Pay Bond Interest
"Do you know," said an Anderson gentleman yesterday, "that the mud on Anderson's streets destroys enough shoe leather every year to pay the interest on a bond issue that would give us miles of paving." With that remark, a general discussion of the mud situation arose with a crowd who heard the remark. Another gentleman remarked that instead of a new fire pump the city of Anderson needed an apparatus which would suck up mud commission and that is the equipment that they will have on board.

Plans Upset by Inclement Weather.

The plans which Miss Maggie M.
Garlington, county supervisor of rural schools, laid last week for visiting cortain schools of the county this week were upset by the unusually had weather. She had planned to visit Fendleton, Walker-McElmoyle and other schools in the upper section of the county. Tuesday she visited the mill school at Williamston and yesterday visited the North Fant street school for a short while. Miss Garlington stated that she had promises of efforts that would be made to improve the Williamston school by the addition of new deaks for the children and new furniture for the teachers.

Boosting Grain

Calling attention to the meeting of farmers and business men to be held here next Monday for the purpose of discussing and "putting across" the grain elevator proposition. Secretary Whaley of the chamber of commerce yesterday mailed out a large number of post cards to farmers all over the county. The post cards read as follows:

"We are glad to advise you that the grain elevator convention will be held in Anderson, at the court house, at 1 p. m. sharply, Monday, Dec. 7th. At this meeting we will go into the whole grain situation, discuss methods of marketing the great crop now being planted, and ascertain whether or not we shall build a grain elevator. If we can arrange a market, and we can, then every grain planter will get top prices for his grain next spring otherwise it will be a drug on the market. It is an immensely important thing. Business men and farmers must work together. We can do it. Let's do it. Tell your friends to come. Let's talk it over frankly. Anderson county will have prosperity next year if we act. But we must act now. Remember the date, come, and also bring your neigh-

the Columbia Record with reference to him:

Everybody in the upper part of the state knows "Bill" McGee, lately of Honea Path, and everybody knows that he drinks nothing stronger than an occasional teaspoon of cotton seed oil just to keep in good health. When Mr. McGee was seen walking down Main street Thursday with a suspicious package under his arm, it was thought doubly significant on account of the fight being made here against blind tigers. But when he opened up to view the contents of the package were found to be about the very best thing that could be put in bottle form—a quart of the linest ribbon cane syrup made in the state. "Bill" says that a friend from up the country presented him with a case of it and all of a sudden he found himself afflicted with popularity in the edice and all of the boys had to have some of the syrup. Mr. McGee is a citizen of Columbia now and his home is en Blanding street."

Pretty Home Wedding Yesterday. Yesterday at 2 o'clock at the home the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Cann, on North Fant street, a pretty home wedding occurred when their daughter, Una, was married to Mr. Merrell Lowe.
Only the relatives and a few intimate friends were the invited guests for this occasion and these gathered in the beautifully decorated parlor where the ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. Speake of the St. John's Methodist church. Here the walls were draped in long graceful strands of lyy with palms and ferns on stands and mantel. The bridal party stood before an embankment of ferns and palms. White lights were used that shed a soft glow over the room. Broad white ribbons formed an aisle for the pretty, bride who entered on the arm of the groom. She was preceded by her sister and maid of honor, Miss Willie Cann, who wore a lovely lace dress with pink sash and carried an armful of pink carnations The i ride wore a charming coat suit of b: own de negre, with hat, shoes and of blown de negre, with hat, shoes and gloves to match. She carried a beautiful bouquet of white carnations, showered with lilies of the valley. The wedding march was played by Miss Ella Mae Cummings. Immediately after the ceremony a deligniful reception was given. tion was given. The dining room was beautifully decorated in ferns and pink carnations. On the center table was a white cover over pink and from each corner to the chandelier above was pink tulle caught with clusters of asparagus ferns. A cut glass vase stood on a mirror in the center of the table, and was filled with pink carnations. The light above was covered with pink with long graceful fronds of asparagus ferns.

Pink carnations and ferns were em-
