THE TRIAL OF THORN.

For the Murder of Wm. Guldensuppe.

New York, Nov. 8.—The first day of the trial of the barber, Martin Thorn, for the murder of Wm. Guldensuppe, a bath rubber, was entirely taken up in securing a jury, and, much to the surprise of all those interested, the efforts of the lawyers for the prosecution and defence were well rewarded, as twelve good men and true had been sworn to try the case when the hour for adjournment was reached.

The trial began shortly after half-past 9 o'clock this morning in the Queens county court house, Long Island City, before Judge Wilmot M. Smith, who is presiding at the unfinished term of the criminal bench of the supreme court of Queens county. District Attorney W. J. Youngs, assisted by A. N. Weller and Assistant District Attorney George Davidson, appeared for the prosecution, and Lawyers Wm. F. Howe and Joseph Moss, of the firm of Howe & Hummell, had charge of the defense of Thorn, to which they had been assigned by the authorities of New York and Queens county.

Although Thorn was jointly indicted with Mrs. Augusta Nack for the murder, it was decided to try them separately, and District Attorney Youngs made up his mind to try Thorn first, as the circumstantial evidence on which the people depend for conviction is stronger against the man than the woman. In case the prosecution fails to convict Thorn, it is not unlikely that Mrs. Nack may never be brought to trial.

Interest in The Trial.

At an early hour this morning the court house on Jackson avenue, in the rear of which is the county jail, was besieged with people, anxious to gain admission to the court room. This room at the utmost could hardly accommodate 300 people comfortably, but long before 9 o'clock every seat and available point of vantage was occupied. The main body of the court house within the enclosure was reserved for the lawyers in the case and the newspaper reporters and artists, of which there were over three score in attendance. The side galleries were also filled with an anxious crowd, one of the most prominent on-lookers being Marie Barbel, the Italian girl who after being sentenced to death for the murder of her lover, was acquitted on a second trial. This young woman was married a few days ago, and to-day her husband sat beside her, and both evinced a keen interest in everything that took place.

An Intelligent Jury.

District Attorney Youngs did not expect to fill the jury box before Wednesday, but both he and the lawyers for the defense worked hard and earnestly, without quibbling or wasting a moment, and both sides were satisfied tonight that they had procured an intelligent and trustworthy jury.

Throughout the day Thorn was very cool, and at times looked to be the most unconcerned person in the court. Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock the trial proper will be begun, and District Attorney Youngs will briefly present the case. The lawyers think all the evidence will not be in for at least two weeks.

Three Shots, Three Cuts.

Last Sunday Duf Marshall and Bill Montgomery, both colored, had a stiff altercation in which Marshall was cut in three places, once across the left side of his neck, running down near his throat; another time across his left temple, and a third time from his left ear to the corner of his mouth. Montgomery was shot three times by Marshall, the balls all taking effect in the right arm. The trouble started about their wives and occurred near Mr. Sam Ballard's place.

Both parties have sworn out warrants, and a preliminary hearing will be had before Magistrate Burns Friday.

Dr. Poovey sewed up Marshall's wounds and pronounces them serious, though not necessary mortal.

Notice.

All parties indebted to us, especially those whom we have carried over from last year and longer, must come forward and settle at once as no farther notice will be given. Remember we are not doing a banking business and therefore people owing us must pay up.

H. J. GREGORY & Co.

A Runaway Team.

Mr. George Kennington's team (two mules) got frightened at the L. & C. train Monday while standing at the cotton platform, and dashed off up town, throwing his little son out of the wagon. They followed Main street till they got to Arch street. For some mule-reason they decided to quit Main street and try Arch, it may have been because it is down hill. So down the hill they went at break-neck speed till they got to Catawba street. Then they started up that and kept going till they were turned into a back lot just after passing Gregory & Co's stables. The wagon was not damaged or the mules hurt. The boy was bruised up a little from his fall.

Stop My Paper.

After you get angry and stop your paper, just poke your finger into water, pull it out, and look at the hole. Then you will know how sadly you are missed. A man who thinks a paper cannot thrive without his support, ought to go off and stay awhile. When he comes back, half his friends will not know he has gone and the other half will not care, while the world at large kept no account of his movements. You will find things you cannot endorse in every paper. The "Book of Books" is often very plain and hits some hard raps, but if you were to get mad and burn your Bible, the hundreds of presses would still go on printing it. So when you stop your paper and call the editor names, the paper will still be published, and what is more, you will read it on the sly.—Cycle.

A Narrow Call.

The dwelling of Mr. W. B. Miller of the Primus section narrowly escaped destruction by fire last Thursday. It caught afire from the stove flue and was in a brisk blaze when it was discovered by his wife, who, with the children, succeeded in extinguishing the fire after a lively fight. Mr. Miller was in the field at work.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

One little babe less on earth,
One little angel more in Heaven.
God took little Mary Ethel, child of Mr. and Mrs. S. Z. McMaken, of Heath Spring, S. C. unto Himself, on Thursday the 16th of Sept. about noon. God loaned her long enough to twine the cords of love, strongly around the hearts of the fond parents and caused the deepest sorrow when the sad hour of parting came.

She had brightened the home for one year as an only daughter can. May your little hands, dear Ethel, beckon to the loved ones, and be the means of drawing the entire family into the "bright Beyond," where the sad hour of parting never comes.

African Conference.

The N. E. South Carolina Annual Conference will convene in St. Paul A. M. E. church on December the 8th, 1897. Bishop A. Grant, D. D., of Belmont, Philadelphia, will preside and he will be assisted by Bishop R. W. Arnett, D. D., of Wilberforce, Ohio. We beg the friends and good people of this town to help us in entertaining the Conference. The number of ministers will be 125, more or less.

The Cotton Market Abroad

New York, Nov. 8.—Walter T. Miller, treasurer of the New York cotton exchange, who returned from Europe a few days ago, made the following statement to-day concerning the cotton market abroad: "I found the general situation with regard to trade and commerce favorable and by no means unsatisfactory, as I understand has been the impression in America for the past month or two. Certainly in England and on the continent just the contrary was the case. As to the prices of manufactured goods, of course buyers decline to buy long stocks as long as the south persists in offering cotton down. When enough of the cotton is marketed to relieve the producer and he feels able to hold some cotton buyers of manufactured goods and traders in cotton will probably be anxious to invest in both."

Female Strikers Arrested.

Philadelphia, Nov. 8.—Five young women from the ranks of the striking shirt makers were arrested to-day, charged by three shirt manufacturers with conspiracy to injure their business and assaulting girls who desire to continue work. They were held in bail for trial.
