The Lynching of Jackson.
 *The lynching of Willis Jackson at Honea Path last week adds another stain to the fair name of South Carolina. It cannot be justified upon any ground whatever. There was provocation for it, but it was not sufficient to justify the people who engaged in it to commit murder. The provocation was great, we admit; it was enough to stir Anglo-Saxon blood; the guilty culprit should have been punished, but with all this the people who killed him should have allowed their brains instead of their passions to control their acts.

There is not the slightest pretense or excuse, nor the most heinous crime that can be committed will warrant or justify the taking of human life by mob law.

Under our law one charged with the crime for which Jackson was lynched will most surely meet his speedy doom if caught. The legislature has made even the attempt or assault with intent to commit such a crime punishable with death unless the jury recommends to mercy. South Carolina is governed and controlled by the white people. Her judges and juries are white men, and they have the enforcement of the law committed to them. And in cases of this kind not one out of every hundred escape the penalty of the law. The legislature has also made the law such that the victim of such an outrage can give her testimony in private. They are no longer compelled to appear in the court room before the curious public gaze and detail the horrible occurrence. The law has thrown around them every safeguard and protection that is necessary to shield their timidity, good name and virtue; and there is no reason for them to allow their passions to control them.

Only last year a negro was hung in this county for entering the room of a white lady in the night and making an indecent proposition to her. Threats were made of lynching, but cooler heads and better judgment prevailed; and he it said to the praise of our people the law was allowed to deal with him, and he was legally known none of the men engaged in the awful tragedy at Honea Path last week, some that they were the best citizens of Anderson county, many of them perhaps members of the church and professing Christians. If so, how can they reconcile their church relations and professions with the terrible crime which they have committed? How can they relieve their consciences of this stain they have brought upon themselves? How can they reconcile their conduct with the teachings of God's word when he says, "Thou shalt not kill!" How can they longer claim to be Christians, if they ever claimed to be such, when their hands are stained with blood?

We need to control our passions. We need to have respect for the law. We need to teach our children, our friends and our neighbors to respect the law. There was never a time in all the past when we needed more than now men, true men, to preach and practice the precepts and examples of the Christ. Men, men, we appeal to you to allow reason to occupy her throne; let passion be crucified; let it tell you that you are the impulses of your own actions; let it tell you that you will be held accountable for what you do; let it tell you that you will be held accountable for what you do; let it tell you that you will be held accountable for what you do.

The Men Who Advertise.
 The attention of our readers is called to the advertisements in this paper. If you will watch our columns from week to week you will find many things to interest you and benefit you. Before you start to town look over the Sentinel and select what you want, then make your purchase.

The wideawake business men will advertise; it pays, and they know it. They are the ones who keep busy and their goods move. There is not a better medium in Pickens county to advertise in than The Pickens Sentinel. It goes into the homes of more than fifteen hundred people in this county, and we are constantly adding new names to our roll.

The money spent for advertising is the best investment the business man can make. A contract has been let to build a dormitory at Wofford College to be known as the Carlisle Memorial Hall, to cost $50,000.

The report of the Pension Commissioner at Washington for the year now ending shows that $157,325,160 have been paid from the public treasury in pensions.

Pickens county, according to the last census, had 19,992 white and 5,430 colored population. Five thousand of these ought to be readers of the Sentinel.

Justice John Marshall Harlan, of the Supreme Court of the United States, died in Washington City last Saturday. He was sick only a few days, and was considered one of the best constitutional lawyers of this country. His last words were, "Good-bye, I am sorry I kept you waiting so long."

That Greenwood is fond of being the meeting place of conventions is proven by the fact that last year she entertained the W. M. U. Convention; last week the Home Missionary societies of the Methodist church met there; Nov. 21st the U. D. Convention, and Dec. 1st the Baptist State Convention meets there.

The McNamara case now on for trial in Los Angeles, Cal., will be a picnic for lawyers. It is announced that the trial may last from six to nine months. One entire day last week was spent in discussing the eligibility of one juror and was adjourned over until the next day. It may take a month or more to secure a jury.

The Pickens Association.
 The Pickens Baptist Association met with the Nine Forks Church about 14 miles east of here last Wednesday, the 11th, and continued in session three days. The first day was rather threatening and the attendance of the delegates and visitors was not very large but the next day every church in the association was represented and the attendance of visitors very large.

The body was organized by the election of Hon. W. T. Bowen as Moderator, Mr. G. R. Mayfield as Clerk and Mr. R. T. Hallum Treasurer. The claims of Home Missions, Temperance and Sunday schools was considered the first day. The reports on these subjects showed an increase and more interest than for the previous year. The Sunday school interests was especially encouraging and steps were taken to organize a Sunday School Union to be held at some church every fifth Sunday and Saturday before. A committee was appointed to plan for these meetings and before adjournment it was decided to hold the first Union at Cross Roads church the next fifth Saturday and Sunday. The second day of the meeting was clear and bright and a large number was present. State Missions and the Laymen's Missionary Movement were the most important subjects considered, and they were both represented by Rev. W. E. Wilkins, the Laymen's Secretary, who charmed the people with his earnest appeals. These interests have a large place in the hearts of the people of the association, and they stand by them with devotion.

Foreign Missions was ably discussed by Rev. R. J. Williams of Greenville. The matter of most vital concern to the members of the association at present is their Anderson County. This county was organized on the last day and at an unseasonable hour under the report on education. This report was made by Mr. J. C. Garrett who presented the claims of the institution in an able manner. Pledges and cash to meet a pressing obligation was taken amounting to quite a nice sum.

The reports and discussions were all of a high order and showed an advance over the previous year. Some splendid sermons were delivered and listened to with rapt attention by Rev. C. A. Waters, Rev. E. T. Snuggs and others.

The visitors and delegates were generously and lavishly entertained. They did not expect less for the association met in one of the best communities in the county.

Among the visitors were Rev. and Mrs. E. T. Snuggs returned missionaries of China, Rev. L. N. Chappell, Easley, Rev. W. D. Hammett, Rev. R. J. Williams, Rev. W. E. Wilkins, Greenville and others.

The next meeting will be held with Secona church in October 1912.
