PROSPECTUS.

HISTORY of South Carolina,

—BY—

REV. R. LATHAN.

SO soon as a sufficient number of subscribers are secured to warrant the enterprise, I propose publishing a

HISTORY OF SOUTH CAROLINA.

The work will embrace a complete history of the State from the first discovery of the soil; the settlement of the territory at different periods; the history of the State under the Proprietary Government, under the Royal Government, and through the Revolutionary period, or to the close of the Revolutionary war.

The movements of the several Whig military chiefs are accurately traced, and the several battles fought during the Revolution are minutely described.

The whole will make a book of more than 700 pages of the size of Stephens' History of the United States. It will be printed on good paper, with clear type, and bound in substantial cloth. To subscribers the book will be delivered for FOUR DOLLARS per copy.

Persons desiring to canvass for the work are requested to communicate with the author at Yorkville, S. C., for terms,

Thus standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and as satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff. It gives the head a cooling, soothing sensation of great comfort, and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

A. A. Hayes, M. D., State Assayer of Massachusetts, says, "The constituents are pure, and carefully selected for excellent quality; and I consider it the BEST PREPARATION for its intended purposes."

Price, One Dollar.

Buckingham's Dye FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

VEGETINE

Rev. J. P. Ludlow Writes:

178 Baltic Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., November 14, 1874.

Mr. H. R. STEVENS:
Dear Sir—From personal benefit received by me, as well as from personal knowledge of those whose cases thereby have seemed almost miraculous, I can most heartily and sincerely recommend the Vegetine, for the complaints which it is claimed to cure.

JAMES P. LUDLOW, Late Pastor
Calvary Baptist Church, Sacramento, Cal.

Vegetine. She Rests Well.

South Poland, Me., Oct. 11, 1876

Mr. H. R. STEVENS:
Dear Sir—I have been sick two years with the liver complaint, and during that time have taken a great many different medicines, but none of them did me any good. I was unable to eat, and had no appetite. Since taking the Vegetine I feel a great deal better, and can recommend it to all who are troubled with the same complaint. Yours respectfully, Mrs. ALBERT BROWN.

Witness of the above, Mr. George M.
Vaughan, Medford, Mass.

Vegetine. Good for the Children.

Boston Home, 11 Tyler Street, Boston, April, 1876.

Mr. H. R. STEVENS:
Dear Sir—We feel that the children in our home have been greatly benefited by the Vege-tine, and we have been given to them from time to time, especially those troubled with the Scourge. With respect, Mrs. N. WORMELL, Marston.

Vegetine. Rev. O. T. Walker Says:

Providence, R. I., 161 Transit Street, H. R. STEVENS, Esq.

I feel bound to express with my signature the high value I place upon your Vegetine. My family have a credit for the last six years, in my mind, and I believe it is invaluable, and I recommend it to all who may need an invigorating, renovating tonic. O. T. WALKER, Pastor of South Square Church, Boston.

Vegetine. Nothing Equal to It.

South Salem, Mass., Nov. 14, 1876.

Mr. H. R. STEVENS:
Dear Sir—I have been troubled with scrufulous, and liver complaint for three years.
Nothing ever did me good until I commenced using the Vegetine. I am now getting along first-rate, and still using the Vegetine. I consider there is nothing equal to it for such complaints. You may recommend it to everybody. Yours truly, Mrs. LIZZIE M. PARKMAN,
No. 16, Lagrange St., South Salem, Mass.

Vegetine. Recommend it Heartily.

SOUTH BOSTON.

Mr. H. R. STEVENS:
Dear Sir—I have taken several bottles of your Vegetine, and am convinced it is a valuable remedy for dyspepsia, kidney complaint, and general debility of the system. I can heartily recommend it to all sufferers from the above complaints. Yours respectfully, Mrs. SUSAN PARKER.

THE INDIAN WAR ENDED.

MILES AND HIS BRAVE MEN CROWN- ED WITH VICTORY.

A Bitter Siege—Five Days in Sleet and Snow—Humanity of the Indians toward the Wounded Soldiers.

By Telegraph to the New York Herald.

FORT BENTON, M. T., Oct. 8—3, A. M.
Via HELENA, Oct. 10, 1877.

At this moment, comes a courier to General Terry from General Miles' camp on Snake Creek, announcing an event which arouses a cheer in the tents which will be re-echoed throughout the country.
Miles has subdued the Nez Perces.
Hurrah! A braver band of Indians never upheld the fame and prowess of their aboriginal race.

During the charge on the first day, in which the companies of the Fifth infantry and Seventh cavalry participated, the number of killed and wounded soldiers was sixty-seven. More than fifty warriors too bit their last morsel from the dust of the ravine, where they were confined in holes and burrows for three days and nights. They stayed all through the day and night previous to the surrender with untiring pertinity. Their scouts had gone to Sitting Bull for assistance, but had not succeeded in returning to the Nez Perces camp. Twice Joseph had offered to surrender, and once his disposition was opposed by his highest chiefs. White Bird objected to surrendering, because he anticipated that he and all the tribe would be regarded as prisoners, and put in handcuffs. "No no get in trap," said this redoubtable copperskin; "no use prison; better die." But on the 5th, Joseph made a treaty.
White Bird and the rest of the minor chiefs were by this time no where. Their followers were as willing to surrender as Joseph was, and the secret of the capitulation must be sought in a total error on the part of the savages as well as in the gallantry of General Miles' troops. The Indians did not dream at first that they were fighting any other than General Howard's troops, which they had before encountered. Joseph had not yet learned that he had General Gibbon at Big Hole. In fact, the Indians all of them had so insufficient a knowledge of the action of the United States government that they were so surprised when they found a new general in front of them that they took him for a guerilla. They did not identify him with the nation.
Overwhelmed, defeated and starving, they at length succumbed.

THE SURRENDER.

General Miles had so carefully placed his troops that not a man of his command was killed after the assault on the first day, but the savages, notwithstanding all their arts, continually suffered. On the 5th, the day when they surrendered, there remained about three hundred and fifty men, squaws and children in the Indian pits. Of these about one hundred and sixty were warriors.
At half-past two in the afternoon of that day Joseph came into General Miles' camp, and shook hands and proposed a surrender, which was instantly granted. When the scouts left, General Miles was receiving personally the arms and ammunition from each of the Indians.
Each warrior, as he passed, said,
"How," and tendered his trophies.
One added the words, "Bad medicine; better next time."

INDIAN KINDNESS TO AN ENEMY.

Up to the last hours of the fight the Indians never ceased to belie all the stories that have been told of the savage. One Nez Perces chief approached a wounded soldier at midnight and said in broken English, "Poor boy, you're too young to go to war. I no kill you." Then he put a blanket under his head and left him. General Miles in return ordered all the wounded Indians to be well cared for. His surgeons are as alert with our own brave wounded. One soldier exclaimed on the evening of the 5th, "God damn the arm. Let that chief have his leg off first. He's a boaster." The soldier's wound in his arm proved to be mortal.

General Miles intends to start today for the Tongue River with the wounded of his command and of Joseph's tribe and prisoners. This ends the most remarkable Indian fight on record. I am forced to omit several more particulars, owing to the necessity of despatching the courier.

At the End of the Rainbow.

From All The Year Round.

According to popular belief, the extremities of a rainbow always touch streams, whence it draws water, by means of two large golden dishes. That is why it rains for three days after the appearance of a rainbow, because the water must fall again on the earth. Whoever arrives at the right moment at the spot where the rainbow is drinking, can take possession of the golden dish, which reflects all the colors of the rainbow; but if nobody is there the dishes are again drawn up into the clouds. Some say that the rainbow always lets a dish fall.
This once happened at Reutlingen, in Swabia. It broke in several pieces, but the finder received a hundred gulden for it. At Tubing-en, people used to run to the end of the rainbow, which appeared to be resting over the Neckar or the Steinlach, to secure the golden dish.
Usually it is considered wrong to sell the dish, which ought to be kept as an heirloom in the family, for it brings good luck. A shepherd in the Swabian Alps once found such a dish, and he never afterward lost a sheep. An unfortunate native of Heubach, who sold the treasure at a high price, was struck dumb on the spot. Small round gold coins, marked with a cross or star, are frequently found in Swabia, and the peasants declare that these were manufactured from the rainbow dishes by the Romans when they invaded Germany. In the Black Forest, the rainbow uses a golden goblet, which is afterward dropped. A shoe thrown into a rainbow comes back filled with gold. The Sorvains have a theory that passing beneath a rainbow changes the sex—men become women and vice versa.

THE SALT LAKE Tribune publishes a list of the divorcees granted by the Probate Court of that place, and it foots up in the thousands. It is estimated that quite 5,000 divorcees have been granted by the twenty Probate Courts of Utah, and most of them were to parties in the States and some in Canada.
Among them is Brick Pomeroy, whose matrimonial ventures seem to have been unfortunate. It has been going on for several years, and has been so quietly conducted by professional divorce lawyers in the leading cities, who had the necessary legal connections in Utah, that the public had no knowledge of the wholesale separation of ill-assorted married pairs that was flourishing among the Mormons.
It's some satisfaction to know that these divorcees have been set aside by the courts of the States whenever brought to the judicial test.

A RELIGIOUS CONGRESSMAN.—On last Sunday afternoon, Hon. John H. Evins, member elect to Congress, tendered his resignation as superintendent of the Sunday-school of the Presbyterian church of this place, on account of his public duties requiring him to be in Washington for several months during this winter.
Col. Evins has filled this position most acceptably for several years, and had so endeared himself to the children that it was a great trial to them to give him up. His remarks to the children were tender, beautiful and touching, and produced a lasting impression upon their young minds and hearts.—Spartanburg Herald.

GEN. M. C. BUTLER.—And apropos of General Butler, if his Northern enemies and detractors could have heard his speech in court a few days back in defence of a negro woman charged with murdering her husband, they would have hung their heads in shame and confusion. The much slandered hero of the Hamburg riots uttered a magnificent defence of negro character for affection, fidelity and kindness of heart, dwelling particularly upon their splendid loyalty to our women and children during the war. And these were no now sentiments with him, either.
The woman was acquitted.—Edgefield Advertiser.

and twenty-three pounds of cotton
