LITERARY LIONS.
The Meagro Reward of Penicraft—What Some American Authors are Worth.

Longfellow is independent in circumstances—probably worth $100,000 to $200,000; but the greatest part of it has come to him through his wife, long since deceased, who was rich in her own right.

Emerson has not made from his remarkable little volumes over $20,000. He has gained nearly as much more by lecturing; and yet by excellent management, which one might not expect from the high idealist, and by a serene philosophy of a practical sort, he continues to live on his small property.

Bryant is often cited as an instance of a rich author. He is rich but not by authorship. All the money he has directly earned by his pen, outside of his journal, would not exceed, in all probability, $25,000, notwithstanding his estate is estimated at $500,000.

Hawthorne was poor to his dying day, and might have suffered but for his appointment to the consulship at Liverpool by his friend President Pierce.

Lowell is independent in circumstances—no thanks to his fine poetry and essays, however.

Whittier, like most thrifty New Englanders, owns his own house, and beneath its humble roof, it is said, he has sometimes subsisted—he is a bachelor, you know—on $500 a year.

Holmes is well off by the practice of the medical profession, by marriage and inheritance, albeit not by poems, lectures, novels, or "Autocrats of the Breakfast Table." All that he has written has not brought him $25,000.

Hayard Taylor, although he has made, perhaps, $50,000 by his writings—his books of travel having been very popular—has not sufficient income to sustain him without regular labor.

J. G. Holland is frequently named as an author who has amassed wealth. His books have sold as largely as those of any American writer, and whatever may be thought of his ability, he still has a vast constituency. He is not at all rich in the New York sense; he may be worth $200,000, but most of this he got by his partnership in the Springfield Republican.

George William Curtis is dependent on his salary from the Harpers; so is Mr. William D. Howells dependent upon his editorship of the Atlantic; Bret Harte, T. B. Aldrich, James Parton, J. T. Trowbridge, R. H. Stoddard, T. W. Higginson, mainly upon fugitive writing.

Modesty.

Modesty is only another word for habit. The French woman displays her stockings on muddy pavements in a way that makes English and American women hang their heads with shame. The English woman hides her stockings, but she exposes her bosom in crowded assemblies with a freedom that strikes the French and Americans with disgust. The American hides both bosom and ankles; but very young girls show themselves freely alone in streets, omnibuses, cars, and ferriesboats in a way that fills Europeans with horror at their immodesty. Oriental women hide their faces for their modesty. In the days when broad bandeaux of hair were worn it was immodest for an ear to be seen. A fashion article, in an American publication of years ago, asserted that no modest woman could feel at ease with her hair behind her ears. African travelers, who only see the human figure in its natural condition, affirm that the sight of the naked form of the native women has not the slightest disturbing effect upon the imagination. But only let those same forms be partially dressed, and the immodesty of the revealed portions is as evident as were they exposed by civilized women. The habit of looking continually upon the human figure by the artist robs it utterly of the impure associations that haunt the mind of the Philistine. The most reckless student of the Ecole des Beaux Arts forgets the naked woman in the beautiful lines and curves and color of the model before him. That modesty is only habit, the innocence of children, who have no modesty till they begin to lose their virgin innocence of thought, plainly shows.

VEGETINE
—IS MY FAMILY—
MEDICINE;
I WISH NO OTHER.

PROVIDENCE, April 7, 1876.
MR. H. R. STEVENS—Dear Sir: When I was about 8 years of age a humor broke out upon me, which my mother tried to cure by giving me herb teas and all other such remedies as she knew of, but it continued to grow worse, until finally she consulted a physician and he said I had the salt rheum, and doctored me for that complaint. He relieved me some, but said I could not be permanently cured as the disease originated in the blood. I remained a great sufferer for several years, until I heard of and consulted a physician, who said I had the scrofulous humor and if I would allow him to doctor me he would cure me. I did so, and I commenced healing up my sores and succeeded in effecting an external cure, but in a short time the disease appeared again in a worse form than ever, as cancerous humor upon my lungs, throat and head. I suffered the most terrible pain, and there seemed to be no remedy, and my friends thought I must soon die, when my attention was called, while reading a newspaper, to a VEGETINE testimonial of Mrs. Waterhouse, No. 364, Athens Street, South Boston, and I, formerly residing in South Boston and being personally acquainted with her and knowing her former feeble health, I concluded I would try the Vegetine. After I had taken a few bottles it seemed to force the sores out of my system, I had running sores in my ears which were very painful, but I continued to take the Vegetine until I had taken about 25 bottles, my health improving all the time from the commencement of the first bottle, and the sores to heal. I continued taking the Vegetine in 1872, and continued its constant use for six months. At the present time my health is better than it ever has been since I was a child. The Vegetine is what helped me, and I most cordially recommend it to all sufferers, especially my friends. I had been a sufferer for over 20 years, and until I used the Vegetine, I found no remedy; now I use it as my family medicine, and wish no other.

MRS. B. C. COOPER,
No. 1, Joy Street, Providence, R. I.

Vegetine.
The range of disorders which yield to the influence of this medicine, and the number of defunct diseases which it never fails to cure, are greater than any other single medicine that has been hitherto known. It is recommended for any other than the proprietors of some quack nostrum. These diseases are Scrofula and all eruptive diseases and Tumors, Rheumatism, Gout, Stragula, and spinal complaints and all the influenza system. It cures all syphilitic diseases, Kidney and bladder diseases, Dropsy, the whole train of painful disorders which so generally afflict American women, and which carry annually thousands of them to their premature graves. Dyspepsia, that universal curse of American manhood, Heartburn, Piles, Constipation, Nervousness, inability to sleep, and Impure blood.

BEST REMEDY IN THE LAND.
LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 23d, 1876.
MR. H. R. STEVENS:
Dear Sir—I desire to state to you that I was afflicted with a break out of blotches and pimples on my face and neck for several years. I have tried many remedies, but none cured the humor on my face and neck. After using two or three bottles of your Vegetine the humor was entirely cured. I do certainly believe it is the best medicine for all impurities of the blood that there is in the land, and should highly recommend it to the afflicted public.

Truly yours, J. PERDUE, Architect.
Mr. Perrine is a well-known architect and builder at Little Falls, N. Y., having lived there and in the vicinity for the last thirty-three years.

A GREAT WANT SUPPLIED.
SIMMONS' LIVER HEPATIC CURE. COMPOUND

SHOULD be preferred as a corrective and alternative to every other medicine in use. Firstly, it allays fever; secondly, it cleanses the bowels without violence or pain; thirdly, it tones the stomach, fourthly, it regulates the flow of bile; fifthly, it promotes healthy perspiration; sixthly, it relieves the system from unwholesome humors; seventhly, it tranquilizes the nerves; eighthly, it acts upon the blood as a depurative; and lastly, it forms one of the most certain LIVER REGULATORS known.
It will remove wind from the bowels, and hence a few drops given to a babe is better than a dozen cordials to relieve and make it sleep. Containing no Anodyne. It will cure Constipation and keep the bowels regular. It will also cure the worst case of Summer Complaint and Dysentery.
It will cure Sour Stomach, Stimulate the Liver to healthy action, relieve Heartburn, and act as a general regulator of the system.
