BRIC-A-BRAC.

The principal reason why Victoria's son, the Duke of Connaught, will not marry the daughter of the King of Holland, is because the King has no daughter.

Mlle. Albani stepped boldly forward and kissed Sir Michael Coster after a successful rehearsal at the London Crystal Palace.

Prof. A. B. Bell, the inventor of deaf mute signals, is to marry a daughter of the rich Gardner B. Hubbard, one of his pupils.

It is suggested that Chamberlain would do well for Blaine as Secretary of the Treasury. He could get along on very little capital.

George Eliot says that girls are delicate vessels, in which is borne onward through the ages the treasure of human affection.

Lieut. Borup recently married the third daughter of Mr. Brandreth, the concoctor of pills, and Borup manfully under the ordeal.

The Duke de Medina Coeli and the Marquis de Castrillo both engaged as matadors in a recent bull fight at Madrid, and evoked much enthusiasm by their skill.

The Stock Law, as Viewed by a Progressive Mecklenburg Farmer.

Editors Charlotte Observer:

In your issue of Wednesday a correspondent from Winnsboro, S. C., makes inquiries concerning the working and popularity of the stock law, in Mecklenburg county. If you have not received the desired information, you are at liberty to publish the following. He will find his questions answered in the order which they are propounded:

1. The new law in Mecklenburg is increasing the number and improving the quality of the stock.

2. The trouble and expense of keeping stock during the winter is increased, but the profits are more largely increased.

3. Farm tenants have no trouble in obtaining pastures. Laborers living in the city, and in no wise connected with farming, have no pastures; but have the benefit of public pastures, at low figures. Those of them who have good cows find them, as under the old law, profitable. They are in many instances, furnished pasturage free of cost.

4. The adoption of the law by a single township produces no complication or confusion; but its adoption by several townships, or a county, increases its advantages and popularity, and diminishes the expense of fencing.

5. The same provision existed with us, in regard to fencing in such townships as adopted the law. There was but little trouble in making contracts for the building of such fence, with either those favoring or opposed to the law. The cost, including gates across public highways, should not exceed one hundred dollars per mile, though with us in some cases it has exceeded that amount. Contracts were generally taken by those living upon the proposed line of fence, at one dollar per hundred for old rails, one and a half for new, and three to five dollars for gates. Raising the money to pay for the fencing has in some instances been easy, in others difficult.

The adoption of the law has had the effect of advancing the interests of the whole people; has imbued the farmers with a progressive spirit of improvement; makes the cultivation of cotton less expensive, which will enable the planter to pay larger wages to laborers; has almost entirely relieved the tenant from the burden of fencing; has made the raising of hogs, cattle and sheep profitable; has learned men to regard the lives and property of their fellowmen, and thereby advanced the cause of civilization. It has made men more peaceable and better neighbors, and has brought order out of a chaos. After this the first year, it will enable the farmers of Mecklenburg to improve their lands to greater fertility, by making composts and ploughing more deeply, which in a few years would conduce to their leisure and pleasure. In conclusion, the stock law is giving greater satisfaction to both whites and blacks, than its most earnest advocates had predicted.

Mecklenburg hopes that the people of South Carolina may obtain the same benefit from its adoption.
