

THE WATCH ON THE RHINE. A voice resounds like thunder...

Chorus. Dear fatherland, no danger thine...

They stand a hundred thousand strong, Quick to avenge their country's wrong...

The dead of a heroic race From heaven look down and meet their gaze...

They swear with dauntless heart, "O Rhine, Be German as this breast of mine!"

"While flows one drop of German blood, Or sword remains to guard thy flood...

While rifle rests in patriot hand— No foe shall tread thy sacred strand!

"Our oath resounds, the river flows, In golden light our banner glows; Our hearts will guard thy stream divine— The Rhine, the Rhine, the German Rhine!"

MARRIAGE. See that boat rowed by two men! When they keep time in rowing it goes smoothly over the rough waters...

HILLS OF GOD. The hills of God are hard to climb. Oh, tender little feet! They stand up high above the plain...

The upward trails are flanked with thorns, Oh, little pilgrim heart! The stones that strew us white ahead...

But, ah, the hills of God they lean so close Against the feet of God. You see from their summit crest The goal that is your prayerful quest...

THOUGHTS ON MAN. In one respect man is the nearest thing to me, so far as I must do good to man and endure them.—Aurelius Antoninus.

Men in great places are three servants—servants of the sovereign or state, servants of fame and servants of business.—Bacon.

A man is the whole encyclopedia of facts. The creation of a thousand forests is in one acorn, and Egypt, Greece, Rome, Gaul, Britain, America, he folded already in the first man.—Bacon.

AN OLD BATTLEFIELD. The softest whispings of the scented south, And rust and roses in the cannon's mouth...

But still the thought—somewhere upon the hills Or where the vales ring with the whippoorwills...

And when the oaks their leafy banners wave Dream of a battle and an unmarked grave —Frank L. Stanton.

New York Stock Exchange Will Reopen For Business

After Virtually Four Months of Enforced Idleness The Exchange Will Reopen for Restricted Trading in Listed Bonds.

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—After virtually four months of enforced idleness, necessitated by the war, the stock exchange will reopen tomorrow for restricted trading in listed bonds.

On the trading floor of the exchange today carpenters erected a platform for the special committee of five which has acted as a tribunal for the institution since its suspension and probably will continue in that capacity until restoration of normal conditions.

Before the opening of tomorrow's session the committee will fix minimum prices for all bonds which may change hands under the terms specified. In the more active bond group concessions of 2 to 3 points from July 30 closing prices probably will be allowed, but in the more obscure issues declines may run to as much as five points.

All transactions will be for cash, which will tend to shut out speculative trading and act as a partial deterrent against foreign selling. Every effort will be made to minimize trading for European interests, although bankers with English and continental connections virtually are unanimous in declaring they know of no concerted liquidating movement from abroad.

In former times a large part of the bond business was done by members or firms which made a specialty of such securities, but judging from the large attendance of traders on the floor today, much of tomorrow's buying and selling promises to emanate from general sources.

The decision of authorities to quote all sales on the tickers will add to the widespread interest in the reopening. Bankers and other financial interests received numerous out of town inquiries today, many soliciting advice respecting their present holdings or prospective investments.

Conservative brokers said that they did not look for any definite trend during tomorrow's brief session. Others seemed to fear offerings soon would cause an all-round decline to minimum prices, thereby bringing the market to an automatic conclusion.

In no quarter was there any disposition to decry the sentimental effect of the reopening. Should the inquiry for bonds indicate a genuine investment demand it is not at all unlikely the governors may consider extending the trading to the more active stocks before the end of the year. If that is done minimum prices will be established in every instance.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Local interest in financial affairs today converged mainly about the stock exchange and its reopening tomorrow for limited dealings in bonds. The movement was recognized as partaking largely of the nature of an experiment and will be regarded as affording the best and only valuable test of domestic investment conditions.

It is perhaps something more than a coincidence that the Paris Bourse is to resume operations on a strictly cash basis early in the coming month and that some of the smaller exchanges in this country are to take similar action next week.

Money showed greater ease and the fact that a regular money market would accompany trading on the exchange from Monday next might be accepted as further proof of a gradual return to normal. Banks of the clearing house will report a large cash loan, according to most forecasts, but the surplus of these institutions will not be materially affected.

New York Cotton

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The cotton market was more active today and ruled generally steady, with the close at a net advance of 2 to 6 points. The first December notices were estimated at 700 bales and brought no pressure against the market.

Liverpool made a steady showing over the local holiday with prices a couple of points better than due at the hour of the local opening, and the market here started steady at an advance of 1 point to a decline of 1 point. The firmness of the near position, and the small notices as compared with the local stock and with the supposed interest still outstanding for the December delivery, gave the general list a steady tone and prices soon worked higher.

Some who bought December appeared to be selling May, while others bought May and sold October and there was a considerable demand from Liverpool or other foreign sources. After showing a net gain of from 5 to 12 points, the market reacted under the day were off erings aggressive. Exports for the day were smaller but southern advices indicate that many steamers are chartered to carry cotton, and German interests were said to be in the local market today trying to arrange for direct shipments to that country.

Cotton futures closed steady. Month open high low close December, old .730 7.43 7.30 7.37 January, old .750 7.50 7.38 7.41 January, new .755 7.52 7.52 7.52 March, old .750 7.49 7.47 7.47 March, new .760 7.69 7.60 7.63 May, old .760 .760 .760 .760 May, new .771 7.80 7.70 7.75 July, new .778 7.93 7.87 7.90

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 27.—Conditions nearly normal ruled in the cotton future market today. Trading was the largest of any day since the market reopened and prices rose and fell over a comparatively wide range. Some "little speculative interest" was shown in the situation, brokers reported outside inquiry and houses with foreign connections did a fairly good business for German account, spinners and spot merchants in that country apparently hedging against their wants in the line of raw material into the spring months.

The net results of the day's trading, on both styles of contracts was a gain of 2 to 6 points, except on new style January, which closed unchanged. At one time prices were 9 to 11 points over Wednesday's close. The strength of the market in the morning led to buying on the part of scalpers and these traders tried to take profits in the afternoon with the result that prices fell to about the level of last Wednesday's close, doing a little better toward the end of the session.

Exports attracted considerable attention and helped give the market a good one. For the week, foreign exports were 245,655 bales, this being the first week of the season when shipments went over the 200,000 bale mark. The absence of large December deliveries in New York was another bullish feature of the day.

Spot cotton quiet. Sales on the spot 620 bales; to arrive 400. Cotton futures closing: December, old, 7.25; January, old, 7.33; January, new, 7.37; March, old, 7.46; March, new, 7.56; May, old, 7.64; May, new, 7.72; July, new, 7.90.

Liverpool Cotton

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 27.—Cotton, spot, moderate business; prices easier. American middling fair 5.46; good middling 4.78; middling 4.46; low middling 3.90; good ordinary 3.21; ordinary 2.76. Sales 6,036 bales, including 5,800 American and 800 for speculation and export. Receipts 16,479, including 14,485 American. Futures closed steady.

May-June 4.21 1-2; July-August 4.27 1-2; October-November 4.30; January-February 4.43 1-2.

Weekly Cotton

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—While business remained generally quiet in the New York cotton market during the past week, prices ruled steadier, and during today's trading December contracts sold at 7.43 or 58 points above the low level of November 13, and with 7 points of the syndicate price 7.1-2c. Later deliveries also advanced on a little trade buying and some investment demand, while upward tendency evidently was encouraged by the increasing export movement and the steadiness of southern spot markets. Leading trade interests as well as Liverpool shorts were buyers of December notices issued today were estimated at only 700 bales, although there are fully 40,000 bales certified in the local stock.

The talk has reflected no change of sentiment with reference to the size of the crop. The census figures showing 11,024,708 bales planted in November 14 were considered in line with estimates of something over 16,000,000 bales including lint. Compared with into eight figures, the report also indicated a record-breaking volume of cotton available in the south. The improving export movement and the firmness shown by interior holders so far this season have held sellers in check, and spinners have been moderate buyers here. Direct shipments to Germany are expected in the near future and German interests were reported to be inquiring for cotton in the local market today.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Wheat declined sharply today, semi-demoralized by surprisingly bearish estimates of a big field from the Argentine harvest. The market closed extremely weak, 2 3-4 to 3 1-8 lower than Wednesday night. Corn suffered a net decline of 6-8 to 7-8 and oats of 1 1-8. In provisions the outcome varied from 5c off to an advance of 2 1-2c.

Grain and provisions closed: Wheat, December 1.12; May 1.17 3-4. Corn, December 63 1-4; May 63 1-2. Oats, December 48 1-8; May 51 7-8. Cash grain: Wheat, No. 2 red, 1.12 1-2@1.14; No. 2 hard, 1.12 3-4@1.14 1-4. Corn, No. 2 yellow, 68@70; new 63 3-4@64 1-2. Oats, standard, 48 3-4@49 1-4.

Dunn's Review

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Dunn's Review will say tomorrow: Domestic business continues subnormal in volume, but there are many signs of quickening activity due to the confidence inspired by the recent important financial developments. Colder weather is helping retail distribution and there is some improvement in the wholesale jobbing trade, while collections are reported easier. Advances from important commercial centers indicate better conditions. Bank clearings and railroad gross earnings, however, still show heavy decreases as compared with last year, the reduction in the latter in the first two weeks of November amounting to 12.1 per cent. Rapid progress is being made in restoration of export trade since the beginning of November a trade balance in favor of the United States of over $48,000,000 has been achieved.

Bank clearings this week, according to Dunn's Review, were $1,958,295,615 against $2,274,681,371 the same week a year ago. Commercial failures, 894 against 356; wheat exports including flour 3,476,000 bushels against 3,566,318.

THE FIDDLERS AT TOWNVILLE

Fiddle and Bow Artists Delight Large Audience Thanksgiving Evening.

TOWNVILLE, Nov. 27.—The "Fiddlers" Convention of Anderson and Oconee counties held last evening at the Townville school auditorium, was a big success. The "convention" was scheduled for seven, but long before that hour people began to gather and at a little after six o'clock every seat was occupied. When seven came the auditorium was packed for standing room. There was considerable disappointment because several favorite fiddlers from Seneca and other places were absent, but the audience was soon captivated by those artists that did come.

Probably fifty selections were played. Some of the best were "Leather Breches," "I've a Poor Gal," "Rabun Gap," "Arkansas Traveler," "Black-eyed Susan," "Paris Mountain," "Sharon," "Red Wing," and "Annie Laurie." Prizes were awarded for various selections. The winner of the grand prize, a sum of money could not be decided by the judges. So this prize was divided between Messrs. A. J. Smith, J. F. Mulliken, C. Cromer and James Welborne.

The audience had several treats besides the regular program. The playing by Miss Mildred Smith of several extra numbers, and singing by Mr. Welborne of several popular songs delighted everybody. Much amusement was created by the playing of Billy Hood and Will Wells and the dancing of George and T. W. Whitfield. Some humorous selections by a male duet consisting of Messrs. Mahaffey, King, Spears and Galloway elicited much applause. The humorous jokes and repartees of J. Walter Dickson, who presided, kept the audience in continual laughter.

Taken altogether, the entertainment was one of the most enjoyable ever held here. So successful in fact, was the evening that it has practically been decided to have a yearly convention at which handsome medals and prizes are to be awarded.

SPLENDID MOTION PICTURE MACHINES

THE FINEST ON THE MARKET ARRIVE FOR PARAMOUNT THEATRE

SUNDAY PROGRAM

Pictures of a Religious Type Will Be Shown From Time to Time Sundays.

There are motion picture machines and there are motion picture machines, but the two which arrived in Anderson yesterday for the Paramount theatre represent the very best word in motion picture machine construction. In short, it would be impossible to find on the market finer machines than those which have arrived for the new motion picture house which is to be opened up in the next few days in the place now being fitted out in the Kroas building.

The machines in question are technically known as "Powers" 6-A. They are fully equipped with all modern devices, including electric motors and special Fort Wayne compensators. The big machines, for they are big—weighing about 700 pounds—were shipped by freight. They will be set up within the next few days, or as soon as the booth which is to house them is completed. The date tentatively set for the formal opening of the Paramount is Friday, December 4th.

It has been announced that the Paramount will from time to time be opened on Sunday for a free performance. Only pictures of a religious character will be shown on such occasions, subjects like "From the Manger to the Cross," "Ben Hur," "Quo Vadis," etc., being used.

Decorators are now at work finishing the interior of the building, which will be one of the most beautiful in the State. The work of installing the front to the theatre is now in progress, the plank front having been torn out to make way for the new one. The arrival of the machines means that practically everything that is needed to operate the theatre is on hand. The pipe organ, the seats and other paraphernalia are already here and will be installed within the near future.

NO DECISION HAS BEEN REACHED

Yesterday's Session of M. E. Conference Consumed in Discussing Line of Division.

SPECIAL TO THE INTELLIGENCER. SUMMER, S. C., Nov. 27.—No decision has been reached as to line of division of South Carolina conference yet minute question consumed all the time of the day's session and it was agreed to postpone consideration till tomorrow. The opposition is working hard to defeat the division by indirect processes and great interest is being manifested.

The committee to make suggestions on management of South Carolina associate reported this morning with nothing definite proposed. The report was recommended and it is expected that some place will be reached tomorrow. Fourteen young men applying for membership in conference were received on trial. This is one of the largest classes received in years, and will likely mean that a number of local preachers now employed on circuit will retire from service.

One from the Christian church, W. S. Rise, was admitted on trial. Ten young ministers were elected to deacons and four to elders orders. Marion Dargan was superannuated by his request by motion of H. L. Banks. The lay delegation to district conferences was fixed at three from each pastoral charge.

The session was largely taken up with routine business. At 4 p. m. the annual laymen's conference was held. The evening hour was occupied by the board of education and was addressed by Bishops Denny and Snyder.

Best Cough Medicine for Children

"Three years ago when I was living in Pittsburg one of my children had a hard cold and coughed dreadfully. Upon the advice of a druggist I purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it benefited him at once. I find it the best cough medicine for children because it is pleasant to take. They do not object to taking it," writes Mrs. Lafayette Truck, Homer City, Pa. This remedy contains no opium or other narcotic, and may be given to a child as confidently as to an adult. Sold by all dealers.
