twenty and thirty years of age. A peculiarity worthy of especial note regarding these small cities of the dead is that in many of the headstones there is an indentation in which is placed a photograph of the deceased, for a name would seldom convey any idea of identity of the dead. This is certainly a good idea as it serves both friend and stranger in suggesting the personal appearance of the one lying beneath the mound in the calm sleep of death.

COSSACK CHARACTERISTICS.

The Organization, Uniform and Equipments of the Russian Irregulars.

Kischeneff Letter in the New York Herald.

The Cossacks are divided into several corps—the Cossacks of the Don, the Cossacks of the Ukraine, the Cossacks of the Caucasus, etc. Each of these divisions has a chief, who is called an Ataman and holds the rank of general, and all the Cossacks of the Empire are united under a single chief, who has the title of the "Ataman General." This latter title always devolves upon the hereditary Grand Duke. The Cossack clothes and equips himself, and his uniform and his horse belong to himself. He wears a large, round, low cap made of skin from Astrakan, wide pantaloons stuffed into his boots and reaching just below his knees, the whole covered by a kind of overcoat buttoning on the back and having three long flaps reaching to the feet and fastened on the full length. On his breast, to the left and right, in vertical cases, he carries six cartridges at each side. In his belt he carries a poniard. A baldric hangs from his right shoulder and passes to the left side, where it supports a long sabre in a leather scabbard. On his back, hanging from a bandolier and wrapped in a case made of goat's skin, he carries his rifle. The Cossack always carries in his hand a whip with a short lash, which he calls kinjal. His horse is small and rather ugly, and though he is made of good stuff his form is somewhat angular. To form an idea of the Cossack saddle imagine an ordinary saddle, upon which would be fastened by a strap a square leather cushion about four inches high. This is the reason that at first sight one is so much surprised to see this curious-looking cavalier perched up so high on his saddle. He sticks on his horse's back by sticking his knees into the animal's sides with all his strength, which gives the legs the appearance of a pair of pincers. The stirrup is an equally curious thing. The bottom is round and thick enough, but from that up it resembles very much one of those tin boxes in which preserves are sold. It has been already said that the Cossack's horse is his personal property, and it may be added that he turns it to business account by hiring it out. Since the arrival of the troops at Kischeneff they have been the delight of the collegians, who for a rouble an hour have been enabled to make pronouncements on horseback in bands on these valiant little animals.

SOUTH CAROLINA NEWS.

Mr. William J. Jones, of Aiken county, died recently.

Considerable sickness prevails in Columbia just now—principally among ladies and children.

Attorney General Connor was quite sick in New York some days ago, but has since almost entirely recovered.

Senator Gary, of Edgemoor, visited Charleston a few days ago, and was complimented with a soronade. Gossips say he soon to be married.

At last accounts Governor Hampton had not negotiated the desired loan of one hundred thousand dollars from the money-men of New York.

"Honest John" Patterson is knocking about Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. The decent people of South Carolina wish he would settle there for good.

Large quantities of peaches are being shipped from Aiken to Charleston and the Northern markets. The prices range from $2 to $2.50 per bushel.

A monument in honor of the defenders of Fort Moultrie was unveiled in Charleston last Thursday, the anniversary of the battle. The military display was very fine.

At the recent term of the circuit court for Charleston county, there were thirty-nine convictions and thirteen acquittals. The negroes who murdered young Edings a short time back will be hung on the 13th inst.

This is the way in which the Augusta Chronicle and Constitutionalist talks about a fallen foe: "Williamsburg's Republican, the last of the Skowhegans, is no more. Able it was not, but conservative ever. We fain would plant a flower over the fallen foe."

Newberry county wants officials badly. One seat in the Legislature is vacant. Of the three Radicals elected to the office of county commissioners only one has qualified, and too must be elected. There is no auditor and no jury commissioner. The Herald wants things fixed at once.

As the South Carolina Railroad train on its way to Columbia on the 3d was crossing the trestle near Kingville, a little girl fell between the cars and was lost in the waters of the river. Her parents, who were North Carolinians, went on their way.

Since the burning of the Barnwell jail last winter, the prisoners of that county have been placed in the Aiken jail for safe-keeping. This institution has only nine cells, and there are now confined within its walls thirty-six prisoners—four in each cell—two of whom are white and thirty-four colored. Four of these are murderers—two from Aiken and two from Barnwell.

VEGETINE

—IS MY FAMILY—
MEDICINE;
I WISH NO OTHER.

PROVIDENCE, APRIL 7, 1876.
MR. H. R. STEVENS—Dear Sir, When I was about 8 years of age a humor broke out upon me, which my mother tried to cure by giving me herb teas and all other such remedies as she knew of, but it continued to grow worse, until finally she consulted a physician and he said I had the salt rheum, and doctored me for that complaint. He relieved me some, but said I could not be permanently cured by the disease originated in the blood. I remained a great sufferer for several years, until I heard of and consulted a physician, who said I had the scrofulous humor, and if I would allow him to doctor me he would cure me. I did so, and he commenced healing up my sores and succeeded in effecting an external cure, but in a short time the disease appeared again in a worse form than ever, as cancerous tumors upon my fingers, throat and head. I suffered the most terrible pain, and there seemed to be no remedy, and my friends thought I must soon die, when my attention was called, while reading a newspaper, to a VEGETINE advertised in the North American, No. 264, Athens Street, South Boston, and I, formerly residing in South Boston and being personally acquainted with her and knowing her former noble health, I concluded to try the Vegetine. After I had taken a few bottles it seemed to force the sores out of my system. I had running sores in my ears which for a time were very painful, but I concluded I would try to get rid of them. I had about 25 bottles, my health improving all the time from the commencement of the first bottle, and the sores to heal. I commenced taking the Vegetine in 1872, and continued to use it for 18 months. At the present time my health is better than it ever has been since I was a child. The Vegetine is what helped me, and I most cordially recommend it to all sufferers, especially my friends. I had been a sufferer for over 20 years, and I feel that I could not find no remedy now I use it as my family medicine, and wish to offer.

W. E. AIKEN, No. 1, Jay Street, Providence, R. I.

Vegetine.

The range of disorders which lead to the influence of this medicine, and the number of different diseases it cures, is far greater than any other single medicine that has been hitherto been even recommended for by any other than the proprietors, or some other nostrum. These diseases are scrofula and all eruptive diseases and tumors, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia and spinal Complaints and all inflammatory system: Ulcers, all syphilitic diseases, Kidney and bladder diseases, Dropsy, the whole train of painful disorders which so generally afflict American women, and which carry annually thousands of them to premature graves; Dyspepsia, that universal curse of American manhood, Heartburn, Piles, Constipation, Nervousness, Inability to sleep, and impure blood.

This is a formidable list of human ailments for any single medicine to successfully attack, and it is not probable that any one article before the public has the power to cure the quarter of them except Vegetine. It lays the axe at the root of the tree of disease by first eliminating every impurity from the blood, promoting the secretions, opening the pores—the great escape valves of the system—invigorating the liver to its full and natural action, cleansing the stomach and strengthening digestion. This most accomplished, the speedy and the permanent cure of not only the diseases we have enumerated, but likewise the whole train of chronic and constitutional disorders, is certain to follow. This is precisely what Vegetine does, and it does it so quickly, and so easily, that it is an accomplished fact almost before the patient is aware of it himself.

BEST REMEDY IN THE LAND.

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 23d, 1876.

MR. H. R. STEVENS: Dear Sir—I desire to state to you that I was afflicted with a breaking out of blotches and pimples on my face and neck for several years. I have tried many remedies, but none cured the humor on my face and neck. After using two or three bottles of your Vegetine the humor was entirely cured. I do certainly believe it is the best medicine for all impurities of the liver to that there is in the land, and should highly recommend it to the afflicted public.

Truly yours, P. PERLINE, Architect.

Mr. Perline is a well-known architect and builder at Little Falls, N. Y., having lived there and in the vicinity for the last thirty-three years.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS

A MATCHLESS FAMILY MEDICINE compounded from vegetable ingredients which are regarded as standard remedies of the Materia Medica. Actual experience has established this compound as far superior to others claiming like character. SIMMONS' LIVER AND BILE COMPOUND has nothing in its composition that can possibly injure the most delicate. Its taste is not unpleasant, does not nauseate or gripe, and yet it acts on the Liver and Bowels just as effectively as Calomel or any of the preparations of mercury, without injuring the constitution or debilitating the system. Many people suffer with Torpid Liver and Constipated Bowels and require something to stimulate these organs. From some peculiarity of constitution, they cannot take Calomel or blue mass. To such Simmons' Bile Compound will be invaluable. It does not produce large watery actions that weaken and depress, but acts mildly, producing no depression. It simply stimulates nature to act. Hence, how invaluable to the sufferer.
