FROM WOODWARD'S.—There has been no unusual occurrence in this section since last report. The health of the neighborhood is generally good. The delightful weather, for the last ten days, has enabled the farmers to get most of their small grain planted, and has caused many a boll of cotton to open that would not have opened otherwise. Yet the cotton crop has turned out much shorter than our most experienced farmers anticipated. C.

FEASTERVILLE NOTES.—There will be a hot supper prepared at the residence of Mrs. R. W. Coleman on the evening of the 26th inst., for the benefit of Liberty Church. The admission of one person will be fifty cents; for a gentleman and lady seventy five cents. A large and orderly crowd is expected to be on hand, for Feasterville seldom fails in her appointments of amusements. There will be good music and plenty of dancing this winter, but we hardly think there will be a single wedding in the vicinity.

The readers of THE NEWS AND HERALD, it is true, are acquainted with the chase of A. S. Wallace to Feasterville, on the 29th of September of last year, by Major Woodward accompanied by Col. Cameron and Mr. Davis; but there is one circumstance connected with the occurrence that has not yet been told. It was probably approaching ten o'clock, p. m., when the crowd so hurriedly gotten together had received its last additions, and the orators of the night were declaiming, to the full extent of modern eloquence, in delineating the dolorous condition of the country; exhorting Wallace and laying bare the hosts of giant wrongs perpetrated by the Radicals of this county and State, when, all of a sudden, the clock of Mr. Coleman was struck dumb, and since then has positively refused to keep time a single moment. The clock had been steadily running for thirty years before that night. So if somebody is called upon to make good Mr. Coleman's damages, no one need be surprised. M.
