RADICAL SPECULATIONS.

They Feel Assured of a Favorable Decision—At Work on the Southern Democrats—The Bribes That They Offer—The Leader Selected.

WASHINGTON, February 14.—The thieves are already arranging to divide the flesh pots. Radical confidence that Hayes will be counted in is now only equaled by the avidity of the place-seekers to be near by when the garments are rent. Every effort will be put forth to win enough Southern votes to prevent the Democrats from filibustering. If they conclude to indulge in that line of tactics, the Southern spectre again stalks forth. It is no longer idle speculation that plots and counterplots are being agitated to divide the Southern Democrats. At least four distinct combinations are at work to induce Hayes to suggest upon what terms he can reward Democratic apostasy. Lamar and Ben Hill are not included in the new conspiracy, because, as a prominent Republican said to day, "All either of them cares for is to get snugly seated in the Senate, and it is immaterial who is President." The new plan aims in another direction. Hancock, of Texas, is the one suggested to stir up Southern disaffection. If he accepts the trust his reward, personally, is to be a Cabinet position. The plan is this: The Republicans are apprehensive that if Louisiana is counted for Hayes by the "seven up" tribunal, the Democrats will delay the conclusion of the count until after the 4th of March to a new election. They are plotting and scheming to get enough Southern votes to prevent it. As an inducement to secure these votes, the guarantees to the South are: First, one or two Cabinet places; second, the control of their own State governments; third, a guaranteed policy on the part of the Republicans of liberal appropriations for Southern internal improvements; fourth, the passage of the Texas Pacific Railroad bill. The plot even extends farther and contemplates the capture of the House of Representatives after the 4th of March next. If Hayes is counted in there will be no extra session of the House. During the recess enough Southern Democrats will be favored with patronage to induce them to stand in with the conspirators and enable the Republicans to secure its organization. Without the aid of a microscope I think I could lay my hand on a baker's dozen willing to be "seen." In naming Hancock of Texas, as the one selected to engineer the conspiracy, I don't mean to insinuate that he was aware that he is chosen to play the Devil with Hayes' God. He may be unconsciously innocent. I do know, however, that upon him the pressure is to be brought. He is not in the next Congress, and a man relegated to private life may easily have his vanity tickled by being called into the councils of a President, though he be a usurper. There are too many shaly Democrats from the South. The Republicans know it, and mean to bag enough of them to suit their purpose if they can.

LAWLESSNESS IN DARLINGTON.—Darlington county, Whittemore's camping ground, is reported to be in a deplorable condition. Incendary fires are of almost nightly occurrence, and murders bid fair to become as common as ordinary thefts used to be. The people of the county have no confidence in the courts. A plea of guilty is barely sufficient to ensure the conviction of a criminal. Shall the thieves, burglars and murderers go unwhipped of justice? The Darlington News, which has been untiring in exposing and denouncing the crimes in the county, sees no other remedy than to search out the notorious offenders and mete out to them the penalty of their misdeeds. So shall they know that they cannot escape punishment, although they may evade the technicalities of the law. There is a gang of outlaws near Timmons-villo who may become an unwieldy element in the course of a few months. As long as these outlaws are allowed to defy the law, so long will these outrages grow in number and atrocity.

No people, in such a State as South Carolina, will lightly resort to lynch-law, and so resume the authority delegated to those who fail to give them security and peace. It will be unnecessary when Governor Hampton's authority shall be acknowledged everywhere. Until then the people must protect themselves as best they can.—News and Courier.

Name the Authors,

An ingenious correspondent of the Herald of Health gives the following fifty questions, each to be answered by the name of a well-known author. The guessing of these questions will form a pleasant evening's entertainment:

1. What a rough man said to his son when he wished him to eat properly.
2. Is a lion's house dug in the side of a hill where there is no water.
3. Pilgrims and flatterers have knelt low to kiss him.
4. Makes and mends for first-class customers.
5. Represents the dwelling of civilized men.
6. Is a kind of linen.
7. Is worn on the head.
8. A name that means such fiery things, I can't describe their pains and stings.
9. Belongs to a monastery.
10. Not one of the four points of the compass, but inclining towards one of them.
11. Is what an oyster heap is like to be.
12. Is a chain of hills containing a dark treasure.
13. Always youthful, as you see; but between you and me he was never much of a chicken.
14. An American manufacturing town.
15. Humpbacked but not deformed.
16. An internal pain.
17. Value of a word.
18. A ten-footer whose name begins with fifty.
19. A brighter and smarter than the other one.
20. A worker in precious metals.
21. A very vital part of the body.
22. A lady's garment.
23. A small talk and heavy weight.
24. A prefix and a disease.
25. Comes from a pig.
26. A disagreeable fellow to have on one's foot.
27. A sick place of worship.
28. A mean dog 'tis.
29. An official dreaded by the students of English universities.
30. His middle name is suggestive of an Indian or a Hottentot.
31. A manufactured metal.
32. A game and a male of the human species.
33. An answer to "Which is the greater poet, William Shakspeare or Martin F. Tupper?"
34. Meat! What are you doing?
35. Is very fast indeed.
36. A barrier built by an edible.
37. To agitate a weapon.
38. Red as an apple, black as night, a heavenly sight or a perfect fright.
39. A domestic worker.
40. A slang exclamation.
41. Pack away closely, never scatter, and doing so you'll soon get at her.
42. A young domestic animal.
43. One that is more than a sandy-shore.
44. A fraction in currency and the prevailing fashion.
45. Mamma is in perfect health, my child—and thus he named a poet mild.
46. A girl's and a male relation.
47. Take heavy field-piece, nothing loth.
48. Put an edible grain 'twixt an ant and a bee, and a much-loved poet you'll see.
49. A common domestic animal and what it can never do.
50. Each living head in time, 'tis said, will turn to him though he be dead.

TURNING OUT.—Gen. Mattoon, of Amherst, Mass., formerly sheriff of Hampton county, on starting one snowy winter many years ago to drive to Northampton to open court met a team and shouted to the driver, "Turn out! I am High Sheriff of the county." The man pulled his coat collar up around his ears and replied, "I don't care who you are; I am in no hurry." The result was that the General had to unhitch and lead his horse by while the stranger went his way. Meeting another team before reaching Hadley, the sheriff tried the same game with better success, saying, "Turn out! I am High Sheriff of the county. If you don't I'll serve you as I did a fellow I met back here a piece." The man unhitched in a jiffy, put his sleigh on the bank and let the sheriff pass, and as he did so, called out to him, "What did you do with that fellow back there?" "Oh," said the General, "he wouldn't turn out, so I turned out."

The times are so hard that an Irishman says he has parted with all his elegant wardrobe except the arm holes of an old waistcoat.
