And truth to tell, there isn't a Hell-fight of difference between the fat devil and the mad devil and Anderson knows both of them intimately.

Most of our esteemed taxpayers bewail with enthusiasm "Anderson is my town," with a mental reservation, apparently, "except when it is maddy."

"Why don't you cover your house, old man," quoth the Arkansas Traveler to a native. "It's raining too hard," was the reply and then the native said the reason he didn't cover the house in dry weather was because it didn't leak a drop. Substitute Anderson for the native and the stranger in our midst for the "traveler" and you have our excuse for maddy streets.

CITY ATTORNEY HOOD'S VIEWS

Former City Attorney Hood has added a valuable contribution today to the franchise discussion, and to those who wish to have both sides of the legal controversy we would suggest a careful perusal of this calm and logical discussion.

Mr. Hood claims that he should know what a municipal bond is, as every bond outstanding against the city was issued during his service as city attorney, except one small issue of $8,000, and these were issued while he was mayor.

We note that Mr. Hood also asks an "impertinent question" when he says: "What would the people be asked to vote on when it comes to making a contract for water and lights?"

Then follows a discussion of the legal phase of the subject, in which Mr. Hood shows that the Charleston and Fountain Inn cases cited by Mr. Sullivan are not parallel cases at all.

Mr. Hood pays a deserved tribute to the members of Council for the hard work they spent in working on the adoption of the contract. He says that it appeared to him that every member of Council desired a contract that would be fair to the City and the company, and that the negotiations were conducted without the least deception on the part of either party to the contract.

Mr. Hood says he shall endeavor by every proper and honorable means to uphold the validity of this contract, "made by our clients with our assistance, as their trusted attorneys," and that a more fair and beneficial contract could not be made should the present City Council deprive the city of its provisions by any unwise action.

"PLEASE PAY UP"

This is the subject of an advertisement appearing in today's paper on the subject of so much interest to those who have been doing business in the South this year. It is a subject which one may well consider.

The South, therefore, has a problem all her own. We must resort to methods we did not think were necessary several months ago, and do things we did not think we should ever have to do.

The farmer will have a loss. The business man will have a loss. Newspapers, even will have a loss. Something for all of us to do is to make extraordinary efforts to meet the changed conditions, and so arrange that we shall not have this to do again.

To the farmer it will mean a sacrifice of a part of his crop; to the merchant it will mean a sale of goods at a lower profit; to the railroads it will mean a loss in freight and passenger rates; to the newspaper it means lessened receipts from subscriptions and advertising. But we must be game losers.

Don't keep on saying you are not going to give any Christmas presents. Do your shopping early.

If those Belgians ever accept the invitation to locate in Yuma, Arizona, they will doubtless wish they were back on the firing line in no time.

Christmas

Dinners Will Be Served This Year by Salvation Army.

Ensign Belcher of the local post of the Salvation Army announces that this organization is trying plans for a Christmas dinner for those persons whose means are such that they cannot afford luxuries which are in keeping with this particular season.

Baskets containing enough food for 5 persons will be given out Christmas morning at the Salvation Army Hall, corner East Whitner and McDuffie streets.

In the baskets to be given out will be potatoes, sugar, coffee, bread and chicken or roast. Baskets are to be received as contributions from the public. Ensign Belcher reports that the people are responding liberally to the cause.

SHOT MAN SUSPECTED INVADING HIS HOME

J. FRANK KENNEDY WOUNDS SID. C. EATON YESTERDAY AT PELZER MILL.

FORMER IN JAIL

Both Parties Are Married And Fathers—Talks of the Affair.

J. Frank Kennedy, aged 35 years, a loom fixer employed at Pelzer Mills No. 4, yesterday shot and probably fatally wounded Sid. C. Eaton, 25 years of age, and a weaver in mill No. 1. According to the story related by Kennedy to a representative of The Intelligencer who talked with him in the county jail yesterday afternoon, Kennedy and his wife returned from down town yesterday morning, Mrs. Kennedy going into the house by the front door and he going around to the back for the purpose of going into the garden, when he spotted Eaton standing at his back door talking to Mrs. Kennedy's sister. Kennedy stated that he asked Eaton if he had not told him repeatedly that he had better stay off his premises, whereupon the latter backed off, reaching his hand to his hip pocket and revealing a pistol and remarking, "Well, I don't know that I have to stay away." Kennedy stated that the instant he saw Eaton's pistol he drew his own and fired upon him three times, all three shots taking effect.

Speaking of the causes that led up to the shooting, Kennedy stated that he had for some time suspected Eaton of coming to his home for improper purposes, and that no longer than last Sunday he warned him that he had not better put his foot on the place again. "I have been married 15 years," said Kennedy, "and have six little children, and this is the first time in my life I have ever been locked up." His oldest child is 14 years of age and the youngest six months. He lived at Nos. 1 and 2 Lopez street. Kennedy says that Eaton is a married man but that he and his wife have been separated for some time, Mrs. Eaton and two children living in Spartanburg.

Kennedy stated that he had been living at the Pelzer mill for six years and that Eaton was there when he came to the village to live. After the shooting Kennedy went down "L" and surrendered to Policeman Jim Williams, who brought him to Anderson and placed him in the county jail. Eaton was shot once in the right shoulder, once in the lower right breast and once in the left leg. At a late hour last night it was reported that Eaton was still living.
