Missionary Society
Entertained at Olar
Olar, Oct. 11.—Wednesday afternoon, October 7, Mrs. G. B. Kearse entertained the Woman's Missionary society of the Ehrhardt Baptist church, at her lovely country home in the Kearse section, complimenting her sister, Miss Margaret Oswald of Allendale. The two rooms were thrown en suite and decorated with goldenrod and ferns, in which seven tables of progressive contests pertaining to the study of the Bible and missions were played. Mrs. G. N. Smith of Ehrhardt won the score prize, a box of candy, while the booby was cut by a few others. At the close of the contests iced punch with marshmallow cakes and wafers were served the color scheme of gold and white being carried out in the place cards, favors and refreshments. Mrs. Kearse was assisted in entertaining by her young daughters, Misses Gladys, Virginia and Helen Kearse. The invited guests of the afternoon were Misses Oswald and Pitts of Allendale and Mesdames B. and H. A. Kearse.
Outstanding among the many social affairs being given for Miss Mildred Cook, bride-elect, was the miscellaneous shower last Friday afternoon at which Mrs. C. F. Rizer was hostess. The living room and parlors were tastefully decorated in various colored flowers and potted plants. The bride's place was marked by a white chair with airy bow of tulle, from which hung a bow of cupids tied with ribbons. To the strains of a bridal chorus the bride-elect was escorted in by Miss Evelyn Hartzog and greeted with a shower of rice.

The contest written on heart shaped cards with answers containing the heart was enjoyed, in which Mrs. Archie Parker was the recipient of the first prize, a powder jar novelty while Mrs. George I. Odom received the consolation.
The guests were next favored with the song "Oh, Promise Me" by Mrs. Atticus H. Neeley. After which in jeans little Daisy Lucile Goodwin dressed as cupid driven by Mary Caroline Goodwin and Maxwell Hartzog, who on reaching the bride-to-be turned over the reins to her and lead the way into the dining room where she found on display an array of gorgeous lingerie, house linens and an assortment of lovely and useful gifts for the new home.
The hostess gift to the honor guest was a lovely suit of sheerest lingerie. The refreshments consisted of chicken salad on lettuce with pink rose stickups as favors, cheese straws, sandwiches, saltines and iced tea.
Instead of bribing a jury to disagree why not put a man and his wife on the jury.

Things You Should Know

Danger in 6 O'clock Dinners
In this letter, I would like to record some observations gleaned from many years of first-hand experience. Suppose I meet with one hundred men, all over eighty years of age, and find them without exception, capable, busy, and happy. What more natural thing, than to inquire how these men attained such magnificent power. They must have lived right, for penalties are sure if men live wrong. Here are the outstanding facts: They are all breakfast-eaters. Not one of them indulges in six-o'clock dinners! A gentleman of one hundred and one years, told me he never started the night on a full stomach—his warning was "he couldn't sleep after a full supper." A lady of ninety-two informed me that breakfast was her best meal, and, that the harder she worked, the less she ate at night. At my interview, she was alert, steady-nerved, keen of hearing, and looked a woman of fifty.
On the other hand, suppose I am consulted by a hundred men, aged from forty-five to sixty, all with dangerous symptoms and compelled to "lay off business." Every man with high blood-pressure, many with hopelessly damaged kidneys, some with paralysis, most of them city dwellers, all of them overweight, all of them stricken down "in the harness." Dietary about like this: A hurried cup of coffee and a splash of cereal for breakfast ere the car for the office; a busy forenoon, and lunch down-town; a "hot dog" or a pie-counter abomination; a heavy afternoon's mental toil; a dinner beyond computation in all that the land affords. To bed at midnight, or later—up at nine o'clock next morning,—and repeat. These men never reach eighty. We may draw our own conclusions.
Next week—Tubercular germs are not inherited.

Employer:—(to mother who has brought her son in answer to ad.) "Is the boy absolutely honest?"
Mother, (with knowing smile), "Oh, absolutely honest, but of course, he knows that business is business."

Your Birthday
Is it this week?
October 11-17
If your birthday is this week, you are very fond of luxury, beauty, and physical comforts. You love excitement and are irresistibly attracted toward the busiest throng. You are competent and level-headed, extremely conscientious in the performance of your duties.
You readily acquire knowledge, and are a natural leader of mankind, holding your power over your fellow men by sheer force of unassailable right. Your great love for humanity makes you very approachable—and regardless of your position in life, you are never too busy to hear and sympathize with other people's troubles.
Persons born under these dates are inclined to be very sensitive, permitting trifling affairs to cause them deep distress. Very easily hurt, they often imagine that they are not valued at their true worth. They are nervous and excitable, and at such times, blame all who may be around them for their nervous state.
Women born under these dates are very domestic. They are also fine librarians, teachers, music instructors, and actresses. The men are very shrewd—and are excellent business men—successful in any undertaking. They also make fine lawyers, judges, interpreters, and
