FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS
FOR BACKACHE KIDNEYS AND BLADDER

KNEW GOD HAD SENT HER TO THAT HOUSE

CHILDLIKE FAITH OF MOTHER OF FAMILY IN DISTRESS LATER BY A TOR

CLOTHING ASKED FOR SUFFERING

Some Families in Poverty Need Food, Some Nourishment For Sick But All Need Clothing.

"I knew God had sent you here." It was with these words that the mother of a family in distress, who the day before Christmas Eve had divided between them the last morsel of food in the house, greeted a Christian woman of this city when she entered the home of poverty last Thursday with nourishment for the sick and hungry, clothing for the cold and ragged, and a few delicacies for those of the family who lie wasting away of disease.

In telling yesterday of the simple faith of this poor woman and her earnest conviction that God had sent her to that house of desolation, this Christian lady spoke feelingly of the happiness which pervaded other poverty stricken homes when some little necessity, like that of food, clothing or fuel, was carried there as a result of contributions made to this cause through The Intelligencer. But this happiness can not last long, she stated, for the relief given these people is only temporary and already some of them are feeling actual want again.

Need Old Clothing.

With the exception of one family, the six or seven reported in distress several days ago have food enough to last them for a few days longer. But practically every family mentioned some days ago as being in distress is in need of clothing.

The major portion of the money turned over to The Intelligencer for this work was expended for fuel and food for the poor families. As these wants have been supplied, the good women who are looking after the comfort of the people are now turning their attention to clothing those who are without sufficient covering for their bodies. The cast off clothing of men, women and children of the city will be gladly received by the committee, and contributions of that nature may be left at The Intelligencer office.

Clothing For These.

There is one family of six where food is needed, immediately. One member of the family, a girl, is extremely low with pellagra, while a second member of the family is also ill. Such articles as flour, coffee, sugar, shortening, meat, etc., will be very acceptable. Person wishing to contribute groceries or money with which to purchase them for this family, may leave their contributions at The Intelligencer office.

The committee has under its care a little girl of some 10 years of age, who is in need of shoes and a cloak of some description. The little chap has had to go through the severe weather to school without covering for her feet and without a coat or any other protection of a heavy nature for her body. Anything that would be suitable for a girl of her age will be gladly received, and may be left at this office.

There are two little boys, aged 9 and 10, who are without shoes and sufficient clothing. Any articles of this nature may be left at this office and the committee will see that they are properly distributed.

A Pitiable Case.

A pitiable case of an old man who is living with his daughter and her two children and who has been thrown out of work has come to the attention of the committee of ladies. The daughter is down with consumption and the old man himself sick, besides being out of a job. Contributions of any kind that will help keep this family going for a while will be gladly received.

For the Convalescent. In another family, the committee reports, there are two children recovering from typhoid fever. One of the boys is able to be up, but the other has not yet left his bed. Both are without food that those convalescent should have. Any person who would like to send soup or some other delicacy to these children may call The Intelligencer and some arrangements will be made by this office for getting the food to these little fellows.

Love Reunited

Young Bridegroom Who Was Jailed Monday Was Freed Yesterday.

Heads that wear crowns are not the only ones that lay uneasy throughout Monday night, if the word of a young bridegroom of less than 24 hours and that of a father-in-law whose wrath had caused the husband of his daughter to languish in jail all night is to be taken at its face value.

Ere the murky day was 10 hours old yesterday, A. T. Thomason, esteemed resident of the Anderson Cotton Mills village and an employee of the Brogan Mills, and the man who had had young Anderson Spearman put in jail as a result of his eloping with the former's daughter, came up to town and went to talk things over with his son-in-law, who had spent the night in jail.

After a long talk about matters, the father-in-law decided that he would have the warrant against his son-in-law, which charged him with false swearing as to the bride's age, withdrawn. The father-in-law then went before the magistrate and paid the costs of the action, after which the bridegroom was allowed to return to his love.

The father of the young bride testified that he had not spent a peaceful night, and that the bridegroom did not rest calmly as attested by officials of the jail. From the former's conversation, one would gather that the young bride made things lively about the home Monday night. Far into the night it is reported, the mother-in-law, who had been much perturbed over her daughter's elopement, gave in and immediately began to beseech the father to have mercy upon the young husband of their young daughter and get him out of jail.

FOOTBALL RULES ARE UNCHANGED

In All Probability Same Rules Will Be Used As in 1914.

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—There is little likelihood of any important change in the football rules for next season, according to indications today at the ninth annual convention of the Collegiate Athletic Association. The football committee's report, presented by Dr. H. L. Williams, of Minnesota, suggested no material alterations and many of the college athletic authorities predicted that when the rules committee meets next Friday the 1914 rules will be readopted practically unchanged.

BIG OIL WAGON BLOWN OVER BY STRONG WIND

DRIVER R. C. CAMPBELL HAD VERY NARROW ESCAPE

SLIGHT INJURY

Five Mules Were Hitched to Wagon When It Capsized at Sandy Springs.

R. C. Campbell, the 19-year-old driver of one of the Standard Oil company's large wagons, had a narrow escape from serious injuries, if not death, early yesterday morning when his wagon turned over near Sandy Springs.

Mr. Campbell left Anderson for Pendleton about dawn, driving five mules to a wagon load of oil which was to have been delivered to customers at Pendleton. Shortly after 6 o'clock, as he was driving over a long, steep hill near Sandy Springs the mules stalled. It was while Mr. Campbell was endeavoring to get started again that wind storm swept down on the wagon.

The force of the wind caused the heavily loaded wagon to slide off the middle of the road toward the ditch on the side.

As the wagon turned into the ditch Mr. Campbell was hurled violently to the ground, his shoulder striking first and being painfully but not seriously injured.

No sooner had Mr. Campbell struck the ground than he leaped up and cut the harness from the mules, in order that they might be freed from the wreck. The mules got out of the tangle without sustaining injuries of any consequence.

Mr. Campbell carried his five mules to a nearby farm house where he placed them in a stable for the day. He then went to the railway station and came back to Anderson on one of the early morning trains, for the purpose of making arrangements for getting the wagon and other material out of the ditch yesterday afternoon.

GREENWOOD LOSES PICTURE SHOW

Fire Discovered About 4:30 Tuesday Morning, Wrecks Pretty Theatre.

The following from the Greenwood Journal dated 29th.

The Crescent theatre, only recently completed at a cost of $8,000, was badly damaged by fire at 4:30 Tuesday morning. The alarm was sounded at 4:18 and when the department arrived, within a very few minutes, the entire ceiling was boiling with smoke so that it was impossible to locate the origin of the blaze for some time. The fire originated just above one of the hanging lamps near the front of the building and spread rapidly through the wooden joists which support the roof, but after hard work for three hours the firemen succeeded in checking the spread of the flames. It is remarkable that the entire roof of the building did not burn, the wood work above the ceiling being like so much kindling.

The handsome front of the theatre is practically unscathed, the $5,000 piano, known as the "foto player," is a wreck, and it is probable that all of the seats will be made useless by water which is still standing a foot deep at the lower end of the auditorium. The walls are not damaged very badly and the moving picture machines escaped unhurt.

Insurance on the building is given at $4,000 with about 4,300 on the contents. The loss has not been estimated. The theatre was owned by Stergios Bros., proprietors of the Star Cafe. They went to a large expense a few months ago to remodel the old building, spending about $8,000. About two months ago Mr. Motte Sheppard and associates rented the place and since that time had conducted a high class moving picture and vaudeville establishment. On yesterday the management was taken over by Mr. J. F. Crouch, who has had an interest in the business since it was started. The Crescent was one of the most up-to-date theatres in the State and its shows were rapidly growing in popularity.

The exact cause of the fire has not been determined.

NOBLE MAN DEAD.

Father of the "Jolly First" Movement Over in United States.

GREENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 29.—Thomas Lynch, aged 60, president of the H. C. Frick Coke Company since 1896, died here tonight. He entered the employ of the coke company as a clerk in 1870. Mr. Lynch's company was one of the first to adopt the "safety first" movement.

RUSSIAN CRUISER

American Ship Did Not Threaten to Shell Town.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Captain Oman, commanding the armored cruiser North Carolina, at Beirut, Syria, informed the navy department today that it was a Russian cruiser and not an American vessel which recently threatened to bombard Tripoli.

An Athens dispatch last week said the crew of an American steamer had been attacked at Tripoli south Alexandria, when foreign consuls and refugees attempted to board her, and that the North Carolina had threatened to bombard the town.

WILL REGISTER VITAL STATISTICS IN STATE

FULL PARTICULARS OF EVERY DEATH AND BIRTH MUST BE GIVEN

UNDER NEW LAW

Registrars Have Been Appointed in Each County for the Purpose Named.

Beginning January 1, full particulars of every death and birth in South Carolina must be registered with the recently appointed registrars under the vital statistics law. Under this law, no burial or removal of a body will be permitted without a permit issued by one of the many registrars who have been appointed in every county in the State by the secretary of the State board of health.

The certificate of death which must be made to the registrar for a permanent State record is to include the full name, sex, color, conjugal relation, date of birth, age, occupation, birthplace, name of father, maiden name of mother, birthplace of mother, name and address of informant, date of death, statement of attending physicians, place of burial, signature of undertaker and minor details. A full statement, along somewhat similar lines, is required for every birth. These certificates are to become permanent State records. On the 10th of each month, the local registrars are required to transmit to the secretary of the State board of health, who is State registrar, all original certificates registered by him during the preceding month, and under the law, he is to receive the sum of 25 cents for each certificate so turned in.

In addition to turning the original certificates in to the State registrar, the local registrars are required to make copies of all certificates, in record books furnished them by the State registrar, and this record book is to be turned over to the county clerk of court at the end of each year as a permanent record.

The State registrar is required to serve all the original certificates in an arrange, bind and permanently comprehensive and continuous card index of all births and deaths registered.

Under the new law, it becomes a misdemeanor to bury or remove a body without having a burial permit issued by the registrar. Before issuing the burial permit, the registrar is required to examine carefully the death certificate as filed out and to satisfy himself as to any suspicion of foul play, and to request an investigation by the coroner, should he deem this necessary.

Copies of the law, including regulations of the State board of health which have been promulgated relative have been distributed to the several registrars.

PLEASED WITH VETCH.

Group of Anderson County Growers Made Experiment.

When A. C. Smith, the United States farm management expert, who is known favorably all over this country, came to South Carolina to be associated with Commissioner Watson in the developing of the latent farm resources of the State, he started a colony of vetch planters in West Pelzer, Anderson County. John Frank, C. C. Hindman and others who planted according to instructions and kept up their interest, have reaped abundantly. They have made heavy crops of vetch and oats hay, in addition to improving the soil to an extent that can not be estimated.

In reply to a letter from Commissioner Watson, C. C. Hindman writes: "In the planting of vetch, I have met with what I consider a success. I started planting vetch in 1910, with a plot of one acre. This year, 1914, I planted 100 acres or more, and will go even stronger next year. I find that it will increase the yield of oats, when sown with oats, at least $5 per acre.

"When planted as a cover crop, I think that there is nothing that will equal it. It draws the nitrogen from the air and stores it in the ground in nodules, whence it is given off to succeeding crops. It is doing this at a time of year when no other crop is growing. This is in my estimation of great value to our Southern farmers."—The State.

Charity Ball

PAY OR GET OUT

Striking Miners Must Pay House Rent or Be Ejected.

STUBENVILLE, O., Dec. 29.—Notices were made out here today calling on 2,500 families of striking miners in Ohio to pay to the coal companies by January 15 the ten months' house rent they owe, under penalty of eviction.

This is part of the bunch of "Joy Makers" now dispelling gloom at the Palmetto this week, and judging from the almost constant applause, they are certainly making good.
