

RELIEF FUND GROWING HERE VERY SLOWLY

ANDERSON PEOPLE ALMOST TIGHT-WADS

NOT SUBSCRIBING

Other Towns in Different Portions of the State Are Outstripping Anderson in Helping Cause.

Anderson people turned a deaf ear yesterday to the pleas made through the columns of The Intelligencer for aid in raising the relief funds for the Belgians, and as a result there were few subscriptions to the cause.

Other towns in different parts of South Carolina are outstripping this city and all of them have made far more liberal contributions than has Anderson. The people of other sections have no more money than Anderson people, therefore it is reasonable to presume that they are a little more sympathetic than are the citizens of Anderson.

Local people are all ready and willing to admit that the cause is a just one and that some help should be extended the people of the foreign countries; that the suffering women and children should be fed if possible; yet few of them care to lend any financial assistance in this direction.

The following story from Paris, France, tells of how grateful the people over there are for the aid extended by American people:

Preparations have been begun in France to welcome the officers in charge of the relief to be sent to the destitute non-combatants of the warring nations in Europe by the Rockefeller Foundation. The coming of the first vessel from America is awaited with impatience. Assistance is greatly needed and will be very welcome.

Mr. Gabriel Hanotaux, formerly minister of foreign affairs and now president of the National Relief Society, and of the Franco-American Society, wishes to thank the American public, in the name of these societies, for its sympathy and liberal generosity. In this connection Mr. Hanotaux said:

"It is impossible to conceive the degree and the extent of the misery and suffering undergone by the inhabitants of villages which have been occupied by the enemy."

"Mr. Hanotaux has addressed a circular letter to all the municipal mayors in the department of the Aisne asking them to endeavor to ascertain and report to the destruction of the various localities. Among the answers received is the following:

"I am sorry to be unable to comply with your request for the reason that I joined the colors as a volunteer and was compelled to resign the office of mayor. This town has been completely destroyed. There is no longer any city hall or any inhabitants to protect. Consequently I decided that it was best to leave, and although I am more than 50 years old I thought that perhaps France could make use of my services."

"Mr. Hanotaux quoted this letter as an example of many received by him. He said that although the suffering was acute and a large proportion of the population of Northern France was absolutely destitute and penniless, the patriotic ardor of the people and their faith in the final result were not in the least diminished or shaken."

HOUSE BURNED THIS MORNING

Residence of J. T. Snow on North Pant Street, With Contents, Destroyed.

The home of Mr. Jas. T. Snow on North Pant street was burned early this morning. The fire was discovered about a little before one o'clock, but had gained such headway that but little of the household effects were saved. The origin of the fire is unknown. Mrs. Snow stated to a reporter of The Intelligencer that the family had not long retired, and were asleep. When they awakened the room was filled with smoke, the building being of wood, burned very rapidly and gave no chance to save much of the furniture. The fire department made a good run, and soon had two streams of water playing on the fire, but there was no chance to extinguish the blaze before the house was consumed.

The house and its contents were insured, but only partially covering the loss. The house was a substantial one, of six rooms, and was valued at $2,500. $500 was carried on the furniture.

Million More Troops

LONDON, Nov. 12.—(11:55 a. m.)—It is reported that Premier Asquith will on Tuesday ask Parliament's sanction for the raising of one million additional troops bringing the total up to 1,000,000 men. It is understood that the government intends to raise a loan of $1,000,000,000 or more, probably at 4 per cent, and to make a similar loan of $1,000,000,000 or more. It is estimated that the cost of the war will be $10,000,000,000 or more. The government may propose to raise another $200,000,000 or more, and to make a similar loan of $1,000,000,000 or more.

One Big Day

Anderson Will Try to Get Clemson Team to Have Exhibition Here.

With T. Frank Watkins, C. J. DeCamp, Porter A. Whaley and Mayor J. H. Godfrey behind the idea it is almost a certainty that Anderson can soon boast of a "Foot Ball Day." These men will make a trip to Clemson on next Wednesday to confer with Coach "Bob" Williams and the heads of the football team as to the possibility of staging one of the biggest games in Anderson and also making the day one of merry making and a general good time.

The main thing now is the arranging of the game and if that can be done it will be an easy matter to arrange the social features afterwards. This is not a new idea but one that has been tried and put into actual play by some of the larger cities and seems to be a great drawing card. The games are arranged between two of the best and most evenly matched teams of the State thus insuring a good game. It is not known what team can be secured or if the idea can be put through but games will be arranged if the teams can be secured.

Flour Mill

Will Be Built in Anderson Along Most Modern Lines—Working Soon.

R. E. Burris, on his return from Cowpens, where he has been to inspect the Midget flour mill, which is in operation in that place, says that he has about perfected plans for a plant to be run in the old Corona knitting mill building if the building can be secured by him from G. W. Evans, owner of the property. This building is near the freight depot and as a building from the railroad runs up to the building it will be an ideal location for the plant.

Mr. Burris is talking about the Midget mill says that the farmer can see that he is getting flour from his wheat as the mill is enclosed in a frame. A corn mill and a feed mill will be run in connection with the flour mill. The Midget mill has a capacity of 25 barrels a day. The installing of the mill will mean an expenditure of between $5,000 and $5,000.

Mr. Burris hopes to have the feed mill and corn mill in operation by the first of January, and the flour mill in operation by the first of June.

TOUR OF EUROPE

M. L. BONNAM, JR. (Continued from Last Week.) From July 25 to 31 we stopped in Lucerne, enjoying the wonderful scenery, the quaint city, the fine concerts, and a good rest. At one of the concerts, I happened to sit next to M. S. G. the composer. I didn't know it until that night when an acquaintance told me of it. Of course, we visited the Lion of Lucerne several times. No picture or description can do it justice; it must be seen. Near it is the "Glacier Garden," where the effects of the glacial period in geology are revealed by excavations.

The Swiss people impress you by their industry, courtesy, intelligence and cleanliness. If a microbe accidentally got into Switzerland, he'd commit suicide from loneliness.

The bathing proposition in the average European hotel is a serious one. A typical experience was that of my first night in Lucerne. Shortly after dinner I rang and requested to be shown to the bathroom. The maid asked "When?" "Immediately," I replied. She went away and soon came back to say that the bathroom was already engaged until ten o'clock and after that there would be no more hot water. "How soon can I get a warm bath in the morning?" "Oh, you can get a cold bath at seven and a warm one at ten."

We left Lucerne at 7 a. m. July 31 for London. We spent two hours before breakfast waiting about the pretty city of Basel. After cutting across the corner of Alsace, we spent the afternoon traversing a beautiful French bathing region. Every railway bridge, tunnel and station was guarded, and at Troyes we passed a troop train. We spent the night in Paris, and proceeded to London next day, by way of Rheims and Folkestone. The weather was clear.

For the next three weeks London was our headquarters. We visited the principal places of literary and historical interest in the city and went to the theatre one afternoon. Between the acts afternoon tea was served. We made short excursions by train or bus of motor to Windsor, Hampton Court, Eton, Stratford, Warwick, Kenilworth, Oxford, etc. On the same campus of Magdalen College, Oxford, we had the pleasure of seeing Misses Kate Hill and Ella Graham of Baton Rouge.

One day in Oxford Street, London, I saw my name over an acquaintance's shop, so went in and was acquainted with the proprietor. Another day I looked at a book to tell me which of the streets of London were the most interesting. I looked puzzled till I showed him the number of a card, then said "Oh, yes, is this way."

I attended a cricket game—that is, I sat through the first two hours of the first inning. I found it fully as exciting as a faculty meeting and the spectators were as enthusiastic as dent mites at a funeral.

Another day I spent in walking along the Rhine country; road from Basel through Barmen, Düsseldorf, Cologne, Aachen, and the Green Dragon, a typical English way-side inn.

In the morning of August 21 we saw a partial eclipse of the sun and in the afternoon boarded the Allan Line steamer for Montreal. We had a very stormy voyage, varied by a sight of the aurora borealis and two lectures.

Our port holes were covered with rain-streaks at night so that no light could betray us to a possible German cruiser.

Mr. Bonnam was very sick and for four days kept her cabin. I seized this opportunity to get acquainted with several young ladies. They say I carried Mrs. B. on deck one of them said, "I wish to see that your daughter is well enough to come up today." I went up on the upper deck and looked at the sky.

We found that the British are good sailors as well as good soldiers, but they don't understand the sea. The ship was very comfortable.

On the 27th of August we were on the sea, so we went on deck and after seeing that quiet city proceeding we went to Montreal where we stayed until we had to return to September 1. We crossed the border and reflected with a sigh of pleasure that the
