

R. MBANS DAVIS, Editor,
JNO. S. REYNOLDS, Associate Editor.

How many American citizens retired to rest on Sunday night thankful that, whatever other ills might be in store in future, Grantism was at last at an end.

All the Radicals are going to Governor Hampton for money. Chamberlain's cheek is such that it would not be surprising should he also petition for a quarter's salary from the ten per cent. contribution.

In the House of Representatives on the 3d inst, a resolution was reported by Knott, of Kentucky, and adopted by a strict party vote, of 137 to 88, declaring that Tilden had received 196 votes of the duly qualified electors, and was thereby duly elected President; and that in the opinion of the House, Hendricks having received a like number of electoral votes, was thereby duly elected Vice-President.

Now that Hayes is declared President, he should reward those individuals to whom, instead of to the people, he is indebted for his success. Madison Wells should be made charge d'affaires for Mexico, in which happy land he would be bulldozed most effectually in a week; while Chamberlain should be made consul for Caffraria, and Stearns envoy extraordinary to Ethiopia.

William Stone has been nominated as United States District Attorney for South Carolina. This is the same Stone who was law partner of Corbin, and subsequently Attorney-General of the State. The only noteworthy acts he performed were as a member of the infamous Canvassing Board. For these he was incarcerated in the Richland jail, but was released by Bond. He is a fitting person to become prosecuting counsel before Bond's court. But if this is a sample of the Federal appointments under Hayes, it is idle to speak of justice to the South. Stone's past record has forever damned him in the sight of all decent men.

The New President.

R. B. Hayes has been inaugurated as President of the United States. Of the title by which he holds the highest office in the gift of the people, we will say nothing, save that it is founded in iniquity and is honey-combed with fraud. The man who was repudiated by a majority of a million whites, and a quarter of a million of all the voters, and who received a minority of twelve votes in the Electoral College, has, by the indecent conduct of a board, constituted expressly to sift out the truth, been called to preside over the destinies of a great nation. No act that he can perform will wipe off the stigma resting upon his inauguration.

He can, however, by his conduct endeavor, in some degree, to atone for the wrong his party and himself have done to the nation. The government, under the administration of Grant, has fallen to pieces. Every department is rotten. The Federal appointees are with few exceptions knaves and plunderers. If Hayes expects to receive even a small share of respect, he must reconstruct all the branches of the government from the bottom. Especially is this necessary in the South. The reconstructed States have suffered from as graceless a set of scoundrels as ever disgraced a penitentiary. They must be turned adrift. The troops must be relieved from police duty in South Carolina and Louisiana. Hampton and Nicholls must be promptly recognized. The South must be acknowledged as being upon terms of perfect equality with the other sections of the Union, and her representatives must be received as peers in Congress. The Federal government has now very frail tenure upon either the love or the respect of the people; and violence beginning in any quarter, may quickly spread over the whole Union. There is a point beyond which forbearance ceases to be a virtue, and the South has almost reached that point. Mr. Hayes will be wise to heed conciliatory counsels, and to abstain from bolstering up thieves and swindlers.

Mr. Hayes will not have a bed of roses. But when one seizes a position to which he is not entitled, he must not complain if it be uncomfortable.

The next few days will decide whether the Republican party has learned wisdom, or whether it is still going to destruction.

Governor Hampton.

The Supreme Court has decided that Wade Hampton is governor de jure and de facto of South Carolina. Justices Willard and Wright signed an order for the release of Tilda Norris, pardoned by Governor Hampton. Wright subsequently presented a memorandum to the clerk containing a retraction of his concurrence, but this goes for naught. It was unofficial, and was properly not recognized by the superintendent of the penitentiary, who released the convict. Wright's conduct was unfortunate for himself. Bostet by Bowen, Worthington, Gleaves and Whipper, (all of whom should be indicted for conspiracy) and by them brought to the verge, it is said, of delirium tremens, he endeavored to reverse his act performed under solemn conviction after legal argument, and in logical sequence of his former decisions. He then fled the State. Such conduct is pitiable in the extreme, and throws contempt upon the court. Judge Willard has acted like a man and a judge all through; and though he simply performed his duty, he is entitled to the thanks of the State.

It was all along known that Governor Hampton was legally elected governor, and the people long since resolved to recognize no other. But they will be pleased to hear that the Supreme Court has also taken a proper view of the case, as this will greatly simplify matters. Governor Hampton will now move on, and Chamberlain's shadow will still further diminish.

IMPORTANT FROM COLUMBIA.

Action of Judge Willard.--Hampton Declared Governor.--Wright Gone Nobody Knows Where.--News From Washington.--Judge Moses' Condition.

By Telegraph to The News and Herald. COLUMBIA, March 2.

On the 27th ult., Judges Willard and Wright signed an order releasing Tilda Norris from the custody of the superintendent of the penitentiary, on the pardon of Governor Hampton. Yesterday, after most outrageous bulldozing by the Radicals, Wright filed an adverse opinion. This last opinion is believed to be the work of Chamberlain, and places Wright in the novel position of having reversed his own judgment. To-day Judge Willard announced in open court that he had sent the sheriff for Judge Wright, but his whereabouts could not be ascertained. He then stated the circumstances of the signing of the original order, and of Wright's subsequent action. He directed the clerk to serve a copy of the order upon the superintendent of the penitentiary--which has effected the release of Tilda Norris, and establishes Gov. Hampton's pardoning power. Wright's second opinion is, like Judge Carpenter's, to the effect that Chamberlain holds over.

Nobody knows where Wright is. Some say he has gone to Washington, while others believe that he is still in Columbia.

Chief Justice Moses will probably die this evening. Hayes and Wheeler were declared elected, at four o'clock this morning.
