Kiddies Of Barnwell County Tell Their Wants

A RARE RELIC GIVEN MUSEUM

BARNWELL COUNTY MAN MAKES GIFT OF VALUE

Soldier's Cap Worn in Revolution and Now Valued at $3,000 is Presented by H. B. Cave.

A relic of the Revolutionary War—a soldier's cap which is now valued at more than $3,000—has been presented to the Charleston Museum by Mr. Henry B. Cave, of Kline. The gift was made through Congressman Thomas S. McMillan, himself a native of old Barnwell County, who, in sending The People-Sentinel an account of the donation from the Charleston Evening Post of December 2nd, writes as follows:

"I am enclosing herewith copy of the Charleston Evening Post, under date of December 2nd, 1925, which carried a story of an old Revolutionary War cap worn by John Cave, of Barnwell County. This story, I am sure, will be of great interest to a number of the readers of your good paper, and I have been requested to forward it to you for publication in one of our early issues."

The article is as follows:
Worn in the stirring times of 1776 by John Cave, great-great grandfather of Congressman Thomas S. McMillan, and in spite of its age still in fair condition, a cap, similar to those worn in the Revolution by men under the command of General Francis Marion, has been contributed to the Charleston Museum through Mr. McMillan by Henry B. Cave, of Barnwell County.

The cap is of blue broadcloth of a truncated-cone shape and has on the front a brass palmetto tree under which are the figures 1776 and to each side of which are small elliptical "seals," similar to the present seal of the State. The seal to the left side of the tree bears the inscription "Dum Spiro, Spero Spes," which freely translated means "While I breathe I hope," and the seal to the other side has the inscription "Parati Opibusque Animis," or freely translated, "Ready in Spirit and in Deed." The latter inscription is also stamped on the small brass buttons, one of which is to each side of the cap and fastened on the small black "belt" which is directly over the wide hard card board rim or visor.

Cap Purchased Here.
The cap was purchased by John Cave from Walter Steel, 231 King St., Charleston, the name of this dealer being on a label in the crown.

At his death it was given to his son, Ben Cave, the grandfather of Henry B. Cave, the Confederate Veteran. Upon the death of Ben Cave, the cap passed into the possession of his daughter, Elizabeth Cave, who married J. W. Wilson and lived near Kline, Barnwell County. A few years before her death she gave it to Henry B. Cave, her nephew. Henry B. Cave has had the cap in his possession since 1882. The latter was born March 18, 1844, and served three years and three months in the War Between the States in C. J. Colcock's regiment and also with Lamar's Seige Artillery. He is an uncle of Congressman McMillan and is now living near Kline, Barnwell County.

The cap was worn by John Cave, great grandfather of H. B. Cave, Confederate Veteran, and great, great grandfather of Congressman McMillan.

John Cave was the son of Peter Cave an immigrant to the States who settled at Charlottesville, Va., before the Revolution. John Cave when a young man came to Barnwell County of this State some 18 years before the Revolution. He entered the war when hostilities began and served mostly in and around Charleston and between this city and Savannah.

His commander-in-chief was General Marion and the colonel of his regiment was Bill Hardin of Barnwell County, who is buried now on the bank of the Salkehatchie River about three miles from the Barnwell Court House. His captain was Tarlton Brown, also of Barnwell and his, Cave's brother-in-law. Tarlton Brown also came originally from Charlotte-

Many Letters Addressed to Dear Old Santa Claus

This issue of The People-Sentinel contains a large number of letters to Santa Claus from the children of Barnwell County and it is to be hoped that there will be no aches of disappointment in childish hearts on Christmas morning because of empty stockings—the greatest tragedy of childhood. Several columns were required for publication of the letters, necessitating the printing of extra pages in order not to curtail the usual amount of news items. Therefore, this issue of the paper is dedicated to those to whom Santa Claus is a reality. A few letters will be found on this page and the others on page one of Section Two.

Olar, S. C. Dec. 21-25—Dear Santa Claus—Please bring me a Bicycle a piano and a doll carriage and a box of stationary and some fruit candy and nuts this is all I am asking for and please bring all of my friends something nice. With love to you—Merdrew Sanders.

ville, and settled after the war at Boiling Springs in Barnwell County.

Congressman McMillan prevailed upon his uncle to give the cap to the local museum as a permanent relic of the Revolutionary war and on account of the sentimental claim that Charleston had on it, in that the cap was bought here and was worn by a soldier of the Revolution in and around the city.

It is understood that the cap is valued at more than $3,000 and that this price had been offered for it quite recently and refused.

The cap is older than the hat worn by General Andrew Pickens and now in the Charleston Museum, it is understood, and it will be preserved as a priceless relic at the local institution.

colse am waiting for you to come—Manning and Hubert Sanders.

Olar, S. C., Dec. 21-25—Dear Santa Claus—Will write and tell you what I want you to bring me a Trycicle a doll carriage and a little chair and fruit candy and fire crackers and please bring the other little children something too. Will close with love—Allie Blanch Sanders.

Blackville S. C.—Dear Santa—We will tell you what we want for Christmas I Katherin want a tea set and some fruit, I McLaurin want a cap pistol, and some fire crackers and some fruit. Bring our little sisters Jene Lou, Vera and Margie a tea set apiece and some fruit. guess we had better close and give some one else chance to ask for something. Lovingly—Katherine and McLaurin Owens.

W. D. Harley Injured While Unloading Car

Mr. W. D. Harley, local Hudson-Essex dealer, was painfully injured one day last week while unloading a shipment of those very popular automobiles. He was adjusting the oil pump on one of the cars when his hand slipped, the knuckle on the forefinger of his right hand being badly cut. Mr. Harley suffered intensely for two or three days, but the wound members is healing nicely and his friends hope that no permanent injury will result.

Social and Personal News from Ellenton

Ellenton, Dec. 19.—L. M. Peebles will leave Saturday to spend the holidays with relatives in Camden.

The Ellenton school will have its Christmas exercises Friday evening. At this time a play will be given by the high school and a community tree will be featured.

The following teachers will spend the holidays with their parents: Miss Blanche Grant at Springfield, Miss Olivia Rook at Charleston, Miss Gladys Owens at North Augusta.

The Methodist bazaar which was held last week was quite a success. In addition to the fancy work that was on display, a most enjoyable supper of chicken and 'cue was served.

The following young people from their respective colleges are expected home next week for the holidays: Miss Betty McLeod, Georgia State Normal; W. B. Turner, Charles Turner, Albert Weathersbee, Clemson; Sumter Cassels, Furman University. Miss Helen Dunbar of Columbia is on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dunbar.

The Rev. R. H. McKinnon and Mrs. McKinnon have returned from Columbia where they were called on account of the recent illness of Mr. McKinnon's mother.

Friends are glad to hear that Jeff Stokes is recuperating after a severe case of influenza.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fanning have moved into their attractive new bungalow on Main Street.

Barnwell Wins from Dunbarton.

The Barnwell High School girls' basketball team continued its victorious career by defeating the Dunbarton High School team 49 to 29, at Dunbarton last Friday, in one of the prettiest basketball games ever played in Barnwell County. The game was very fast and cleanly fought. It was marked throughout by a wonderful spirit of good clean sportsman-

TEACHERS MET HERE SATURDAY

FIFTY TEACHERS ATTEND IN SPITE OF WEATHER.

Dr. Harry Clark, of Furman University, Was the Principal Speaker of the Occasion.

In spite of the inclement weather and the fact that quite a number of the schools had closed last Friday for the Christmas holidays, about fifty teachers met at the local high school building Saturday morning. All of the Study Center instructors, including Supt. Fowler, of Barnwell, Supt. Self, of Williston, Mrs. G. C. High, of Denmark, and Miss Agnes McMaster of Columbia, were in attendance and the Study Center classes met from ten o'clock to 1 o'clock P. M. Dr. Harry Clark, who is in charge of the Chair of Education at Furman University, conducted the class in Education for Supt. Fowler. At 1 o'clock the teachers assembled in the auditorium for the teachers meeting. Devotional exercises were conducted by President C. H. Fowler. Music, both instrumental and vocal, was presented. "Bess and Her Little Teddy Bear," as sung and illustrated by Clara Sue Matthews, a pupil of the Barnwell school, accompanied by Mrs. S. B. Moseley, won the praise of the audience. Dr. Clark was the speaker and for an hour addressed the teachers upon the subject of "The Economic Value of Education." It was Dr. Clark's second appearance before the teachers this session and they hope for another chance to hear him. The seasonable dinner, with the Christmas decorations, served by the ladies of the Presbyterian Church was most delicious and enjoyable and merited the many favorable comments.

Betsy Starr Chapter Entertained at Olar

Olar, Dec. 19.—Mrs. C. P. Chewning was hostess to the Betsy Starr chapter, U. D. C., Thursday afternoon. The reception room and parlor were decorated with potted plants, holly and Christmas bells, suggestive of the approaching holiday season. Meeting was called to order by the vice president, Mrs. C. P. Chewning. The regular routine of business was disposed of. It was unanimously voted to buy a bond in behalf of the tuberculosis relief fund. A committee was appointed to send cards of Christmas cheer to our veterans and widows of veterans. The meeting was turned over to the historian. The very interesting program was as follows: Piano solo, Vivienne Yates; talk, "The Life of the Author of the Thirteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States," Miss Ellzey; chorus, "To Our U. D. C.," by members; reading, "U. D. C. Creed," Mrs. W. L. Brannon; reading, "Excerpts of Haynes' Speech on South Carolina's Devotion to the Union," Mrs. G. V. Kearse. The hostess served a salad course with cocoa mints in Christmas colors. She was assisted in serving by Mesdames L. A. Hartzog and B. P. Hartzog and Paul Cook.

Car Stolen in Augusta.

Mr. R. R. Moore, of Snelling, had the misfortune to lose his new Ford touring car by theft while in Augusta one day last week. Unfortunately Mr. Moore had no theft insurance. The loss was reported to the police, but to date nothing has been heard from the car.

ship on the part of both teams and of fine courtesy from each team for the other team and each player for her opponent. To mention stars would simply be to give a list of the players on each team. Both teams were fast and showed fine teamwork. Barnwell had and getting it down the field toward their goal and the Dunbarton team displayed a very fine brand of basketball and this team will bear watching as it is due to spring some surprises and give any teams they play an interesting half-hour.

Contestants Are Neck And Neck in Big Race for Autos

The bars are up! The truck is clear!! The People-Sentinel Auto Subscription Campaign is getting under way now and the race for the prizes headed by that marvelous Essex Coach is on in earnest. But a few subscriptions separate the high and low contestants. In this issue will be found the standing of the candidates up to Wednesday morning.

Some of those who took but little interest in the race at the start have at the repeated urging of friends, decided to stay in and make a fight for it.

Among the late starters are Miss Beatrice Hiers, of Dunbarton; Mrs. Paul Sanders and Miss Agnes Mobley, of Olar, who, at this writing bid fair to give the others a real race. Other entrants whose recent returns at The People-Sentinel office more than indicate that they are out to make the others hustle are Mrs. Augusta Long, Miss Annie Moody, Mrs. W. H. Manning and Mrs. John W. Ider.

It is a close race between several candidates for leadership for the Essex Coach with Miss Frankie Harley claiming high honors by a very small margin.

It is a neck and neck race, with nothing but a few hours' work standing between first and last place. Because a candidate is low in the published list today doesn't mean that they cannot be high tomorrow. The vote to the present time places the candidates very close together. As a matter of fact, the least slack of the leaders would allow them to be overtaken and passed.

The crucial test is now at hand. If you ever intend doing anything big in this race, DO IT NOW! Instead of being second, third, fourth or fifth, get AT THE TOP AND STAY THERE.

Now is the time to secure an insurmountable reserve vote. Now is the time to make reasonably sure of the prize you most desire.

Never again after, Saturday night, January 2nd, will it be possible to secure the full voting power on subscriptions. This is final and fair warning. To hold back now and to rely on "promises" to subscribe at a later date simply means that you will have to take less votes on such orders. We are putting it up to you squarely. If you entertain any desire whatever of being declared winner of the Essex Coach, one of the Fords, or any of the other prizes to be awarded, do not fail to turn in every available subscription of your account before the close of the "First Period." Not to do so, simply means that you will have to re-double your efforts during the remainder of the race to make up for lost ground. A few long term subscriptions NOW, while they count most, may be the very ones needed to "clinch" the Essex Coach and they can hardly help winning one of the Ford touring cars. The "first period" will end with the closing of The People-Sentinel office

New Cue Champ

Here is Edward Horemans, Belgian cue sensation whose skill wrested the World's Billiard Crown from the brow of young Jake Shaeffer. This is the same crown that Willie Hoppe held for so many years. Who's next?

Saturday night, January 2nd. The time is set for 9:00 p. m., but should any candidate be unable to report in full by that hour the time will be extended sufficiently to meet the requirements.

Candidates are requested to come to the office as early in the evening as possible. They will be waited on in order first come, first served.

The People-Sentinel office will be closed as soon as all candidates have reported in full and with its closing the "first period" of the Campaign ends and the BIG VOTES will be over.

Miss Frankie Harley Leads for the Marvelous Essex Coach

With the last returns to be tabulated before the paper went to press Miss Frankie Harley, of Barnwell, was leading the entire field in the race for that BEAUTIFUL ESSEX COACH, which is the GRAND CAPITAL PRIZE in The People-Sentinel Campaign. Mrs. Jeff Black, of Blackville, now holds first place in District No. Two for the Ford car, crowding Miss Frankie Harley very closely for the upper berth.

The standing of the candidates is as follows:

Barnwell Man's Auto Turned Over Sunday

Mr. Terie Richardson, his children, and Messrs. Solomon Blatt and H. W. Sanders had a narrow escape from serious injury Sunday morning when the former's sedan turned over on the Barnwell-Allendale highway about three miles South of this city. Mr. Richardson was driving very slowly at the time but the car became unmanageable because of the slippery condition of the road, caused by the recent rains. The occupants of the machine escaped unhurt with the exception of Mr. Sanders, who received a few bruises. The car was slightly damaged.

Paving Improves Streets.

Property owners on Burr Street have greatly improved the appearance of their property by the laying of concrete sidewalks, the work being done by the Kennedy Construction Co., which concern had the contract for building the concrete bridge over the Salkehatchie River, on the Barnwell-Dunbarton highway. Sidewalks have been laid on the West side of the street from Mr. Terie Richardson's corner to Mr. S. B. Moseley's corner, and on the opposite side of the street from Vickery's Garage to the corner of Molair's Hardware Store. It is understood that the town pays one-third of the cost of this improvement and if there are others who desire sidewalks in front of their property they will do well to communicate with the local authorities.
