

THE PEOPLE

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1877.

LOCAL MISCELLANY.

AN ERROR.—By a misake of our composer our outside page is dated the 30th instead of the 29th of November.

THE ELLERTON TRIALS.—We learn from the News and Courier that these trials will not come off during the term of court now in session in Columbia.

We had the pleasure of seeing our old friend Bill Moody, who was on a visit to Barnwell during the fair. Bill is looking well and will be glad to see all the Barnwell boys at Christie & Thayer's clothing store, Augusta, Ga.

The following are the latest Charleston cotton quotations:

PERSONAL.—Comptroller-General Hagood paid Barnwell a visit during the Fair, and enjoyed the pleasure of meeting hundreds of his old friends.
The General is looking remarkably well, and his popularity is greater than ever. On Thursday he undertook to address a crowd of between five and six hundred people, who were so demonstrative in their welcome to him that he had to submit to repeated interruptions in the shape of hearty, welcoming cheers—the evidence of the people's estimate of our gallant leader in the last campaign. We hope to see General Hazard our next Governor.

Fair week.

On Wednesday last, 21st inst., our county fair opened with the elements fighting against its success. Early morning brought the rain and it continued pitilessly almost without intermission during the day. Notwithstanding this adverse circumstance the cavalry branch of our militia, which had assembled for inspection, turned out in handsome style and encouraging numbers. The weather prevented any attendance on the fair, and debarred our fair friends from the pleasure of witnessing the inspection of the mounted regiments, but the men who had the heart to carry Hampton through the last soul-stirring campaign and win for their home the proud distinction of being the "banner country" were not to be diverted from their patriotic purpose by any description of weather. Hence, when Gen. Moise rode on the parade ground he found a flattering full quota of citizen-soldiers had responded to his call. The inspection itself disclosed about 500 men well mounted, uniformed and drilled, and of course well officered.

The next day (Thursday) opened with bright promises for a favorable occasion for the infantry inspection ; but the hour arrived—perhaps for excess of joy over this exhibition of the triumph of the cause of democracy —the heavens again put on robes of mourning, followed intermittently by drenching tears. The occasional breaks in the clouds, however, induced a number of ladies to go out, and the result was that the parade ground was thickly dotted with buggies and carriages freighted with the richest treasures our land affords. Most of the companies were handsomely uniformed and presented a gallant appearance, and all of them manifested the most perfect and soldierly obedience to their officers. Upon the whole the view of our militia must have been most gratifying to Gen. Moise, as it was certainly a surprise and a most inspiring pleasure to us.

From the parade ground on Thursday every one adjourned to the grounds of the Agricultural and Mechanical Association, there to look upon the evidences of painstaking and successful efforts in the various departments of the farmer, the housewife, the artisan, etc. The number and variety of specimens were not great, but the evidences of, respectively, care, culture, taste and the distinguished talent were rather remarkable. We are extremely sorry that our limited space denies us the pleasure of mentioning in detail and at length the articles on exhibition ; but we must content ourselves with expressing the hope that all who exhibited this year will not fail to continue to make their valuable contributions at every successive fair, for we saw nothing that was unworthy, and all worthy work bears its proper and wholesome fruit somewhere at some time and is never lost. The premium given is a mere bagatelle, when compared with the pleasure and profit these worthy exhibitions bestow upon the association and those who desire to further the exalted objects it has in view. For want of space we will not be able to publish a list of the premiums awarded this next week.

As was previously announced in these columns the powerful social drama, "Self," was rendered on Wednesday evening in part, and on Thursday evening in full, at the Patterson House Hall. On the first evening the play had progressed about half way when a disturbance arose in the audience, which abruptly terminated the performance for the evening. While this was at once a most unfortunate, provoking and unpardonable breach of propriety, we are constrained to believe that it was no sooner committed than it was keenly felt and deeply do-

THE WORLD

FOR

1878.

Since the change in its proprietorship which took place May 1, 1876, the World has become the brightest, liveliest, most soldierly and popular journal in the metropolis. It is an enterprising, interesting, wit, decent, fair and truthful. It does wrong willingly to no man, no sex, no interior, no party. It treats all subjects of importance earnestly and with respect. It seeks to make itself an agreeable companion as well as a faithful guide and teacher. The World regards the recent victories of the party with which it by preference acts not as mere partisan triumphs gained by partisan conveniences, but as the unmistakable expression of a deep and genuine popular demand for new methods in government; for a thorough purification of the public service and for a rectification of the aims of our party organization. Wherever and whenever the Democratic party proves itself loyal to this popular demand the World will resolutely uphold it; wherever and whenever it falls short of or attempts to counteract this popular demand the World will as resolutely oppose and denounce it. In a word, the World believes the Democratic party to exist for the good of the public service. It does not believe the public service to exist for the good of the Democratic party.
