This Paper is Given An Interesting Book

The editor of The People-Sentinel is indebted to Mrs. Sallie R. Ray, of Healing Springs, for a copy of an old book, "The Newspaper Press of Charleston, S. C.," which was printed in Charleston in 1872, the author being William L. King. It is "a chronological and biographical history, embracing a period of one hundred and forty year," and the author says that his object in writing the book was "solely to prevent local, historical facts from passing into oblivion, or becoming apocryphal."

While the book is of greater interest to followers of the Fourth Estate than perhaps any other class, it also contains many items of more or less general interest. For instance, Mr. King, in writing of Charleston's first newspaper, the South Carolina Gazette, gives the following brief description: "The Gazette was eleven and a half inches in length, seven inches wide, containing eight columns, two to a page. It was put in circulation on 'Saturday, January 8, 1731-2,' and was issued weekly from the 'sign of the table-clock, on the Bay, where advertisements are taken in.' The Gazette was supplied at three pounds (about $15) a year. Town subscribers were requested to send for their papers every Saturday, by 3 o'clock; papers for the country subscribers were kept at the office."

Contrast the Gazette at $15 a year with the average weekly paper of today at $1.50, delivered by mail to town and country subscribers alike and the great strides made in newspaper publishing can be appreciated. The editor thanks Mrs. Ray for her thoughtfulness and feels sure that the book will be read with much interest.

The People-Sentinel this week begins its visits to Mr. S. J. Gardner, who is a student at Furman University. He is preparing himself for the ministry and is a son of Mr. B. F. Gardner, of the Healing Springs section.

National Champion

Stephen M. Crother of Philadelphia, shooting 200 rounds a day, broke 400 pigeons without a miss, establishing a world record and winning the national championship at Vandalia, Pa. The former record was 256 without a miss.

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

by John Joseph Gaines, M. D.

The Stomach's Rest Hours

Nature's laws—which are really God's laws, are infallible in either reward for obedience or penalty for disregard.

Digestion is a wonderful process which acts independently of our will. In man, this most important chemical laboratory operates only in daytime, as is true in lower animals. Digestion ceases with the oncoming of night. Digestion "goes to bed early" in order that other important work may be carried on during sleeping hours. This is true of all animal creation. To try to awaken digestion in the night is a dangerous violation of both natural and divine law. The penalty is sure.

Man cannot maintain his strength without protein. These are animal and vegetable, and are taken as food. Until acted upon by man's digestive fluids, they are unfit to enter his circulation, and if absorbed undigested, are active poisons. And, most things swallowed are absorbed, whether digested or not. Fancy all the juices of a heavy six-o'clock dinner being thrust into the blood stream without proper digestion in the stomach! No wonder the victim is stupid, and without appetite next morning. No wonder the "no-breakfast" plan! The merciless, invisible foe in this chapter is THE FASHIONABLE SIX O'CLOCK DINNER! This defiance of natural law is building blood-pressure all over our land, hardening arteries, and producing all manner of liver and kidney diseases. Apoplexy—cerebral hemorrhage—the death certificate reads: Killing more men at fifty to sixty-five than cancer! Traced back to the six o'clock dinner in the vast majority of instances! Those who persist in this defiance of the laws of health are certainly reaping consequences. This sort of crime is never unpunished.

Your Birthday Is it this week

Sept. 27th—Oct. 3rd

If your birthday is this week, you are fascinating in personality, enthusiastic, impulsive and utterly unselfish, always showing the greatest kindness and consideration in both manner and speech. Your happy, amiable disposition wins for you many warm friends, and your success and advancement in life is likely to be all that could be desired.

Your intellectual and spiritual qualities are highly developed, and you are broadminded and liberal in your views. You love order and harmony above all things, and if your surroundings are inharmonious you suffer most acutely. Love of the beautiful in all things is very highly developed in your nature.

When you have faults they are pronounced. You are impatient, impulsive, and apt to form your opinions too quickly. You are egotistical, vain, proud, and place undue value upon the applause and approbation of the multitude. You cannot stand personal criticism, even when you know it is just.

Men born during these dates make excellent mathematicians, salesmen, buyers, and creators, and can easily fill any position of authority. The women make devoted wives and mothers; and excel in music, dramatic art, designing, and artistry.
