The Anson Hardy Paper Cutter is by far the best machine which can be obfar the best machine which can be ob-tained for a less price than one hundred dollars. It is of great strength. These machines have always taken the highest stand. It is the only machine to which is applied the Patent Movable Cutting Board. This device has a reputation of itself: by it, the cutting board can be innself by it, the cutting board can be instantly and accurately moved, so that a perfect cut is insured. This is a very important point in the machine, and one that is possessed by no other. It greatly reduces the labor of preparation in working the paper backward and forward. We cannot too strongly recommend the advantages of this patent movable board. It is worth the price of this machine, and purchasers should fully understand how highly it is to be valued."—Geo. P. Will There Be An Election?

Sunday-School Music.

Herald, 11th inst.

Some of the religious newspapers have begun a war on Sunday music. In the Golden Rule Eugene Thayer writes rather vigorously as fellows: of the average Sunday school hymn and tune book what do we find? Save here and there a passable selection, nothing but a mass of and twaddle; illiterate, ungrammatical and utterly unpoetical jingle; and music that trash or dishwater would be too good a name for. And this is not the worst of it. The little innocents are actually obliged to sing this driveling nonsense. Think of children beginning life with:

"Twill all be over soon:
"Tis only for a moment here,
"Twill all be over soon."

Or singing such dismal meditations as this :

> "A few more prayers, A few more tears, It won't be long. It won't be long.'

Mr. Thayer condemns also "I want to be an angel." He says that no child does wants to be an angel "when death is the price." Further he says: I have seen and played from a Sunday-school book which had the words "For Jesus is my Saviour" set to that drunkard's melody, "We won't go home till morning." Three or four notes changed, but the rest note for note.

Mr. Derham, the former treasur er, and for years the County Chair man of the Republican party in Horry county, now in New York, writes Mr. Walsh, the agent of the Hampton government, to call on his clerk for his last year's tax receipts and draw on him at sight for his per cent., as he regards it the duty of every citizen to respond prompt ly to the support of the only true and legal government we have.

Sentimentaly Bencolence.

The New York Herald has a very interesting article under the above head. It says:
