

Chronic Dyspepsia Cured.

AFTER suffering for nearly thirty years from dyspepsia, Mrs. H. E. Dugdale, wife of a prominent business man of Warsaw, N. Y., writes: "For 28 years, I was a constant sufferer from dyspepsia and a weak stomach. The lightest food produced distress, causing severe pain and the formation of gas. No matter how careful of my diet I suffered agonizing pain after eating. I was treated by many physicians and tried numerous remedies without permanent help. Two years ago I began taking Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills and Nervine. Within a week I commenced improving, and persisting in the treatment I was soon able to eat what I liked, with no evil effects. I keep them at hand and a single dose dispels any old symptoms."

BAILEY IS FOR BRYAN. CHICAGO PLATFORM OF '96 SHOULD BE READOPTED.

The Leader of the Minority of the House Believes That the Nebraskan Has Grown and Is Now Assured of a Renomination—Mr. Bryan Is a True American, a Patriot, and a Man the People Can Always Trust.

Congressman Joseph W. Bailey, of Texas, the House leader of the Democracy, has come out flatly for the renomination of William Jennings Bryan for President in 1900. This is an announcement of considerable political importance, coming from the source it does. Mr. Bailey has just returned from a stumping tour through the First Congressional District of Missouri, and has felt the pulse of the Democracy of that state, besides having recent close relationship with Democratic leaders from all parts of the country.

"It seems to be the almost unanimous opinion of the Democrats with whom I have been brought in contact personally and otherwise," said Mr. Bailey, "that the Democratic party should commit itself unreservedly to the re-adoption of the Chicago platform of 1896. The almost universal desire appears to be to add nothing to and subtract nothing from that platform, but to accept it without qualification or reservation as the principles of the Democratic party for 1900. It will be impossible to disassociate Mr. Bryan from that platform. He is a part of the fight of 1896, and to adopt the platform of last year and refuse the nomination to Mr. Bryan would be a serious mistake.

"Mr. Bryan is identified with the Chicago platform, and with issues of 1896 indissolubly. No man can so fully represent that platform in 1900 as the candidate of the Chicago convention of last July. It is my judgment that his renomination is a foregone conclusion. Mr. Bryan is a better Democrat now than he was when he was nominated, and he appears to be settling down upon a basis that entitles him to the support of all Democrats who stand squarely upon the undying principles of the party that was founded by Jefferson. I differed from Mr. Bryan in many of his earlier opinions and convictions, but since his nomination he has kept himself in everything that he has said and done strictly within the limitations of the Chicago platform, and that platform is good enough for me or any other Democrat to stand on. When Mr. Bryan first entered Congress, six years ago, he was a tariff specialist, his studies having been confined largely to economic questions. Since then he has broadened out immensely, and I know of no man who more fully represents the popular idea of pure Democracy than he does. He is a true American, a patriot, and a man whom the Democrats of the country feel that they can trust. The Democratic party to-day is more united than I have ever known it to be. The Populists who left the party because of Cleveland and his policies have returned and are with us heart and soul. The middle-of-the-road Populists are still against us, as they have always been, because we have not subscribed to their extreme views, and the gold Democrats are still an uncertain quantity. They will have to come to us, however, or go over to the Republicans. We cannot afford to yield to either extreme, and must stand upon the platform of 1896. Ninety-nine per cent. of the United States hold that view."

FIRE IN CHERAW.

Hosiery Mills Destroyed, With Their Stocks of Products.

Cheraw, June 17.—Special: Cheraw is grieving over its heavy loss by this morning's fire. The alarm was sounded between midnight and 1 o'clock, and it was found that the flames were devouring the large plant of the Cheraw Machine Works. Soon followed the Finlayson Hosiery Mills, next the Cheraw Knitting Mills and then it looked as if the South Carolina Braiding Works would follow, but fortunately this building escaped, as did the warehouse and Cheraw and Darlington depot, both of which were threatened at one time.

A large amount of stock was on hand in all the works preparatory to the filling of all orders, which this season were very large. The buildings destroyed were part brick and part wood. The heat was so oppressive that they all went like chaff. The blow is felt heavily by all, but particularly by the employees. The insurance was only partial. The machine works had a large number of orders for delivery in a few weeks. The Knitting Mills had on hands orders for over five thousand hose, and the different enterprises were never more encouraged than recently. The insurance is divided in several companies. The burned enterprises may arrange with other like ones elsewhere to fill the orders on hand.

Taken all in all this is the most disastrous and far-reaching conflagration the town has had since Sherman burned it in 1865. The stock in the different companies was divided into small blocks, so fortunately the loss is not so very heavy on any one individual. The origin of the fire is unknown, but supposed it to be from a spark from an engine, as it was burning on top under the roof when discovered by the watchman. The watchman gave the alarm promptly, but it being late at night sufficient assistance did not reach the spot in time to save any of the stock on hand except some unfinished hosiery.

A Monster Petition.

Washington, June 14.—In the area in front of the Speaker's rostrum when the House met today was a monster petition appealing to Congress to recognize the Cuban insurgents as belligerents. It contained over 6,000,000 signatures. The petition was wound about the hub of a wheel framed as to allow it to freely revolve. It had been in circulation throughout the United States for about six months and was sent to Congressman Sulzer of New York for presentation to Congress by Franz Mayer, a resident of his district.

Without transacting any business the House adjourned until Thursday.
