VEGETINE

Rev. J. P. Ludlow Writes:

178 BALTIC STREET, BROOKLYN, N. Y.,
November 14, 1874.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:
Dear Sir—From personal benefit received by its use, as well as from personal knowledge of those whose cures thereby have seemed almost miraculous, I can most heartily and sincerely recommend the VEGETINE for the complaints which it is claimed to cure.

JAMES P. LUDLOW, Late Pastor
Calvary Baptist Church, Sacramento, Cal.

Vegetine. She Rests Well.

SOUTH POLAND, ME., Oct. 11, 1876.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:
Dear Sir—I have been sick two years with the liver complaint, and during that time have taken a great many different medicines, but none of them did me any good. I was restless at night, and had no appetite. Since taking the VEGETINE I rest well, and relish my food. Can recommend the VEGETINE for what it is said to do for me. Yours respectfully,
MRS. ALBERT RICKER.

Witness of the Above, Mr. George M. Vaughan, Medford, Mass.

Vegetine. Good for the Children.

BOSTON HOME, 14 Tyler Street,
Boston, April, 1876.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:
Dear Sir—We feel that the children in our home have been greatly benefited by the VEGETINE you have so kindly given us from time to time, especially those troubled with the Scrotula. With respect,
MRS. N. WORMELL, Matton.

Vegetine.

Rev. O. T. Walker Says:

PROVIDENCE, R. I., 161 Transit Street.
H. R. STEVENS, Esq.

I feel bound to express with my signature the high value I place upon your VEGETINE. My family have been greatly benefited by it. In nervous debility it is invaluable, and I recommend it to all who may need an invigorating, renovating tonic. O. T. WALKER,
Pastor of Bowdoin-Square Church, Boston.

Vegetine.

Nothing Equal to it.

SOUTH SALEM, MASS., Nov. 14, 1876.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:
Dear Sir—I have been troubled with scrotula, canker, and liver complaint for three years. Nothing ever did me good until I commenced using the VEGETINE. I am now getting along first-rate, and still using the VEGETINE. I consider there is nothing equal to it for such complaints. Can heartily recommend it to everybody. Yours truly,
MRS. LIZZIE M. PACKARD,
No. 16, Lagrange St., South Salem, Mass.

Vegetine.

Recommend it Heartily.

SOUTH BOSTON.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:
Dear Sir—I have taken several bottles of your VEGETINE, and am convinced it is a valuable remedy for dyspepsia, kidney complaint, and general debility of the system. I can heartily recommend it to all sufferers from the above complaints. Yours respectfully,
MRS. MURROE PARKER.

THE RESULT OF A TRIAL.

AN INCIDENT IN THE CAREER OF CLARA MORRIS.

How She Made a Great Reputation for Herself.

In the fall of 1869 Augustin Daly began to hear extraordinary stories of the emotional power of Clara Morris, who was then a protegee of the genial John Ellsler, the projector and present manager of the magnificent Euclid Avenue Opera House in Cleveland. The genial and fatherly John was anxious to advance the fortunes of his pupil, and a New York opening was thought to be a desirable thing. In fact the metropolitan stage is the Mecca toward which all ambitious stage-folk bend their steps in dubious pilgrimage, and on the results thereof hang all their hopes of fame and fortune. After considerable correspondence Daly engaged the little Morris to play minor parts. He had made a contract by which Wilkie Collins was to dramatize his "Man and Wife," with which the Napoleonic manager was to open the season of 1869-70. Two weeks before the opening night he had heard nothing from Mr. Collins in regard to the dramatization, so he sat down and dramatized the novel himself, put it in rehearsal and laid himself out for a brilliant hit. At the last moment his leading woman, Agnes Ethel, severed her connection with the Fifth Avenue Theatre. Daly was in a quandary. Suddenly a thought flashed upon him. Clara Morris! Why would it not be a masterly stroke to send her up the dizzy ladder at a leap or kill her off at once? Done! Ten minutes later he had wired the following dispatch:

NEW YORK, —1869.
JOHN ELLSLER, Cleveland:

Can Clara Morris play Anne Sylvester? Answer.

(Signed) AUGUSTIN DALY.

In due time the following reply was received:

CLEVELAND, —1869.
AUGUSTIN DALY,

Fifth Avenue Theatre, N. Y.:

Try her.

(Signed) JOHN ELLSLER.

Nothing more passed between the two managers on the subject. Daly cast Miss Morris for "Anne Sylvester" and the town wondered what new crotchet he had taken up. They went to the theatre on the opening night to see what she was like. They found a slight frail girl feeling at every step that she was undergoing the crucial test by which surely to make or break. It was a supreme moment in a great career. The first two acts moved well enough. The more careful observers said she was getting on nicely—better than they had expected, and they rather thought she would win at least a success of esteem. The critics were out in force. Winter, of the Tribune, fidgeted uneasily, and not unsympathetically; Bronson Howard, then in the field of New York journalism, looked on, but his imperturbable demeanor disclosed nothing of his thoughts; the cynical Nym Crinkle, the Mephistophelian metaphysician of metropolitan critics elevated his contemptuous nose in a manner that meant anything or nothing; the brilliant and warm-hearted Wm. Stuart broke out now and then with a little exclamation of satisfaction, and others of the guild looked on and hoped. The old play goes—the New York type of which is sui generis—sat there a crowd of doubting Thomases, when suddenly the climax of the third act was reached. Then it was that "Anne Sylvester," goaded to indignant frenzy, turned on her rival the vials of her wrath, and swept the theater like a tornado. The surprise was as great as the acting, and both were unparalleled in the experience of most of those who sat in the Fifth Avenue Theatre on that memorable night. The next day Clara Morris was the lion of the town, and to-day, despite her physical frailty, she is to the metropolis what Sarah Bernhardt is to Paris.

It is understood that one of the questions put to all applicants for life assurance in Mississippi is as follows: "Are you ruptured, subject to heart disease, of an apoplectic habit, a Republican, or in any other manner likely to die suddenly?"

BRIC-A-BRAC.

Housekeepers in Philadelphia now get neighboring bakers to cook their meals for them.

The London Truth asserts that General Grant is worth ten millions. Truth, crushed to earth, lies again.

The Danbury News says it was Brigham Young's eldest son who wrote the line, "What is home without a mother."

Philadelphia Bulletin:—"They are going to dramatize the Tweed revelations. An opera has already been composed about him—'William, Tell.'"

Russia has 650,000 hereditary nobles and 380,000 who are not hereditary, and thousands of both classes are very poor.

Embroideries of many colors will be the rage this winter. They will be worked on cloth and cashmere as well as silk.

Speaking of the absconding Chicago banker, the Brooklyn Union-Argus remarks: "He is not dead, but sneaked."

That movement to send 50,000 colored people to Liberia has thus far only succeeded in sending a dozen or more to jail.

So long as the Russians continue to plan for themselves, instead of accepting the advice of American journalists, they must expect disaster and defeat.

You can't find an old scrap of lace or a faded bow in any store in New York which isn't labeled: "Once worn by the Empress Eugenie."

A Mississippi doctor has found a substitute for quinine. He binds a lump of ice on a patient's spine, and the shakes let go and start for Arkansas.

If the Russians would only say that they were whipped when they are whipped, and the Turks would acknowledge defeat when defeated, one could have more patience in putting the tape line on the long names of generals.

"The game will be up when Gabriel trumps."—New Orleans Picayune. "And with ace high you will pass in your chips."—Boston Post. "And follow suit with the deuce against you."—Boston Commercial. And be ordered up with a flush.

New York Commercial:—"The Herald now believes that Osman Pacha is Gail Hamilton. Who, then, is Sitting Bull?—Buffalo Express. This question perplexes us, we confess. But it must be either Susan B. Anthony or Dr. Mary Walker."

Cartersville (Georgia) Express: The humblest can do something toward making the local paper interesting. If you cannot run away with another man's wife, or be a defaulting bank clerk, you can at least step on a watermelon rind and sprain your ear.

A torpedo is no doubt a very necessary and pleasant instrument of war, but it seems as if its usefulness may be seriously marred by a machine invented at Chatham, England, dockyard. The machine consists of a shield to protect the bottom of a ship, and can be raised, and lowered in five minutes. It takes up very little room on the top of an iron-clad.

ELEGANT HAIR is woman's crowning beauty. When it fades, she fades as well. While it is kept bright, her personal attractions are still maintained. By preserving the hair fresh and vigorous a youthful appearance is continued through many years. Those who grieve over their fading hair turning gray too early, should know that Ayer's Hair Vigor prevents it, and restores gray or faded hair to its natural color. It is a clear and healthful preparation, containing neither oil, dye, nor anything deleterious, and imparts to the scalp what is most needed—a sense of pleasant and delightful freedom from seurf or dandruff.—New Berne (N. C.) Times.

The Working Christian will hereafter be known as the Baptist Courier. It has donned a new dress, and will be edited by such able writers as Prof. J. L. Reynolds, Dr. Richard Furman and Dr. J. C. Hiden. Mrs. Harley will preside over the Family and Children's Departments, and Rev. Messrs. Lamar and Strickland will conduct the Mission Department.
