THE PRESIDENT'S POLICY.

An Interview with Hayes—How He Came to Adopt His Policy—What He Thinks of Its Success—Not Scared by Newspapers.

CINCINNATI, September 10.—A correspondent of the Evening Times, who interviewed President Hayes while en route to Fremont, asked the President how he came to construct his policy, which was seemingly so at variance with his recent views while on the stump in his last gubernatorial campaign. Did it grow upon him gradually, as circumstances seemed to require? The President replied as follows:

"Well, those views began to take form in the words of my letter of acceptance. I considered the situation of things in the South, saw how impossible it seemed to restore order and peace and harmony; saw the violence and bloodshed at the elections; how white Republicans, as well as black, were shot down during their political contests, and I asked myself why is it and how long must this continue? These men down South, the white educated citizens, are as good men as you or I. They are Christians, not thieves nor cut-throats nor bandits. Yet they see these things and tacitly approve them, if they do not take part in them. Why is it and how long will it continue? While thinking those questions over, my mind reverted to the scenes of the war, and an incident at the battle of Cedar Mountain came to mind. It was a hard fought engagement, and for a time we could not tell how it would end. We who were in command had determined that if a certain movement resulted in one way, we would give certain orders, but if they resulted otherwise, different orders would be given. With our field glasses we were watching the course of things. All at once I saw a commotion in the thickest of the fray. The artillery had got to work and were throwing shells fast and with unerring aim into the solid ranks of the enemy. Heads were being blown from their bodies, arms and legs torn from their sockets and some sent to one world or the other unprepared, and yet I rejoiced and congratulated my fellow-officers that we were victorious. How could this be? Why was it? It was because we were at war. That one word solved in my mind the problem of the South. The people were at war. There was a conflict going on. The social and political relations of the people were not natural, not harmonious. There were disturbing elements among them, and while they existed or were unduly active, there would be conflict. Let the causes of the conflict be removed, and there would be peace and ultimately harmony and prosperity."

"But," said the reporter, "we do not see much disposition in the South to manifest a loving temper toward us of the North."

The President mildly retorted: "How do you know? You form your opinions, no doubt, from reading the papers, but editors of newspapers do not always represent the popular general feeling of the people, either North or South. I think most of the people in the South, as I know they are in the North, are more disposed to encourage fraternal, harmonious, social and business relations than the extremists, who, unfortunately, too often get control of newspapers, but even these, or most of them, will come around all right in time."

A teacher in a female seminary in the country, on being asked by a young lady of her class what pig-iron was, replied, "iron given in exchange for swine."

A cave has been discovered in the Blue Ridge mountains, near Walkersville, in which inscriptions have been found dated back as far as 1816.

A naturalist claims to have discovered that crows, when in flocks, have regularly organized courts, in which they sit around and try offenders—a sort of court bar, so to speak.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

The reputation it has attained, in consequence of the marvellous cures it has produced during the last half century, is a sufficient assurance to the public that it will continue to realize the happiest results that can be desired. In almost every section of country there are persons, publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs, by its use. All who have tried it acknowledge its superiority; and where its virtues are known, no one hesitates as to what medicine to employ to relieve the distress and suffering peculiar to pulmonary affections. CHERRY PECTORAL always affords instant relief, and performs rapid cures of the milder varieties of bronchial disorder, as well as the more formidable diseases of the lungs.

As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of Childhood, it is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued and restored to health.

This medicine gains friends at every trial, as the cures it is constantly producing are too remarkable to be forgotten. No family should be without it, and those who have once used it never will.

Eminent Physicians throughout the country prescribe it, and Clergymen often recommend it from their knowledge of its effects.

A case of Liver disease, 11 years standing, cured by the use of Simmons' Hepatic Compound.

Gentlemen:—I think it the duty of everybody that can render assistance to the afflicted to do so, therefore I take great pleasure in testifying from my own knowledge to the great efficacy of your Simmons' Hepatic Compound. I commenced using it in my family in a case of Liver disease of 11 years standing, which it has entirely cured. Its wonderful effects in the immediate cure of Sick-headache, dyspepsia and chills and fevers, I am glad to say, has been fully realized in my family from the use of a few bottles of this medicine. My wife has been subject to severe spells of headache for more than two years, and has been entirely cured by using a few bottles of Simmons' Hepatic Compound and has determined to keep it always in our house. We consider it an invaluable family medicine. Yours truly, ROBERT E. WELCH.
