KILLING COTTON.

IN 1950, NO MORE OIL? CONDENSED KNOWLEDGE.
A ranchman's wife in Colorado killed 140 rattlesnakes with a club, fighting the reptiles for two hours to save the life of her two-year-old child.

Women fear snakes as they do rats. Evolutionist gentlemen will tell you that when our ancestors lived up in a tree the snakes would come out along the limb and seize the woman's sleeping baby.

When they lived in caves the danger was cave rats that would eat the child in sleep. That made women hate rats and snakes.

But for the sake of children, women overcome all fear. That woman on a lonely ranch killing 140 rattlesnakes with a club is a picture of primitive life.

Cotton growers are discouraged, and their complaints are just, against a government helping with its reports to put down cotton prices.

Governmental crop reports announcing gigantic production do MORE than give information to buyers.

The government announces that so many million bales more than usual will be offered for sale. That is equivalent to saying, "Don't be in a hurry to buy. You will get it cheaper later on."

The government doesn't print such reports concerning the steel business, oil business, or other business. Why is it necessary to broadcast to the world, at public expense, reports of which the results is to injure American cotton growers?

Sir Richard Redmayne, who understands oil, says that the world's supply will be exhausted in one hundred years, and the supply of the United States in twenty-five years. That is largely guesswork, of course. Nobody knows how much oil is hidden underground, in the lands along the Pacific, up in the Arctic, in Mexico and elsewhere.

Don't let Sir Richard's predictions hurry you into buying poor oil stocks in any case. The work of harnessing the tides, already begun in England and in Maine, and later direct use of the power of the sun will make power cheaper than it ever was.

Some Edison of the future will invent an electric battery, light in weight, carrying power sufficient to drive an automobile or an airplane across the continent.

Such a discovery, if made now, would make oil from the ground as unimportant in power production as whale oil now in the production of light.

Since Yale University started 224 years ago, books in the library have doubled in number every twenty years. The total now is 1,390,000, and every year 50,000 books are added, others being put in storage to make room.

This proves that organization and condensation are lacking in education. Buckle is said to have read 60,000 books. Voltaire apologized for his "small" library of 6,000 volumes, each with notes in Voltaire's fine handwriting. Catherine of Russia bought the library, and everything else in Voltaire's house.

What is needed is not an impossible library of 1,390,000 books, but rather 100 essential books, boiled down into ten volumes, with an education in those ten volumes. The thing could be done.

Weak In Back and Sides

"Before the birth of my little girl," says Mrs. Lena Stancell, of R. F. D. 2, Matthews, Mo., "I was so weak in my back and sides I could not go about. I was too weak to stand up or do any work. I felt like my back was coming in two. I lost weight. I didn't eat anything much and was so restless I couldn't sleep nights. My mother used to take so I sent to get it. I improved after my first bottle. Cardui is certainly a great help for nervousness and weak back. I took six bottles of Cardui and by then I was well and strong, just did fine from then on. Cardui helped me so much.

Thousands of weak, suffering women have taken Cardui, knowing that it had helped their mothers or their friends, and soon gained strength and got rid of their pains. Cardui should do you a lot of good.

CAPT. SIGG, OF WINSTON SALEM, PRAISES KARNAK

"It's Fine—It Beats Anything I Ever Saw—And A Man Don't Have To Be Sick To Be Benefited By It," Says Prominent Man.

"I feel that one cannot invest a few dollars to better advantage than in taking a few bottles of Karnak," declares Capt. John J. Sigg, Superintendent of the Southern Public Utilities Co., and prominent citizen of Winston-Salem, N. C., residing at 205 N. Main St. "I have found that when a man reaches my age of sixty-three he generally feels the need of something to keep up his vim, vigor and vitality, and to ward off a general run-down condition into which he might otherwise fall. "It has been my custom for several years to take a bottle or two of some good tonic for this purpose, and I do not hesitate to say that I have never felt so much good from various other tonics I have ever taken as I have from this new medicine, Karnak. "In a very short time it just seemed to give me a new appetite, made my food taste good to me, and built me up in strength and energy all over. It's fine—beats anything I ever saw—and I don't hesitate to recommend it to anybody." Karnak is sold in Barnwell exclusively by Mace & Deason; and by the leading druggist in every town.
