

The Pickens Sentinel

LOCAL BREVITIES

Some Things You Know and Some You Don't Know About Our Towns, County & People

Only three weeks till Christmas. Do your Christmas shopping early and avoid the rush.

Mrs. A. J. Boggs is spending this week with Mrs. Jones Fuller at Greenwood.

Mr. R. W. Gillespie, who lives near Pendleton, was in town last Monday on business.

The Pickens Baptist Sunday School is planning for a Christmas entertainment for the benefit of the school.

If you will read the advertisements in this paper you can easily find out where to do your Christmas shopping.

You do not want to neglect your Xmas trux. Read the Sentinel and you will know the best place to get them.

Married November 30th by Judge J. B. Newbery in his office, Miss Jennie Looper and Mr. Grover F. Freeman.

Rev. C. A. Waters, Capt. J. T. Taylor and others are attending the Baptist State Convention at Greenwood this week.

Mr. T. G. Johnston, of Central, was seen on the streets, here last Saturday and was a welcome visitor at the Sentinel office.

Rev. W. C. Seaborn and family, who have been living in this city for the past year, have moved back to their home near Praters Creech church.

The hard times and scarcity of money caused the Keowee Supply Company at this place to close its business. They made assignment last Friday for the benefit of their creditors.

Married at the residence of Mr. N. M. Looper November 30th, Miss Mary Duncan and Mr. Tillman Bradley, J. W. Looper, notary public officiating.

Rev. J. E. Foster spent the week-end with the members of his congregation at Mountain View last week. On Sunday he preached the funeral of Riley F. Porter, who recently met death by having his hand torn off in a gin.

Mr. C. E. Gray, proprietor of the Oconee Marble Works located at Westminster, S. C., has erected a very handsome monument at the grave of the late Mrs. Deborah Mauldin at the cemetery here.

Mr. George A. Lewis and wife left last week for Lincoln, Ga., where they will make their future home. He made arrangements, however, to keep himself informed about affairs in his old home county by subscribing for the Sentinel.

Six Mile has recently had an addition to its citizenship of which it may well be proud, Mr. W. R. Garrett and family. This staunch citizen has retired from farm life and has moved into this good town where he can be near his church and spend his remaining days in service and ease.

State Treasurer Jennings has requested all the railroads and corporations to pay their taxes before the 15th inst., on account of the depleted condition of the state treasury. It would likewise be appreciated if individuals and all other tax payers who have not paid would do the same. The government must be run and this is the only source of revenue.

Don't forget Buster Brown and Tige. They will be at the Big Store in Pickens on the 20th inst., and give a free performance. These are notorious characters, have been heard of and read about by people all over the country for many years and now you will have an opportunity to see them.

Mr. E. H. Craig, of Craig Bros., has just returned from a visit to Santa Claus, where he made arrangements for a large supply of Christmas goods, and these goods have begun to arrive in Pickens. As fast as they can be opened up they will be put on display and the people will have an opportunity of getting choice selections for Christmas. See their advertisement in this issue, which will give further information about the... Kings old Santa has... to the Big Store.

The attendance on the sales last Monday was very small.

Miss Mary Prince, of Easley, spent the week-end with Miss Ruth Parsons.

New subscribers are added to our list almost every day. Are you one of them?

There will be an afternoon singing at 2 o'clock next Sunday at Mountain Grove church.

Washington Clinkscapes and Christina Mansell, colored, were married by Judge Newbery last Sunday.

Judge Newbery issued a license to and performed the marriage ceremony for and thereby made husband and wife of Miss Idell Smith and Mr. Samuel Black at his office last Sunday.

Mr. Terrell Cisson died at his home in the Cross Roads section last Friday after an illness of about a week and his remains were interred in the cemetery the day following, the funeral being conducted by Rev. C. A. Waters.

Don't forget the play to be given in the school auditorium next Friday night by the very finest available amateurs in town. You will get your quarter's worth by seeing "Uncle Josh" and "Joe Gamin," to say nothing of the "Jude."

Capt. J. T. Taylor attended the funeral of the little son of late Mrs. J. W. Kendrick, at Taylors, last Sunday. The little one, who was four years old, was burned to death by having his nightgown catch on fire as he stood on the hearth.

Georgia is ahead of any of the other states on governors. She will have four in less than a year. Up to last June Joe Brown was governor and was succeeded by Hoke Smith, Smith resigned about a month ago to take his seat in the United States senate and was succeeded by John M. Slaton, president of the state senate, and he has ordered an election during January to elect another.

"The Scenes for a Day in the Union Depot" will be given under the auspices of the U. D. C. of Pickens, on Friday evening. Many characters of every-day life will be portrayed, and it is possible you might see some of them in the Pickens depot any day, but go out and see for yourself. Help the Daughters by the price of admission, and they in turn will help you to enjoy yourself, and also to build a monument in the town.

Last Monday was the last public Sale day of this year. Only two small tracts of land were sold. In the case of W. E. Findley vs. J. T. Rice, et al., 50 acres more or less on Cedar Creek was sold to T. D. Harris for $110. The other tract sold was the home place of the late Kinsey Gaston, colored, deceased, containing 3 acres and lying near town and was bid off by Hon. T. J. Mauldin for $420.

Last Wednesday afternoon the children of the second and third grades, escorted by their teacher, Miss Miller, and some other friends, went to the poorhouse and carried gifts to the inmates. That it really is more blessed to give than to receive was proven in this instance. The bright faces of the little ones beamed with joy as the donors bestowed their packages, and then lifted their sweet, childish voices in a glad Thanksgiving song. The hearts of all seemed to be happy—the visiting children, the afflicted ones and the kind young teacher who conceived and executed the idea.

Moore & Mauldin Co. It gives this paper great pleasure to speak of these interesting business men, for such they have proven themselves to be. There is no more popular firm in the county or one that is held in higher esteem by the citizens in general. A firm that can do business in the same community for a score of years must be of pure gold, and that's what you will find this firm made of. That fellow Moore—you know him—is a piece of ingenuity within himself. It is only a question of time when that little shack will place McCormack's works in the shade. While you watch Pickens grow keep an eye on Moore and his grain drill. A Pickens boy by birth, he has never deserted his native heath, but has cast his fortunes with those who have known him always. He is not "the noblest Roman of them all," but he will

More About That Railroad.

"Gleaner's" article on the railroad prospect up the Ooleny valley sounded like sweet music to the farmers along the proposed line, and many are hopeful that before many years hence this rich valley will be traversed by a railroad.

Nobody will doubt the importance of railways, and everybody who has studied the subject knows that transportation is a big item in the process of supply and demand.

But to the farmer the country road is the broad highway; it is his trunk-line in transporting his products from his acres to the market; but we must have one or the other. Which shall it be—the railway, or the good country road?

The railroad is important, and it is just as important that the county commissioners work the country roads.

We feel sure there is some movement on hand concerning the road up this valley, as the mud-holes have met and have been holding a continuous meeting for some time. Occasionally a weary traveler meets with them, but they so outnumber him that generally a loss of time to himself is all he will tell you about. We had supposed that the road commissioners had the power to break up these meetings, but so far they have not interfered.

So the farmers are hoping the railroad will come, and if it does we are sure the commissioners employed to build it will realize that it is just as important that it be as substantially built up this valley as near some town or city.

We are glad the railroad is coming. Good-bye to the road commissioners, if they are not already gone.

Attention, Confederate Veterans!

No Crosses of Honor will be conferred after November, 1912. Believing that there are many Veterans who have not yet obtained this valued trophy, the Pickens Chapter, U. D. C., have decided to give them one extra opportunity to do so.

Accordingly January 12, 1912, Gen. Lee's birthday, will be celebrated with appropriate exercises in the Pickens Graded School, after which the Crosses of Honor will be bestowed.

All applications must be in the hands of the undersigned on January 1st, 1912. Every Confederate Veteran who gives proof of his service in the war is entitled to a Cross.

The oldest lineal descendant of a deceased Veteran is entitled to a Cross upon proper application.

If a Veteran to whom a Cross has already been awarded should lose the same, he is entitled to a second Cross upon application.

The undersigned will cheerfully give all needed advice and suggestions to any Veteran or descendant applying for a Cross under the rules governing their every one entitled to this badge of honor to freely ask for advice and assistance.

The efforts and hopes of the Pickens Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, are earnestly directed towards the proper honoring of every true soldier of the Confederacy.

Let none entitled to this Cross pass this opportunity of securing it. Respectfully, Mrs. T. J. MAULDIN, Pres. P. C. U. D. C.
