SAYS ELEVATOR PLAN 'IS VERY FEASIBLE'

CONSTRUCTION MAN TELLS OF WORK

GOOD FIELD HERE

Thinks That Anderson Farmers Will Immediately Approve Scheme and Lend Assistance

"Feasible? Of course it is entirely feasible," said J. Cooper Stratton of the Burrell Construction and Engineering company, when seen yesterday by a reporter for The Intelligencer and asked about the plan for build-ing a grain elevator here. The gentleman constructing the elevators for the Chicago concern knows all there is to know about grain elevators and interestingly about prospects for putting in a plant here.

Mr. Stratton came tto Anderson for the purpose of appearing last night at the meeting of the directors of the anderson chamber of commerce. He talked at length yesterday to a re-porter and explained in detail the working of the grain elevator idea. Mr. Stratton says that there is absolutely no question about the success of the elevator if it is started here and that he believes Anderson people are going to take to the idea. He points out that it is possible for grain to be handled in the old manner, by using a "scoop" and employing a large number of laborers but says that all over the country this plan has been discarded by more progressive communities because it is slow and necessarily very expensive and the the same work is done in a shorter time and at a less cost when machin-ery is employed. Again machinery is always to be depended upon, while negroes are not.

Takking of the work done by the elevator, Mr. Stratton points out that the grading of grain is very important. Just as there are several different grades of cotton, so are there several qualities of grain, and all these must be sorted and classified.

Mr. Stratton has plans with him for an elevator such as Anderson will need. It has a capacity of 25,000 bushels but this capacity can be large-ly increased by using the two "legs" of the elevator. The "legs" refer to that part of the apparatus used from holsting the grain from the receiving holsting the grain from the receiving point up to the floor and into the different channels, troughs, etc., through which it should go on into the cars on the railroad. These "legs" will handle 2.000 bushels of grain per hour and will load a car on the railroad tracks in less than one hour.

It is proposed to construct a building here of wood with an iron cover.

ing here of wood with an iron cover-ing and to fit it up as completely as possible. The cost of the proposed undertaking is about $10,000.

The concern represented by Mr. Stratton is one of the largest of its kind in the United States. President Burrell of the company has but recently returned from Australia, wher he went at the request of the Australian government, to explain the system followed in grain elevators, and representatives of the Burrell company are now in South America, as-sisting the people of that country to get grain elevators in operation.

ANDERSON BOY RECEIVES HONORS

Milledge L. Bonham, Jr., Selected as Judge Military History Prize

Contest.

The following clipping from The Reveille: the students' paper of the Louisiana State University, will be read with interest by the many friends of Dr. Bonham in this section of the State:

"Dr. Milledge L. Bonham, of the Department of History and Political Science, has been chosen as one of the judges in the military history prize contest which is now being conducted.

prize contest which is now being conducted.

A prize of $200 will be awarded by the association in 1915 for the best unpublished monograph in military history submitted to the committee before September, 1, 1915. The document must be based upon original and independent investigation into some field of military history of the United States. While any American war may be chosen for the essay, the committee has suggested that preference be given to the Civil War.

"The article must deal wit, a campaign, a tattle, a phase or aspect of a campaign or battle, with the fortunes of a corps or division during a battle, or with such subjects as mobilization or organization of volunteers, the material, transportation or food supply of an army, or strategy and military policy.

The other judges are: Capta'n A. L. Conger, Fort Leavenworth, kansas; Allen B. Boyd, Library of Congress; Professors Fred Marrow Fling, University of Nebrasks, and Albert Bushnell Hart, of Harvard, Each of these men is an authority in his line. Dr. Bonham was chosen because of his high standing as an authority both on history and military factica." —The Reveille.
