

NEWBOLD KILLS A RESPECTABLE CITIZEN.

It is Claimed to Have Been Accidental.

The following account of the shooting is taken from The Greenville News:

Spartanburg, S. C., Nov. 10.—J. Henry Turner, a most quiet, gentle, peaceable man, lies dead at his home this morning, slain by the hand of State detective Newbold. Mr. Turner lived four or five miles above town. He started to take the morning train for the State fair. He left home in a buggy with W. C. Bruce, a young white man, who has been living with him some time. Neither was armed with anything unless it was a pocket knife. They had nothing in the buggy. As they were passing Stevens' Grove, colored church, about two and a half miles north of town, slowly trotting on the grade, two white men ran out from near the church and followed after the buggy. One moved faster than the other and soon passed in front. Bruce was driving and before he could check his mule the man fired twice, one ball entering the neck of Turner. He then said, "I've got to search that buggy" and he called for the other man in the rear to come and make the search. He kept his pistol out all the time in a threatening position. Bruce told him to search, which he did, before the other man came up. Bruce then said: "You've shot him." The reply was: "Yes, he's shot, and you had better carry him to a doctor." Bruce then came on to town and the man in the rear came with him. That man was Constable Howie. When they reached Dr. Dean's Turner was dead. He never spoke after he was shot. Dr. Dean told Bruce the best thing to do was to carry him back home. He did this and Howie went with him. Howie said Newbold did the shooting but he was mistaken in the man. Newbold paid no attention to the matter, no more than if he had shot a wild animal. It is said that Newbold and three others are traveling around in a covered wagon making raids wherever they can. No arrests have been made up to noon.

Mr. Turner was one of the best behaved men of his community. For years he has been a consistent member of the church. The most of our citizens are very indignant.

The shooting took place about 5 a. m. The coroner will hold his inquest to-day. It is said that Newbold will not report here but that he will turn up in Columbia to-night. It is supposed that he ordered a horse and buggy early after the shooting from a livery stable here through another person and that he will take the train for Columbia and attend the fair festivities to-night and to-morrow.

Governor Ellerbe to-day received the following telegram with reference to the Newbold shooting:

"Newbold accidentally killed Turner near here this morning. Newbold held two pistols in his hands and shot to scare the mule. The pistol in his left hand was accidentally fired. When his boots men arrive Newbold will surrender."

A GREENVILLE COTTON EXCHANGE MAN IN THE TOILS.

A SIMPLE SWINDLE.

He is Alleged to Have Tried on His Patrons—Is Caught. His Connections With Porterfield & Co.

Greenville News, Nov. 11.

P. A. Gardener, the senior member of the firm of Gardener & Co., who opened up a cotton exchange in this city several weeks ago, was arrested yesterday in Spartanburg on a warrant for breach of trust with fraudulent intent, sworn out before Magistrate Hodges by sundry citizens of Greenville.

For some time Mr. Gardener has been under the keen, cold eye of suspicion, and to a few, especially who have had dealings with him, his arrest will not give rise to any exclamations of surprise.

There is nothing, especially ingenious in the plan which Mr. Gardner pursued in swindling his patrons. Persons who prefer to remain nameless in newspaper columns, intrusted certain sums of money to him and specifically stated that said money should be invested in certain stocks of speculative purposes. Instead of manipulating this money as directed Mr. Gardner coolly pocketed it, leaving the gentlemen who trusted him, to infer that their cash had been applied in a legal and proper manner.

Matters came to a crisis last Saturday when a partner of the exchange, learning that Gardner was financially "shaky," went to him and requested the return of a check which he had deposited with him some time before for the purpose of making a deal in stocks. Mr. Gardner replied that the check had been made over to W. A. Porterfield & Co., who handled his business for him. The suspicious citizen then enquired at the bank and was somewhat startled to learn that the check had been cashed by P. A. Gardner, who proceeded to pocket the "dough."

A little quiet investigation began, and Mr. Gardner, becoming fearful of the role he was playing, skipped over to Spartanburg yesterday to wait "until the clouds rolled by." Immediately the wires tingled with an order to the sheriff of Spartanburg for his arrest. It so came to pass and the prisoner arrived in the city this morning at 1 o'clock and was taken to the county jail, where he now languishes.

How to Grow Mammoth Cabbage Heads.

The editor of The Herald is not a farmer, but he has laid some claims to his being a gardener, or at any rate a successful cabbage grower. He believes he can sustain that claim by several gentlemen who have from time to time requested that he should publish his method of cultivation. It is simple enough and it followed faithfully the gardener will have the satisfaction of growing cabbage heads weighing from 10 to 25 pounds each. We have produced them weighing more than 30 pounds. Our method is to select a well-drained plot in the garden where the sun's rays will not be obstructed. In November, when the ground may be found in favorable condition, broadcast over the plot a heavy coating of stable manure, break up thoroughly to the full depth of a spading fork, pulverizing all clods. Let stand until about the middle of February, when another full coat of manure should be broadcasted and the land again spaded as before, again breaking all clods. When the plants are ready to be put out the first of April, give the plot another spading, then spread over the ground a coating of wood ashes and dig in lightly with a rake. Place the plants, if Drumhead, Marblehead or Flat Dutch, three feet apart each way; if the smaller or earlier varieties, 21 feet apart each way will do. After the plants have taken root and show evidences of growth, work them deep and thoroughly with a dig fork, pulling the earth toward the plants. Follow ten days or two weeks later with a thorough hoeing, but not as deep as before. After this keep the grass and weeds down by light but frequent cultivation with a rake. If the weather be as reasonable as usual, we think we can promise a most satisfactory yield of very fine cabbages.

If any person should try this method we would be glad for them to report results.—Rock Hill Herald.

ONE OF TWO WAYS.

The bladder was created for one purpose, namely, a receptacle for the urine, and as such it is not liable to any form of disease except by one of two ways. The first way is from imperfect action of the kidneys. The second way is from careless local treatment of other diseases.

CHIEF CAUSE.

Unhealthy urine from unhealthy kidneys is the chief cause of bladder troubles. So the womb, like the bladder, was created for one purpose, and if not doctored too much is not liable to weakness or disease, except in rare cases. It is situated back of and very close to the bladder, therefore any pain or inconvenience manifested in the kidneys, back, bladder or urinary passage is often, by mistake, attributed to female weakness or womb trouble of some sort. The error is easily made and may be as easily avoided. To find out correctly, set your urine aside for twenty four hours; a sediment or settling indicates kidney or bladder trouble. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy is soon realized. If you need a medicine you should have the best. At druggists fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail. Mention the ENTERPRISE and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.
