Table.
The person who after meals clears a space in front of him is in bad form. Yet so many people get into this habit. No sooner have they finished a course than they push the plates toward the center of the table. Why? Well, sometimes to put their elbows on the cloth—another bit of bad table manners.

The Last Word.
It is said that the meanest nature usually is successful in obtaining the discordant "last word." In regard to this no better advice than the following can be quoted:
"Any discussion which does not tend to bring two people into the one way of thinking is worse than useless."

When to Call.
Ceremonious calls are not made between women in the morning, evening or on Sunday afternoons. A man, owing to the necessities of business, may call in the evening and on Sunday afternoons.

IN SOCIETY

Mrs. S. D. Brownlee has gone to Atlanta for a short stay.
Mrs. Combs, who has spent the spring and summer with her daughter Mrs. Eculus Adams on East Orr street has returned to her home in Madisonville, Kentucky.

Misses Nancy and Katherine McCall of Dallas, Texas, who have been the attractive guests of Mrs. K. P. Smith, on Marshall Avenue, for the past month left yesterday for New Orleans where they will visit for several weeks before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Stribling have moved from Marshall Avenue to an attractive little cottage on East Orr street.

Mrs. Malcolm McKinnon of Brunswick, Ga., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Chas. Gambrill on West Market street.

Anderson people will be much interested in learning that invitations were issued yesterday for the marriage of Miss Marie Seybt and Thomas F. Hill. The following is the invitation: Mr. and Mrs. Ulysses Eugene Seybt request the pleasure of your company at the marriage of their daughter Marie to

Thomas Foster Hill
Monday Evening, October 12,
Eight o'clock.

COUNTY FAIR TO BE THE RESULT

First Stock Show Ever Held Here Was Such a Success That It Will Call For Fair Next Year

Great credit is due Dr. H. L. Snider, manager of the Racing and Exhibit Department of the Animal and Livestock show, for the very capable manner in which he handled the many details of the show. Dr. Snyder is among the newcomers to Anderson and he proved yesterday that what he didn't know about a livestock show is not worth knowing. He was on the job early and was among the last to return to the city. He rode a beautiful horse and in every solitary race, each event was pulled off string time. There were no kicks.

John M. Davis, chairman of the committee of arrangements, also T. Wakefield, assistant chairman, stated to an intelligence reporter last night that they were delighted with the whole exhibition and desired to have plans made as soon as possible for the organizing and holding of a permanent fair here each year. Mr. Davis stated that he had held a conference with the secretary of the chamber of commerce, who stated he was at work on plans to carry into effect the program for a county fair next year, and he believed that he would be able to do so.

When asked about the matter of organizing a permanent fair for next year, Secretary Wakefield stated that the board of directors of the chamber of commerce had endorsed such a move at a recent meeting and authorized him to work on it. He said, however, that he did not want to half do the thing, and at the proper time he would plan a move which would secure the same, as he believed was demonstrated yesterday, the need for a real fair. "Our people want anything, they get it. I believe we will have a real fair next year, amply financed and backed by 6,000 white farmers of Anderson county and all the people of the city," said Mr. Wakefield, when further discussing the matter.

Many farmers expressed the hope that a permanent fair would be organized and wanted to assist financially in the same. It will be remembered by the readers of The Intelligencer that this paper has urged such a move for a year and has pledged its support to the same.
