C. will entertain them at dinner on court house grounds, after the exercises in the court house when Gen. M. L. Bonham, of Anderson, will make the address. In the afternoon an exhibition of fancy "stunts" will be given by the aeroplane which will be here for this occasion and the Confederate veterans will be able to observe some of the methods of modern warfare. Let every one make an effort to be present. A cordial welcome awaits you.

The public is urged to be present on June 3, and do honor to the Confederate veterans of Pickens county. There are many familiar faces that will be missed, and that is the better reason why we should cheer the remaining ones by our presence.

Don't forget to bring the "well-filled" basket and assist the local U. D. C. in giving the Confederate veterans a happy day June 3.

Come to Pickens on June 3 and take a ride in the airplane.

Automobiles will be provided in which the Confederate veterans will be carried to the court house after assembling on Lewis street. Each veteran is urged to come direct to Lewis street on arrival.

If you can't be present on June 3, send a contribution for the dinner.

If you are contemplating matrimony soon, a ride in the airship would be a novel wedding journey.

Gen. M. L. Bonham, of Anderson, who will address the Confederate veterans on June 3 needs no introduction to Pickens for he is well known here and counts his friends by his acquaintances.

LETTER FROM CATEECHEE.

Owing to cupid's good work the little matrimonial mill on the "Pike" has been kept pretty busy of late. The last happy couple to be sent out from the little mill on a matrimonial voyage was on last Sunday morning, the 22nd inst., when Mr. C. W. Nicholson and Miss Chester Johnson left that abode with a smile on their faces that foretold a happy young couple. The groom is of Liberty, and we venture the assertion that the return trip for the groom to his domicile will not seem half as long as it seemed coming. May all sorrows, trials and tribulations of the past be obliterated by the happiness of the future is the prayer of the officiating officer, J. Alonzo Brown.

Mr. "Bob" Bowen, of the Alice Mills, of Easley, has accepted a position as overseer of the weave room at Cateechee and will enter upon his new duties June 1st.

A "Lyric" theater has been opened at Cateechee. Mr. Luther Evans, of Six Mile, being the manager. If you want to attend a good show, come some Saturday night.

"Keener" Williams, a small son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Williams, of Cateechee, is very ill at this writing. Little hopes for his recovery at this writing.

The Cateechee school will close June 3rd and the patrons of the school are sorry to note the loss of its principal, Prof. Ray Childress, who has been elected as one of the teachers of the Six Mile Academy for another year. Cateechee's loss is Six Mile's gain.

Miss Jessie Alexander, one of the teachers in the Cateechee school, has been indisposed for the past few days. Miss Josie Garrett, of Cateechee, has been filling her place in the school room and makes quite an efficient teacher.

The closing exercises of the Norris high school took place last week. There were three graduates from this school this session, namely, James P. Garvin, Mr. Entekin and Miss Lillian Johnson, all of Norris.

Mr. J. M. Clardy, of Norris, has sold his farm near Camp Creek church to Mr. J. B. Bailey, superintendent of the Toccoa Mills, of Toccoa, Ga.

Owing to the continued damp, cold weather, cotton, corn and all kinds of farm stuff is very backward. Very little cotton has been thinned in this section and grass has a good start.

Court will convene in our county and we trust that all witnesses as well as court officials of every kind will not hesitate to do their full duty in helping to try to check the wave of crime. Human life has got to be too cheap, whiskey too plentiful and the law breaker let off too light. If a stop is not put to it in some way or other the time is coming when it will be a hard matter to get a peace officer. Look at the men who have lost their lives in the past few years trying to enforce the law, saying nothing about others who have been killed. How many of these law-breakers have been electrocuted? It is discouraging to our peace officers to see how light the law-breaker is let off when they have risked their lives and maybe stood by and saw their brother officer killed trying to enforce the law as they are sworn to do and then see the law-breaker let off so lightly. Remember, those officers are expected to protect our lives and property and without their assistance where would we be? Then if they put their lives at stake, let us stand by them as far as what is right. A boot legger wants no cheaper license to sell whiskey than the fines they are receiving. They can sell whiskey enough in one night to pay the fine at the price they say it is selling for. What do they care for a part of the sentence being suspended? They just laugh at that and say it is a cheap license. No wonder the lynch law is in force when the courts fail to do their duty. This is frank but it is a fact.

GOSNELL CASE FOR JUNE TERM COURT

Ballew and Wilson Also on the Docket.

But two murder cases are expected to come up for trial at the Court of General Sessions for Pickens county, which will convene Monday, June 6, according to a statement made Tuesday by Solicitor D. W. Smoak to a Greenville News man. These cases likely to be tried are the state against Jake Gosnell, charged with the murder in Greenville of Hendrix Rector, former sheriff; and against Wade Ballew and Robert Wilson, held for the death of W. C. Holcombe, former chief of police of Easley.

Solicitor Smoak was unable to make any definite statement as to when either of these cases is to come up, but unless something unknown at the present time occurs, the two cases are likely to be tried early in the term.

It is doubtful if two cases tried at one term of court in Pickens county have ever aroused as much interest as the two on the calendar for the June term of court.

The Gosnell case originated in Greenville county and was tried in Greenville, resulting in a mistrial. Gosnell is a member of the force of prohibition agents in the upper part of the state.

Hendrix Rector, who was twice elected sheriff of Greenville county, was a native of the Glassy mountain section, but was well known throughout the Piedmont section. He was killed in a garage in Greenville on July 4, 1919.

Solicitor Smoak will be assisted in the prosecution of Gosnell by the firm of Bonham & Price, while Gosnell's attorneys are Deann, Cothran and Wyehe.

Ballew and Wilson, who were spirited away to Spartanburg following the fatal shooting of the Easley chief of police, have retained Martin & Blythe of Greenville, it was announced Tuesday.

Judge T. J. Mauldin, of Pickens, will preside at the approaching term of court.

DEATH OF MRS. SOUTHERLAND.

The death angel visited the home of Mrs. J. D. Chastain at the Pickens mill, May 16, 1921, and took away Mrs. Anna Southerland, wife of John Southerland. She had been sick only a few days when the Saviour called her home, and she left the sweet assurance that she was going to a happier home. Her body was laid to rest the following day at Holly Springs Cemetery after funeral services conducted by Rev. M. E. Summey and Rev. C. R. Abercrombie.

She is asleep in Jesus. Peaceful sleep.

Where no one ever wakes to weep. One Who Loved Her.

MEETING AT TABERNACLE.

Interest in the meetings at the Tabernacle grows from day to day. The attendance has been very large from the beginning, being well filled at each of the three services Sunday. The gospel is being proclaimed in its fullness and power as it seldom has been preached in Pickens before. Dr. Montgomery has done evangelistic work for the past twenty years and is unsurpassed in his presentation of the doctrines of grace. The people hang upon his words as he makes plain and simple the way of salvation.

Dr. Montgomery is being assisted in the singing by Rev. F. O. Lamoireux, a pastor-evangelist and gospel singer of many years experience.

The services are being held each day at the Tabernacle at 3:30 p. m. and 8:00 p. m. The evangelists have also been visiting the school at the devotional hour.

In spite of the busy days many of the people are coming from their farms and from a distance to attend the meetings.
