The afternoon bridge club was delightfully entertained on Thursday by Mrs. F. E. Armstrong. The living room was beautifully decorated with autumn flowers. After the games a most delicious luncheon course was served. The highest score was made by Mrs. F. V. Clayton.

On last Friday morning as the section boss, Mr. S. T. Gibson, started out to his work on the Pickens railroad and as he was riding along near the cotton mill, a wheel came off the truck and caused him to fall. The truck tumbled off and fell on his leg, breaking the bone just below the knee. He sustained some other minor injuries also, but at this time he is resting as well as could be expected.

We usually hear that "The Teachers were entertained," but this time it was the teachers entertaining at our mill school house on last Friday afternoon and their guests were the mothers of the town. Some excellent talks were made by Supt. Jewell and Rev. F. S. Childress which were thoroughly enjoyed by all. The building had been most beautifully decorated in Halloween style and delightful refreshments were served to all present. It is a good thing for the parents and teachers to come together in this way.

The meetings at the Baptist church continue to grow in interest and the signs of a genuine revival are evident on every hand. There have been sixteen additions to date and many luke warm christians rededicated their lives. The meeting will continue at least through Thursday night, and possibly longer. A special service is being planned for Thursday afternoon for the young people of the community and it is hoped that the school will turn out in a body. Dr. Granberry visited the school again Tuesday morning and extended an invitation to the whole school to the Thursday afternoon service especially. It is hoped that the parents and teachers will cooperate during these remaining days in bringing our young people and others under the influence of these great meetings.

Mrs. Ada Craig Alexander has a quantity of corn and fodder for sale.

DEATH OF MRS. J. B. NEWBERY.

On the last day of October, 1922, as the golden sunshine glistened among the bright colored foliage which enveloped the earth, betokening the death of the year, the sweet spirit of Mrs. Tirzah Burdine Newbery took its flight to the beautiful mansions above. She had passed her 82nd birthday and was ripe and ready when the Great Harvester came. Her body was always frail, but her bright, cheerful disposition was almost a wonder to all who knew her. A year ago last February, her husband was taken, but no murmur ever escaped her lips. Hers was the most beautiful of lives, so full of patience, mercy and kindness. She was the sixth child of Rev. Jno. and Charlotte Burdine and was born four miles north of Pickens. In 1860 she married J. B. Newbery. Went to Richmond in 1862 and nursed in a Confederate hospital during the remainder of the war. She had only thirty nieces and nephews.

The old home will miss her, the good friends will miss her, but most of all she will be missed by her only daughter, Miss Stella. It is to her our hearts go out in the deepest sympathy, and we can only say "Thy will be done."

MISS DAVIS' DEATH SADDENS LIBERTY.

Liberty, Oct. 27.—On Tuesday morning, October 24, as the sun rays were rising above the eastern hills, the spirit of Anna Mae Davis peacefully glided into the Great Beyond. She was some sixteen years of age, beloved and only daughter of Mr. E. E. Davis.

Anna Mae had been a sufferer for many weeks but she was cheerful and bore up bravely to the last, leaving a life that was a pronounced blessing upon those of her home and community. She is survived by her father and mother, E. E. and Annie Holder Davis and an elder brother, Arthur Davis, of Liberty.

The day following her death the funeral services were held at the First Baptist church, conducted by her pastor, Rev. C. F. Sims, interment being at Westview cemetery.

The high school, of which Miss Davis was a member attended in a body. The following lovely girls, arrayed in white, acted as honorary pallbearers: Misses Addie L. Davis, Carrie Lee Porter, Janie, Addie, Kate and Leander Holder. These carried the flowers which were quite beautiful. The active pall bearers were: Messrs. DeWitt and D. H. Davis, Ernest Porter, J. D. Geelola and Albert Holder all being first cousins of the deceased.

"Heaven hath our treasure now,
Earth the lonely casket keeps,
And the sunshine loves to linger,
Where our darling sleeps."

SECONA CHURCH

The pastor hopes that all members will come promptly on time next Sunday. We will have with us Mr. J. L. Walker, the very popular president of the Baptist Young Peoples Union of the Central church in Greenville. He promises to bring with him two car loads of his members. They will come to tell our young people about the good such a union would do in our church. As pastor of the church I want to say that we should prize very highly their coming. It will be some sacrifice on their part to come twenty miles and return that afternoon. I am sure that we have some as bright and promising young people in Secona church as can be found in any community, and we want them to have the best things that's going. The young people all over our State are taking front rank in all the good work of our denomination. Our parents should be deeply interested in this movement, for it offers to our boys and girls an opportunity of development that is found nowhere else in our churches. Let everybody come. There will be no admission fee at all. B. P. Mitchell.

THE SENTINEL'S SPECIAL SUBSCRIPTION OFFER.

The Sentinel's special subscription offer will positively close Saturday, November 4, after which the price of the paper will be $1.50 a year to all. The price of the paper will not be reduced again. This is fair notice to all, so don't wait until after November 4 and want the paper for less than regular price.

FROM CATEECHEE

On Sunday, Oct. 29th, about 2.30 p. m. at the residence of the officiating officer, Mr. C. G. Hall and Miss Julia Kelley were married. J. Alonzo Brown, N. P., at the throttle. The groom is a promising young farmer who has started out in life with a bright future and being a man of sound judgment readily saw a single man could never save what he made or be a useful citizen to his state and county, and realizing also that the first man God ever made had to have a help mate to help him eat the bread that he made by the sweat of his brow after being driven from the garden of Eden, he was entitled to a wife to help him save as well as to help eat the bread he made. We sincerely believe the groom has made a wise choice for knowing the parents of the bride as we do believe she has been taught to help as well as save. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Hall while his bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Kelley, of Central R2. Many congratulations.

Rev. W. D. Hammett of Easley, has been called to supply the Catechee Baptist church. As Sunday night, November 5th, at 7 p. m. will be his first appointment all members of the church as well as every one else who can are urgently requested to be present and let us give him a cordial reception. Brother Hammett is an earnest and faithful worker in the Lord's vineyard and with the prayers and presence of the christians we are expecting for the Lord to bless his work and give him souls for his hire.

We have a flourishing Sunday school at this church with Bro. Fred Garrett as Supt. Bro. Garrett has an able corps of teachers. Bro. W. W. Cobb, the Supt. of the mill, and his wife are great factors in our Sunday school as well as in the church. B

LIBERTY FARMERS TO SET ORCHARDS.

Liberty.—In this region, but a few miles distant from the Blue Ridge mountains, considerable interest has recently been shown in peach and apple orchards. From present reports several large orchards will be planted this fall according to J. C. Hunter, secretary of the Liberty Chamber of Commerce.

One of the largest orchards to be set out is that of 500 peach trees by J. F. Bannister, president of the Liberty bank. This place is located slightly more than a mile from town, on the main highway from Liberty to Easley. The high ground is considered to be well adapted as a site for an orchard and it is expected Mr. Bannister will make a success of his orchard.

Many farmers from this section have made recent trips to the peach belt about Cornelia, Georgia, with a view of witnessing first hand the methods that are being used in that section of the country. The information that has been obtained on these trips has caused many additional farmers to investigate the possibilities in the orchard business.

The Liberty Chamber of Commerce which has sought to assist the farmers in every practicable way, is cooperating with T. A. Bowen, county demonstration agent, in dispensing all possible information in regard to the planting of orchards.

Next Monday is expected to be the biggest sales day in Pickens in several years.

We have accounts of several birthday celebrations which will appear in next issue.

Mrs. M. T. Nash of Crawfordsville, Ga., is the attractive guest of Miss Mary Morris this week.

Married by Judge Christopher at his residence, October 29, Mrs. Sarah E. Ferguson of near Calhoun and Mr. J. M. Stone of the state of Kansas. Mr. Stone is 84 years of age, while his bride is 55.

Gin days, Tuesday and Friday after Nov. 4th at Mann's ginnyery. A. D. MANN.

KEITH-LEWIS

On last Wednesday, October 25th, 1922, the attractive home of Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Valley on Florence street seemed truly "The Home of Happiness," when about fifty guests assembled at high noon to witness the marriage of Miss Ella Holmes Lewis, youngest daughter of Mrs. Margaret Wilkinson Lewis, to Mr. Oscar C. Keith, both of Pickens. The guests, which included the immediate families of the bride and groom and a number of their most intimate friends were received at the door by Mrs. Sam B. Craig and Mrs. J. L. Valley, sisters of the bride, and ushered into the library where they were requested to register their names in the bride's book, presided over by Mrs. Ada C. Alexander. The spacious living room was indeed a scene of rare loveliness in its decorations of large white chrysanthemums, ferns and ivy. In one end of the room was an improvised altar of ferns on either side of which was placed, on white pedestals, entwined with ivy, a silver vase of large white chrysanthemums. On each end of the mantle were placed silver candelabra, containing white and green candles, all of which cast a mellow light over the darkened room. The cozy library was most inviting with vases of yellow cosmos entwined with stromboli, and mahogany candelsticks were used most effectively on the piano and mantle.

In each of these rooms an open fire lent cheerful warmth and softness of beauty to the occasion. The color scheme of yellow chrysanthemums, marigolds and ferns blended beautifully with the mellow candle light in the dining room where the numerous and lovely wedding presents were on display. The hall was also attractive in yellow cosmos and pot plants. Preceding the ceremony several appropriate piano selections were rendered by Miss Margaret Valley and Virginia Lewis. Promptly at the hour of twelve the bride and groom, unattended, entered the living room to the strains of Schubert's wedding march, played by Miss Virginia Lewis. Modestella's wedding march being used as a recessional, and played by Miss Margaret Valley. The beautiful and impressive ring ceremony was performed by Rev. H. A. Knox, pastor of the bride, assisted by Rev. F. T. Cox, pastor of the groom. After the ceremony an appetizing salad course with coffee was served by Misses Louise and Anne Grayley, Bertha Cantrell and Florence Stewart.

A quaint, white wedding bell, tied with white ribbon, and bearing the date in gold letters, was then pinned on each guest by Misses Margaret Valley and Virginia Lewis, as a souvenir of this happy occasion. The bride was lovely in a traveling suit of fawn colored cloth, embroidered in blue, with blending hat and accessories. She carried a beautiful bouquet of bride's roses and asparagus fern, tied with tulle. For a number of years, Mrs. Keith, as Miss Ella Lewis, has been the efficient stenographer for the law firm of Martin, Blythe, Craig and Keith, of Pickens. She is a noble young woman loved by scores of friends for her innate refinement and personal charm. Mr. Keith is a young lawyer of promise, and is a member of the firm of Martin, Blythe, Craig & Keith. He is a graduate of Carolina University and a christian gentleman, possessing many admirable traits of character. Friends throughout the state will be interested in the marriage of this young couple.

Out of town guests at the wedding were, Dr. and Mrs. Billy Craig, of Walhalla; Mr. Olin L. Craig, of Central; Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Sitton, Jr., of Pendleton; Mrs. W. H. Hughes, Mrs. Freda Berry and Master Billy Berry of Richland; Mrs. Inez Crump, of Greenville; Miss Elaine Keith of Clemson College; and Mrs. C. M. Grayley, Miss Louise and Anne Grayley of Pickens, R. F. D.

After receiving congratulations the happy bride and groom slipped away by auto to points of interest in North Carolina and upon their return, after the first of November, will be at home to their friends at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Valley in Pickens. N.

UNION MISSION, CHARLESTON, WEST VIRGINIA.

Lyell Rader, who has traveled over Europe, says this is the largest and best equipped mission in the world. It was our privilege to look in upon this mission Sunday morning, Oct. 1st, which is the anniversary of the opening of this mission eleven years ago by Pat B. Withrow, a man who had been saved from the lowest depths of sin and degradation four years before the opening of this mission. As we looked upon this unlearned man of God, together with his co-worker and happy converts, we were forced to exclaim in our hearts, "The day of miracles is not passed." The opening of the new one hundred thousand dollar building is a sight long to be remembered by the good people of Charleston, W. Va., and visitors. On the rostrum sat some of the most distinguished men in West Virginia, viz.: Mayor Hall, John Laing, Andy Thomas, Governor Morgan, John F. Callish, Col. E. Humphreys, W. D. Lewis and many other wealthy, consecrated men of God. This was Tuesday night. The music was led by K. E. Gooseman and wife from Ohio. I have heard many birds sing and peese quack, but this was the sweetest music from Gooseman and wife I ever heard. Then the quartet by the little children, "We thank you for all you have given us," inspired our souls beyond expression.

The address by Lyell Rader, from Chicago, one of the greatest chemists in the world, employed by one of the large corporations to travel and lecture on the Bible, was wonderful.

After these exercises, the beautiful and well furnished building with 120 beds, matrons' apartment, guest rooms, etc., was opened for inspection and hundreds of men and women passed through the four story building. After viewing the apartments we returned to the large play room for the children where many short addresses of commendation were made by prominent citizens of Charleston.

We cannot close this article without calling your attention to "Abney Park," a beautiful valley in the mountains five miles from the city of Charleston. Here is where Pat prayed to God for eighty acres of land. We saw the spot where he knelt, and instead of giving eighty, God gave him 800 acres. Nine buildings have already been erected. A beautiful spring, a natural gas well and coal jetting out of the hillsides are to be found in the park. Here Pat is raising chickens, guineas, hogs, honey and some vegetables to feed the natural man. Here is where the children roam and play on the mountain side and breathe God's pure air. In the large, commodious tabernacle meetings are held and souls saved.

Wonderful how God uses the weak things of this world to save lost men and women.

D. Weston Hiott.
E. C. Watson.
