MANY WILL LIVE AT HOME. (Belton) Indications that Farmers Are Heeding Advice of Experts.

Clemson College, September 30.—Information received from all parts of the state indicate that farmers are enthusiastically putting into practice the things that Clemson College has been urging them to do for this autumn and winter. From many places come letters written by men who declare their intention to put large areas in oats and wheat. More interest than ever before is being shown in hog raising. Numerous requests for poultry information have been received. Many announce their intention to plant home gardens large enough to enable them really to "live at home" this winter.

It appears likely that the European war, as many have hoped it would, will teach the Southern farmer the folly of the one crop system so forcefully that he will adopt wiser ways. It begins now to look as if South Carolina farmers will not only manage to live and keep their families, hands and beasts through the winter, but, by planting oats and wheat and raising hogs, will have some money crops to bring them cash next spring.

Clemson College is getting out information as fast as mechanical facilities will allow. More than one hundred thousand circulars, plain in language and brief, have been printed and are being sent out for distribution through banks and similar agencies. There are several kinds of circulars, each intended to give the essential details about one thing, and more are being prepared.

CITADEL FACES A BRIGHT YEAR

Enrollment Is Larger This Year Than Last and Good Work Is Expected.

The Citadel, Charleston, S. C., Oct. 1.—(Special)—To the Alumnae of the Citadel who, in recent years, might have lost communication with events and happenings of their Alma Mater, and to the numerous others who are friends of the institution, these few lines might be of some little interest.

The present session was begun on Saturday, Sept. 19. The panicky conditions existing throughout the Southern States caused some doubt as to what the enrollment would be. However, contrary to general expectations, the number of new students exceeds that of last year by a considerable margin. The total enrollment is 239 of whom 96 are Freshmen. Thus the prospects for a very successful year are in evidence.

During the past two weeks the new men have made good progress in the preliminary drills and exercises. In a short while they will have the distinguished pleasure of receiving fifes and drums, etc., attached to the corps. They will then be entrusted to the duty of a "hand-in" brigade" in the ranks during the evening study hours. But, by far the happiest moment of a "rate" life is when he receives his new uniform. This is usually about the 1st of November and, being rather stiff, the uniforms are christened by some of the upper classmen, i. e., several cups of water applied gently. The new uniform is then taken out of the recruit company and assigned to one of the four in which all of the classes are then represented. From that time until Christmas the recruits make many acquaintances among the older students.

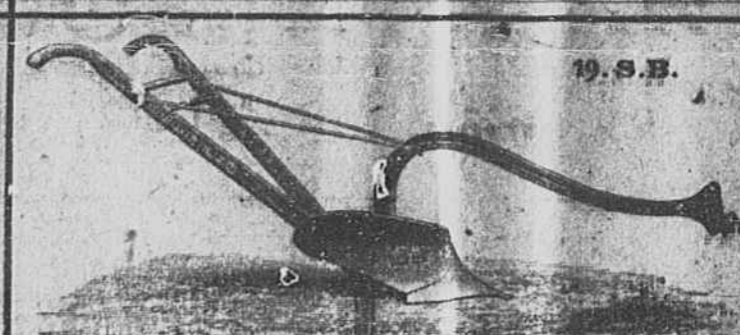

In athletics this year our outlook is very encouraging. In football we hope to make a record such as will always be remembered by the loyal supporters of the Blue and White. Over half of last year's varsity have returned and the indications are that we will have a strong team. Last Saturday we defeated the navy yard by a score of 29 to 0. We tackled the University of Georgia on October 3, and although the odds are against us, we hope to make a creditable showing in the fray.

Our first dance of the season was given last Friday evening in the gymnasium of the Meeting Street extension. A large crowd attended and the affair was a very enjoyable one. These dances are held semi-monthly, the date for the next one being October 9th.

Other phases of college life at the Citadel will probably be mentioned in later issues.

OUR DAILY POEM

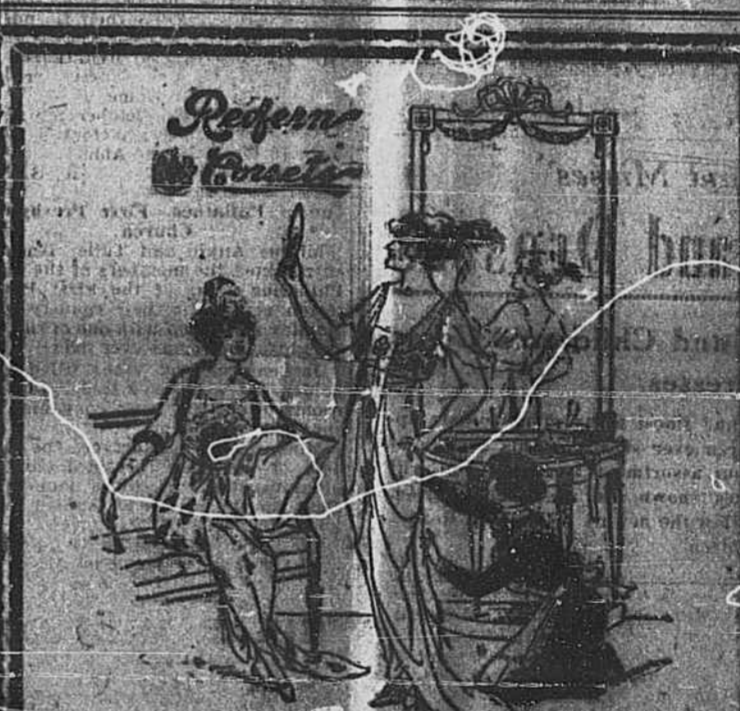

Back Home.
 Baltimore Evening Sun.
 It's good to get back home
 And see the folks again,
 And wander through the pleasant town
 And see the changes all around;
 To meet and greet the friends of yore
 To recall events of years before,
 Comparing things of now and then
 It's good to get back home
 And see the folks again.
 It's good to get back home
 And see the folks again,
 To learn of how the flying years
 Have scattered laughs and arched
 How this one's a sparrow that
 How this one's a falcon and that
 'Twas joy and grief the heartstrings
 It's good to get back home
 And see the folks again.
 It's good to get back home
 And see the folks again,
 And if, perchance, since you've
 A kindly rat has come along
 And lifted you above the crowd,
 To slip you in the back, Ah, then
 It's good to get back home
 And see the folks again.
 It's good to get back home

Be Consistent
 If you contemplated the building of a house, your first consideration would be the foundation. In the construction of your Fall costume, whether Coat-suit, Street Dress, or Afternoon or Evening Gown the most important feature is the foundation—your corset.
 No Modiste, no matter how clever she may be can do you justice unless you are correctly corseted.
 If you will have our Expert Corsetiers fit you with Your model Redfern Corset your gowns will look like this illustration.
