The Pope was photographed recently. He wrote under the portrait, "My last picture."

Lawrence Barrett, the actor, began life as a printer. Poor Edwin Adams was originally a carpenter.

Mr. J. N. Gloucester, a wealthy colored man of New York, has been denied admission to medical lectures in Bellevue College.

Vanderbilt gave his daughter a $50,000 diamond necklace. Norfolk gave his bride a pearl necklace once worn by Mary Queen of Scots.

Thomas Jefferson thought tomatoes, which he brought to America, were fit only for pigs, and yet Mr. Tilden wishes us to love Jefferson.

It has been discovered that the higher up you go the further you can see down into a body of water. Victims of the last steamboat explosion will please write out their observations.

A newspaper thus heads the report of a fire: "Feast of the Fire Fiend—The Forked-Tongued Demon Licks with its Lurid Breath a Lumber Pile!—Are the Scenes of Boston and Chicago to be Repeated?—Loss, $150."

"My wife," remarks one Benedict to another, "has just the loveliest head of hair you ever saw. When she lets it down it reaches to her waist." "That's nothing," replied the other; "When my wife lets hers down it falls to the floor."

The Western papers learn that the late Mr. Conbaugh, who committed suicide in Chicago last week, was to have been Mr. Tilden's secretary of the treasury. Marked copies of these papers ought to be sent to Mr. Tilden, so that he can know what he intended to do.

On Saturday the President signed a joint resolution of Congress, the first since his accession to office. The gold pen with which he did this little deed was presented to Representative Rainey, of South Carolina, and the country is still safe.

Married women are contrary. The colder the night is the oftener they make the old man get up to look for burglars. And that reminds us that when a man is prowling around the house in his bare feet, half asleep, and carrying a lamp, it would not be a herculean job for an able-bodied cracksmen to knock him into the middle of next week.

Every young man who is so fat he can't tie his own necktie, and whose face is as round and about as large as a dinner plate, wears a helmet hat, and the burlesque sits on the top of his head like a grape on an orange. The spectacle of a fat man in a helmet hat is what makes men murderers.

While Senator Maxey, of Texas, was speaking in the Senate, on Wednesday, Senator Davis, of Illinois, who wants to hear everything that is said and see everything that is done, left his own seat to get nearer the Texan. Forgetting himself, he took the risk of sitting down in one of the ordinary Senate chairs. The result was that the cane-seating, as well as the legs, of the chair gave way, and the next moment four hundred pounds of solid Senatorial tissue were gently dumped on the floor.

They won't let Governor Hampton alone. A Louisville correspondent says it is reported that he is soon to marry a beautiful wealthy widow, prominent as one of the leaders of Louisville society. She has two beautiful daughters, the elder of whom, lovely as a dream, made her debut last winter, and is now Louisville's bright particular belle. The mother is almost as youthful in appearance as the daughter, tall and elegant in figure, and exquisitely graceful, brown-eyed, with a mass of sunny brown hair, she would make a bride of whom even Wade Hampton might be proud. She and the lion governor met at the Lee Memorial ball, at White Sulphur, last summer.

Fifty colored families in the settlement known as "Gittany," Jackson county, Florida, subsist on the proceeds of stolen cotton. Many farmers in the neighborhood have lost from five to fifteen bales each by theft.

In consequence of the passage of an ordinance forcing them to sell in the market and nowhere else, the butchers of Dallas, Texas, rented all the markethouse stalls, closed them up, and now refuse to sell any meat at all.

The Spanish Cortes will be convoked for the beginning of January, when a bill will be submitted to them approving the King's marriage with his cousin and granting a special vote for the ceremony.
