POOR SUFFER MOST AS RESULT OF WAR

Typical Example of Disadvantages Poorer Class Must Face During Conflict.

LONDON, May 1.—War falls heavily on the poor. Food and coal have steadily advanced in price and many husbands and fathers have given up comparatively fair wages for a shilling a day and the king's uniform, with only a small government allowance for the support of those left behind.

Typical examples of the struggles of soldier's dependents have been published in one of the London newspapers. In one case a soldier's wife says that where she previously paid $3.15 for living expenses for one week, she now pays nearly $5.00. Rent now costs her 85 cents a week, food $1.75 and the remainder goes to various benefit clubs and for other expenses. But between the government allowance, her husband's commuted pay and the work she gets from the Queen's Needlework guild by making shirts for soldiers, she is able not only to put a shilling a week into the bank but another one aside for a clothing fund.

Among this woman's weekly items is a shilling to a feather club, which she explains as follows:

"I am in a feather club to get a lamer plume which will cost 15 shillings 11 pence (4). If you don't wear a good hat in Whitehorse Lane, they say you are coming down in the world, and I don't want them to think that. Also, a nice hat makes you feel young, and really I am only very young. I always try to look clean and decent."

Another story comes from a laborer's wife, who has one son in the army and two sons, aged respectively 13 and two years at home. Her income is 15 shillings a week from her husband, two shilling sixpence from the soldiers' association and the same from the 13 year old boy when working and four shillings earned by herself at shirt making, altogether 24 shillings or $6.00 dollars.

Bread, she says, is their heaviest expense, since they use four loaves a day, costing $2.20 a week. Rent comes to $1.25 altogether and mere cost of living leaves only a few pennies out of the week's income. Meat in the form of a stew is a luxury for Sundays. Bread and margarine is the main food of the family. Her story continues:

"I spend nothing on myself. I don't remember when I had any new clothes. I don't belong to any feather clubs. I am too old for that—I'm 40. Some times the children run errands and get a penny to spend on the moving pictures. They like the cow-boy films. My husband works very long and very hard, but allows himself only three pence (6 cents) a day for outside meals. He has no money to go anywhere, so he goes to bed. I have plenty of work to do. I don't know what business means. My wedding ring went a long time ago for bread, and now I wear a brass one. But the hardest thing to bear is when a lady visitor asks me why I don't put something away for a rainy day."

LOWNESVILLE NEWS.

Mr. C. L. Clinkscales is visiting his daughter, Mrs. L. W. Baskin, near Lincoln, Ga., this week.

Mrs. James Baskin has returned from Mt. Carmel where she visited her sister, Miss Emma McAllister, who is very sick.

Mr. W. F. Goodson of Ehrhardt is spending a few days with friends here.

Rev. J. C. Chandler attended the district conference at Honea Path this week.

Miss Rosa Powell of Lincoln, Ga., has been visiting Mrs. Willie Smith recently.

Mrs. J. W. Huckabee is still confined to her room.

Misses Emma and Mattie Bell went shopping to Anderson Friday.

General M. L. Bonham of Anderson lectured here Friday evening under the auspices of the U. D. C.'s. Those who heard the lecture were highly pleased.

After the lecture the audience was favored by two most excellent recitations by Misses Alice Cooley and Pauline Clinkscales.

Our school will close next week. The people are looking forward with great interest to the commencement exercises.

Mrs. Grady Barnell of this place was married to Mr. Guelly of Anderson last Wednesday.

Barkers Creek Picnic.

The Barkers Creek school will give a basket picnic on Saturday, May 8th at the school house. The general public is cordially invited and requested to bring along well filled baskets.

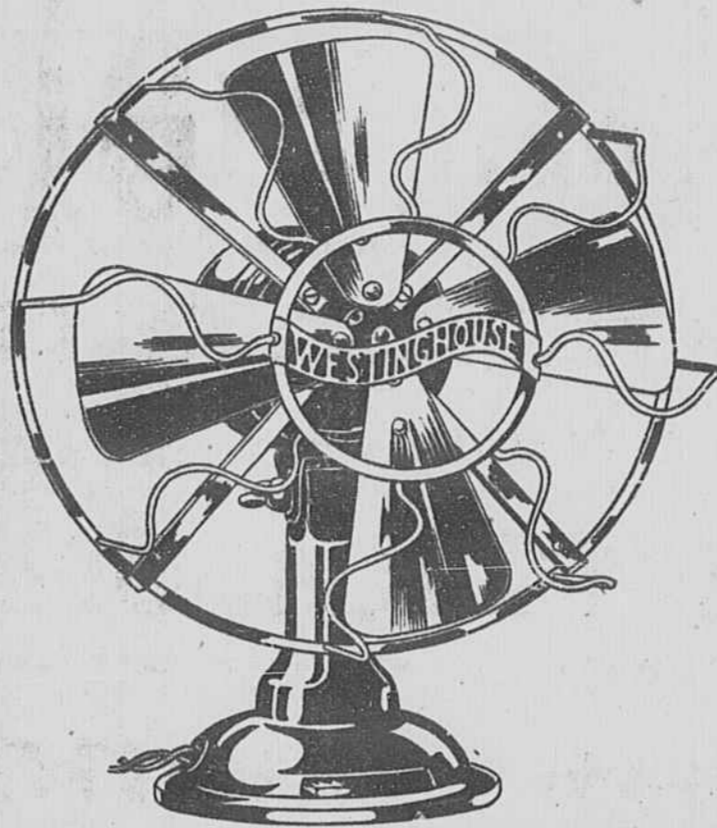

Rae Tanner Says Osborne is Man.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Rae Tanner, the young milliner, who sued James W. Osborne for $50,000 for an alleged breach of promise to marry and later withdrew her suit, saying that Osborne was not the man who courted her under the name of Oliver, changed her testimony again today and under oath identified James W. Osborne as her admirer, Oliver Osborne.

Suffrage Celebration.

NEW YORK, May 1.—A suffrage celebration was held throughout the United States today as a part of a general plan to advance the cause of votes for women. More than 200 meetings were held under the auspices of the woman suffrage party.

NOW IS THE TIME TO THINK OF YOUR HOME AND OFFICE

FOR THE OFFICE SPEED UP WITH AN ELECTRIC FAN

FOR THE HOME KEEP YOUR HOME COOL

Sir, you can do more business and do it better if you provide electric fans for yourself and your clerks. The cost is really trifling compared with the net profit in comfort and actual business accomplished. Heat saps vitality and slows up work. Others are cool—you ought to be too. Our fans have buzzed into rapidly increasing popularity.

A household electric fan is very economical and very refreshing. You can operate it for a very small amount. It blows away the depressing effect of hot weather. All the members of your family will be healthier and happier if you buy one for your home. Everything in electrical comfort for the household and office.

Market Still Declining. NEW YORK, May 1.—Reflecting bearish cables and a more favorable weather outlook than had been predicted yesterday, the cotton market here opened quite active, 3 to 6 points lower. During early trading scattered liquidation caused further loss of 3 to 4 point. Market closed easy.

LEBANON HIGH SCHOOL. The Hopewell boys played ball with Lebanon high school last Wednesday. The score being 17 to 6 in favor of Leba. c. n.

Quite a number of our people attended the closing exercises of the Cross Roads and Hopewell schools. A party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Welborn, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Smith, Mrs. D. J. M. Craig and Mrs. J. G. Duckworth made a trip to Clemson in behalf of the school.

The teachers and a number of pupils visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Broyles on April 25 and we had what we young folks call a grand dinner and a good time.

DRUGGISTS FEEL EFFECTS OF WAR

COLOGNE, May 1.—Because of the large number of druggists and pharmacists who have gone to war, the proprietors of stores in Cologne and its suburbs have decided to evolve an alternate Sunday holiday and night service so that their long hours of service may be cut down. Hereafter the various stores will take turns in shutting up at 2 o'clock on Sundays and at 9 o'clock on weekday evenings. When a store does close up at these hours, however, a sign will be left at the door indicating where a would-be-customer may find a drug-store open. The war has left the druggists who have remained in Cologne pushed to the limit.

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS. FOR BACKACHE, RHEUMATISM, GRAVEL.

A Striking Example of the Peculiar Advantages Secured Under the Policy Contract of

The Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., of Newark, N. J.

Tulsa, Okla., Mar. 16, 1909.

Mr. A. D. Young, Agent, Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co., Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Dear Sir: Please accept my sincere thanks for your company's check for $10,000 which is now received, just ten days after the papers were sent in. My husband took this insurance last summer, the policy being dated July 14, 1908, with premiums payable semi-annually. He paid the first semi-annual premium but did not pay the second which was due on January 14th of this year, and told me that the policy had lapsed. He died quite suddenly on March 1st, and I was greatly surprised to learn from you that by the non-forfeiture provisions of his policy it was kept in force sixty days after the second payment was due, and that as he had died within this time the policy was still in force and would be paid in full. This has now been done and I realize how very fortunate it was that Mr. Friend had this policy in the Mutual Benefit, the only company that I know anything about which would have paid anything under circumstances.

Very truly yours, JULIA A. FRIEND.

Mr. Friend's policy had lapsed for non-payment of the second half of the first year's premium, January 14, 1909. Under the non-forfeiture provision of his contract, however, the insurance was automatically extended for 60 days, to March 14. When Mr. Friend died therefore the claim was paid. As beneficiary, Mrs. Friend received only what was due her under the written contract, yet under the policy contracts of other companies she would not have received a cent. Avoid regrets by investigating the Mutual Benefit. The Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company is old, true and tried, and has earned the title

THE LEADING ANNUAL DIVIDEND COMPANY.
