In Bankruptcy—T. W. Clawson, Assignee.

Now that the Presidential election is about to be settled some of our subscribers can pay their dues.

The United States Senate has accepted the report of the Commission giving Florida to Hayes.

Religious Services.—To morrow being Ash Wednesday, religious services will be held in the Episcopal Church in this place at 12 o'clock m.

A merchant states that of thirteen thousand dollars advanced by him to farmers in Feasterville he lost only fifty dollars.

Richardson, the local of the Columbia Register, parts his hair wide in the middle and is the best paragraphist in the State. Its a good time to raise his salary.

At the recent term of court in Lancaster but one person was convicted, a poor colored man, who being hungry in the night sought food, and in the dark mistook his neighbor's smoke house for his own.

The pleasant weather of the past fortnight has given an impetus to agriculture, and farmers are preparing their lands. It is hardly necessary to speak of the necesity for planting grain.

Judge Mackey still holds that Hayes will be the next president; and declares that one of his first acts will be a recognition of Hampton. Judge Mackey thinks also that a committee of thirty two, one from each county, should be sent to Washington to present the claims of the Constitutional Government. Not a bad idea.

Senator Beverly Nash evinces symptoms of conversion The colored orphan Asylum in Columbia of which he is a manager was on the verge of starvation. Chamberlain's pockets were empty. The spider had built her web in Cardoza's safe and the Chamberlain "treasurers" were not returning any taxes. Nash addressed a letter to Governor Hampton soliciting aid, and received a thousand dollars. All the poor and friendless will have to look to Hampton.

A Handsome Picture.—"Wade Hampton, Governor of South Carolina," is the subject of a very handsome engraving, almost life-size, just published by Messrs. Walker, Evans & Cogswell, Charleston, S. C. The picture is the first product, on so large a scale, of a new and secret process based on photography, and is a very fine likeness of the Governor. We feel sure it will find a large sale all over the State. Mr. P. C. Zylstra, well known here as a resident of Winnsboro during the war, is the canvassing agent for the counties of Chester and Fairfield. We commend him, and the enterprise he represents, to the liberal patronage of the people of both counties.

Mr. James Q. Davis Special Agent, has visited the western portion of the county. He met a hearty reception everywhere and up to date had collected over two thousand dollars. The southern, eastern and northern portions will be visited this week. We are pleased to see the support tendered to Hampton by the people; showing that Fairfield is abreast with her sister counties. Chamberlain's pretended levy is a nullity. Judge Carpenter, even, while deciding that Chamberlain holds over, also declared the Mackey House illegal, as he was bound to do, in deference to the supreme court. The court cannot go back upon its own decision. The levy passed by the Mackey House is not worth the paper it is printed on, and the Supreme Court is bound to protect any person resisting execution under it. The only possible chance for Chamberlain is a decision that he holds over because there was no legal Legislature to declare a new election. An illegal Legislature cannot pass a legal tax-bill. No act is valid unless passed by the Constitutional House; and the contribution asked by Hampton will be credited in any bill originating in that body.

An Interesting Landmark.

The masons of Monticello are erecting a new two story building, the upper story to be used for the lodge, and the lower for a store. This building is located on the site originally occupied by the old "Jeffersonian Institute," which was destroyed by fire during Sherman's raid. The land for this institution was donated by Mr. Philip P. Pearson, and the building was erected in 1801. Thomas Jefferson gave a hundred dollars to its construction, and the town of Monticello was thereupon named for his private residence near Charlottesville, Virginia. The School enjoyed some celebrity in the early days of the county. Hon. Chancellor Harper is said to have pursued his studies under the first principal, the Rev. John Rogers, walking six miles every day. The late ex-Governor Means and other leading citizens of the county also attended the School. It was used as a female seminary just prior to and during the war.

The progress of reerection is somewhat impeded by want of funds, but it is hoped that the work can ere long be prosecuted to completion.
