S. G. BRUCE DENTIST

MYERS BONDSMAN PAYS $600 TO CITY

SAYS HE WILL OFFER $100 REWARD FOR HIS APPEHENSION

OTHER WARRANTS

Several Other Cases Stated for Today—Some New Cases Developing.

Having failed to appear for trial yesterday morning, Mr. S. W. Williford, bondsman for Louis Myers, defendant in seven of the liquor cases in the recorder's court, paid into the city treasury of the city of Anderson the sum of $600. Mr. Williford says that he will offer a reward of $100 for the apprehension of Myers and that he will do everything possible to bring him back to Anderson. So far as the city is concerned these cases have been settled and Mr. Williford can only look to Myers for the recovery of the amount of the bond paid out for him.

Myers was arrested on seven charges, and the city attorney announced yesterday that there are yet several warrants against him which have not been served. The idea of going ahead and trying Myers even after his bond has been paid is to get the records complete now.

The afternoon session of the recorder's court yesterday City Attorney Sullivan announced that he had dismissed one of the four remaining cases of the city vs. Louis R. Myers; thus leaving for trial only three cases, all of a similar character and charging the defendant with keeping and maintaining a place in which alcoholic liquors and beverages were received and kept for sale.

The case dismissed was the one in the warrant of which the defendant was charged, substantially, with keeping a place where people resorted for the purpose of drinking alcoholic intoxicating liquors, wines or beers, malted, brewed or of vinous character. Attorney Sullivan gave as his reason for the dismissal of this case, that he did not wish to embarrass a number of young men in the city who had been in the habit of resorting to Myers' club, by summoning them as witnesses. This has been in line with Mr. Sullivan's lenient desire to be as reasonable as possible with all, and to make out the city's cases with the least possible embarrassment to any persons who might consider going into one of these places a moral wrong.

The three remaining cases while in effect were tried together were in reality so far as the record will show, tried separately and distinct, a separate record of each case being ordered on each warrant.

Mr. Dagnall demurred to the jurisdiction of the court in each of the three cases, as he has previously done, claiming that W. H. Frierson, Esq., and not Hon. D. G. Russell, is the proper qualified recorder; he also interposed a plea of former jeopardy as heretofore, except that he made his plea stronger than he has heretofore done, since he claims that it takes a continuity of offenses in order to create the legal crime of nuisance, that being an essential ingredient of the crime of keeping a place where liquors are stored, etc., in other words that there would have to be a series of offenses, in order to constitute the crime, and that being so that all of the offenses so constituting the crime would be but a single offense. All of the various acts being merged into the one legal crime. He challenged the city attorney to produce a single case in controversy of this, and the city attorney accepted the challenge and cited a case to the court wherein a similar state of facts had existed with regard to a doctor practicing his profession in this State under similar circumstances, and in which case the supreme court held that more than one crime had been committed even though the periods of the two crimes overlapped each other.

The court overruled Mr. Dagnall's contention, and the cases went to trial without a jury, each side agreeing to accept testimony heretofore placed on record by the reporter, with certain specified changes agreed to. The defendant was convicted in all three cases. Thus ended the Myers' trial.

There are yet several liquor cases to be disposed of in the recorder's court. The following trials have been set for today:

9:30 a. m. Marion Eskow, aiding, assisting and abetting in keeping a place where liquors are sold.

10:30 a. m. Claude Beasdale, aiding, assisting and abetting in keeping a place where liquors are sold.

C. C. Kinada entered a plea of guilty to a similar charge.

The case against John Hicks, colored, for transporting, has been marked continued for the present.

There are some cases developing now, and it is likely that other warrants will be served. The city is anxious to complete the trials of all the cases worked up by the detectives so that they can return to Atlanta.

The work of the detectives of the Thiel Service company has been thorough. They have worked up their cases so complete that not one verdict or not guilty has been returned so far. This is a new record in the city of Anderson.

HART COUNTY'S FAIR ATTRACTS ATTENTION

THIRD ANNUAL EVENT SCORES SUCCESS

ATTENDANCE GOOD

Splendid Exhibits in All Departments to Make Fair the Best Association Has Yet Held.

(By a Staff Correspondent.) HARTWELL, Ga., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—The second day of Hart county's third annual fair absolutely demonstrated beyond a doubt that this fair is the biggest success the county has ever scored. More people are attending, more interest is being shown, and the exhibits are more numerous and better than they have ever been before.

While Tuesday was a big day, because of the fact that it was "Educational Day" the really big day of the fair will come tomorrow and Hartwell is preparing to entertain hundreds of visitors. This will be "Live-stock Day" and already the 40 stalls for animals have been filled with pure bred, Hart county raised horses, and numerous other animals are hitched on the outside. At least 60 and possibly 75 horses will be exhibited today.

Too much can not be said about the agricultural exhibits sent to the fair. They are pronounced by hundreds of visitors to be the best of any shown at any county fair in Georgia and visitors from South Carolina say that they are equally as good, if not better, than the agricultural products displayed at the various county fairs in the Palmetto State.

Of decided interest is the main building of the fair association, wherein is found almost every product raised in Georgia. Of especial interest is the display furnished by the Nuberg community. This enterprising section sent a corn display to the fair and in this exhibit corn is shown from the time it ripens until it has been made into every conceivable shape and form. A complete corn mill, constructed entirely of corn, is to be found here, while the arrangement of corn meal, corn on the cob, shock mats, and other objects made from corn, absolutely defy description. So far as can be seen the only thing the Nuberg community neglected to include in its exhibit was a quart of "mountain dew."

Apples, potatoes, cotton, syrup, watermelons, peaches, oranges, and these are on display at the fair in every imaginable shape and form and they are arranged in tasty and attractive manner.

The Cedar Creek exhibit is another feature of the fair. Here may be found home raised oranges, grown in the Cedar Creek section, together with other delicious fruits and products. A jug, made from Georgia clay, in the year 1893, is an interesting part of the Cedar Creek exhibit.

One of the most interesting features of the fair is that part devoted to the girls' canning club. One Hart county girl made 4,000 pounds of tomatoes in one tenth of an acre of ground this year and many of her tomatoes are on display.

The quilts, carpets, fancy work and numerous household articles being displayed all show that Georgia women and the women of Hart county excel in handwork with the needle.

The exhibit devoted to the public schools of Hart county, under great credit upon the Rural School Improvement association of that county. The exhibit shows samples of work done by the students of the public schools during the months of September and October and excites wonder from all the visitors.

The flower department of the fair has probably attracted the attention of more visitors than any other part of the fair. Enormous chrysanthemums of every hue and shade are being displayed while the potted plants and cut flowers are absolutely beautiful.

The livestock department is interesting. Blooded animals from all parts of the county are on exhibit and the one thing necessary to place the finishing touch on this department is a chain to a dry goods box—a typical Georgia "houn" dog. The fine hogs, poultry and horses exhibited are equally as good as may be found in any of the Southern States.

While the Hart county fair is only three years old, nevertheless it ranks well up with any fair. M. W. Norman is president of the association and T. B. Thornton is secretary and to these two gentlemen much of the credit for the success of the fair is due. They have spared no pains in making it a success.

The fair began last Tuesday with "Educational Day" at which time over 1,800 school children attended and helped to swell the day's attendance to over 4,000 people. The fair continued all day today and will go through tomorrow and Friday.

Many Anderson people are present and it is believed that numerous other visitors will come from the Carolina side of the river for the last two days of the event.

When the Hayne circle entered Mrs. W. C. Hughes' home Friday afternoon it realized that the spirit of Halloween was abroad. It felt quite spooky surrounded by black cats, spiders, bats and Jack o' lanterns. The thoughts of the circle, however, were turned by the president to Perry and Miss Walker read "Perry and His Capital;" Mrs. Hetrick, "The Remarkable Civilization of the Incas;" Mrs. Dendy, "On the Great Desert of Peru," and Mrs. Rogers, "A Peruvian Love Story." Mrs. Sloan and Mrs. Ansel brought us back to the Halloween spirit by rendering the song, "Heart of the Witch." During the social hour the hostess introduced a clever Halloween contest. Miss Alice Strong, received a witch's calendar as prize, and Mrs. Rogers a Jack o' lantern as second prize. Each guest ate her dainty refreshments and read her fortune, hidden in nuts, by the light of her little souvenir Jack o' lantern. The next meeting will be with Mrs. L. M. Brown on November 13, and the program for that afternoon will be used—Walhalla cor. Keowee Courier.

BEAUTIFUL HOME WEDDING AT HIGH NOON YESTERDAY. The lovely country home of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Anderson, two miles east of town, was the scene of a sweet and impressive wedding ceremony yesterday at high noon, when their oldest daughter, Miss Annie Williams Anderson, became the bride of Dr. Harrison Almur Pruitt. This home, situated in a beautiful grove of oaks, needed no further decorations to make it an ideal setting for such an event, and the whole occasion was marked by the beauty of its simplicity, and informality.

Only the immediate relatives were present and they all gathered in the west parlor, where the only decorations were stately palms and ferns, so arranged as to form an effective background for the bridal party. The two dear little ribbon bearers, Helen

Try "Ely's Cream Balm." Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone. End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm... Don't lay awake... Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

Anderson and Sara Pruitt, in dainty white frocks over pink with pink ribbons entered first from the rear hall and formed an aisle of broad white ribbons. Miss Lela Anderson, the maid of honor, entered alone. She wore a lovely dress, a pink silk crepe minutely trimmed in hand made lace, and carried a large bouquet of Mrs. Maryland and roses and ferns. The bride and groom entered together and the ceremony was performed by Rev. W. H. Frazier, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. The attractive bride wore a handsome travelling suit of Hagen blue, with black velvet trimmings and black hat. Her beautiful bouquet was of white Killarney roses and ferns, showered with lilies of the valley. The wedding march was played by Mrs. R. E. Watkins of Pendleton and just before the ceremony Mrs. W. J. Muldrow sang, "I Love You So."

During the reception which followed immediately after the ceremony, the guests were invited into the dining room bright with yellow chrysanthemums and here an elegant course each one seating four. The waitresses were: Misses Ruth Anderson, Frances Anderson, Kathleen Norryce and Lou Nell McGee. Mrs. J. S. McFall poured coffee while Mrs. T. F. Hill had charge of the lovely souvenir "dream boxes." Each little box, of white moire paper having the monogram A. P. in silver letters and contained small pieces of the mystical wedding cake. Others assisting Mrs. Anderson in looking after and entertaining her guests were: Mrs. H. H. Watkins, Mrs. U. E. Soyb, Mrs. O. D. Anderson, Mrs. H. A. Williams and Miss Carrie Fearman.

Dr. and Mrs. Pruitt left about 2 o'clock in an automobile for Greenville where they took the train for a trip North, which will include a visit to Washington, New York and Boston. On their return they will go en route to housekeeping in a residence on North East street.

Their presents were unusually handsome and useful and included many beautiful gifts in cut glass, silver and other articles for their new home.

Dependancy Has No Inducement. It is not at all surprising that persons who have indignation become discouraged and dependent. Here and a few words of hope and cheer for them by Mrs. Blanche B. Brown, Indiana. "For years my disposition was so poor that I could carry out the lightest work. I tried everything that I heard of to get relief, but not until about a year ago when I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and got a bottle of them. I did it and the right treatment. I soon began to improve, and since taking a few bottles of them my disposition is fine." For sale by all dealers.
