While Services are in Progress at Salem Church, the Sills Give Way and the Crowd Rushed for the Door.

Editor The Enterprise:

There was a panic in the Methodist church (Salem) last night. A protracted meeting was going on there, - conducted by the pastor, Rev. S. W. Henry, and Rev. Mr. Creech of Chester,-and last night was to bring it to a close. As is always the case there on such occasions there was an immense crowd present. About seven hundred were crowded inside the church, including between seventy-five and a hundred who were in the gallery. Just after services began, while Mr. Creech was singing a solo, with organ accompaniment, some sleepers gave way on one side of The church, caused by the weight from preaching at Mt. Carmel down to attend the funeral. on one of the posts that supported the gallery. Immediately following the crash there was a dead calm. The next instant people here and there and especially here and there and especially on the side on which the break occurred began to spring from their seats; then the whole contine this section is their seats; then the whole contine their seats is the seats of the seats in the se gan to move (it has long been thought that the church was not as safe as it seould be) : then here fine. and there women and children began to scream—then a panic day's Ledger that Messers. Barseized the crowd and it began a ton, Beckham and Cauthen got wild, mad rush for the doors. The their heads "cracked." But it did ministers and two or three others not knock John Gary Evans out who had kept their heads cried to of their heads if it did knock Mr. the paople to sit down, that there Barton bald-headed. Mr. Cauthen was no danger, but they were paid no attention to; in fact, they were not heard, strong-voiced men though they are, the noise was so great. People were talking, tage on what is known as the screaming, crying, praying, and Kibler place. It will be occupied added to it all was the tramping by Mr. E. T. "The anarchists of wealth," who have turned Professor Andrews out of the presidency of Brown University, didn't stop to think about "that reasonable liberty of utterance, in the absence of which the most ample endow ment for an educational institution would have but little worth." What is the use now of Brown University? It has become a mere adjunct of the Rothchild pawnshop, to teach despotism and abet industrial slavery. That is the meaning of momentary contraction to the gold standard.

Insuring people's lives, and then killing them to get the insurance money, is almost as dishonorable as putting up jobs to contract the currency. It does less general harm, however, and is not such insidious cruelty.
