

THEODOR'S
BLACK-DRAUGHT FOR CONSTIPATION

Constipation is nothing more than a clogging of the bowels and nothing less than vital stagnation or death if not relieved. Every constipated sufferer could realize that he is allowing his body to rot in his system, he would soon get relief. Constipation invites all kinds of diseases. Headaches, biliousness, indigestion, and many other ailments disappear when constipation is removed. Theodor's Black-Draught thoroughly cleans out the bowels in an easy and pleasant manner without the purging or colic or other violent cathartics.

Be sure that you get the original Theodor's Black-Draught made by The Chattanooga Medicine Co. Sold by all druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 packages.

Stocks, Ark., May 25, 1903.
I cannot recommend Theodor's Black-Draught highly enough. I keep it in my house all the time and have used it for the last ten years. I never gave my children any other laxative. I think I could never be able to work without it on account of the trouble with constipation. Your medicine is all that keeps me up.

A SHOCKING MURDER.

An Ash County Man Kills His Brother-in-Law and Takes His Body Home.

Jefferson Recorder.

There has just come to light one of the most horrible murders ever committed in this part of the State. David Wilson on Monday night of last week stabbed his brother-in-law, Alfred Wilson, and killed him.

The parties lived near Sutherland, in this county, just this side of the Tennessee line on what is called Brush Fork creek. Both were men of some property and had married sisters and were living about a mile from each other. They had lived as friends. On the evening mentioned Alfred had some whiskey and fell in with David on the public road. They got to drinking together. Night came on and they went into Dave's house. Later they came out of the house and started off, when David's wife followed, but her husband turned and told her not to come on. She nevertheless followed; got behind a post and could just see Alfred as he fell, her husband falling on top. She then rushed up to them when her husband bade her go and call Alfred's wife and tell her Alfred was dead drunk and to come after him. She went and soon Alfred's wife came, but David had gone into his own house, left Alfred in the field where he was still gasping. The murdered man's wife finally found David and told him she had never seen her husband so drunk before.

David and the two women went to the struggling body. Alfred's wife soon detached that the clothes were wet and asked Dave if he had fallen in the branch. Dave said, "I reckon not." Dave's wife said, "I'm afraid he's cut." One of the women then said, "You didn't hurt him, did you Dave?" and he said, "No." Then the murderer remarked, "Alfred talked mean to me a while ago and I just can't take everything. But I'm going to treat him right. I'll help get him home."

Dave harnesses his horse and laid Alfred's body on a sled and hauled him home. When a light was brought and the murdered man was seen, the blood, she exclaimed, "Lord a mercy, its blood Dave undressed him, washed the wounds and sewed up the worst one, telling Alfred's wife that he would be o. k. by morning. Then he and his wife went to their own home leaving the grief-stricken widow and five little children there with the lifeless husband and father.

When Alfred's wife saw that her husband was not drunk, but dead, she sent for Dave. He came and went to him to him and shook him, saying, "Lord, who thought of such a thing as this." The murderer then sat down by the body. The wife of the dead man, after the corpse was dressed sent for the neighbors, and when they came in, so great was her fear of the assassin, he did not dare mention to them the fact that Alfred was cut. Early next morning when Dave had gone home she told her neighbors for the first time. But the brazenness of the assassin was not to forsake him yet. He even went to see the grave dug. Later however, his nerve forsook him and he fled for parts unknown. He has relatives living in Sedro Wooley, Wash; Abingdon, Va., Carter county, Tenn., and in Indiana, and it is thought that he is secreting himself in one of these localities.

The people of Sutherland have offered $250 for the apprehension of the murderer, and it is thought the Governor will increase the amount to $500.

He is about five feet, seven inches high; is a blonde, being of blue eyes and light hair; has a very smooth face except light mustache, has good teeth and is about thirty years old.

THE PRESIDENT'S SUNDAY.

Seattle, Wash., May 24—Sunday was spent very quietly by President Roosevelt. In view of the fact that the president always observes Sunday as he sees fit, the citizens gave him full range to follow up his inclination, and Secretary Loeb says the President appreciated this more than any public attention.

Saturday was one of the hardest days that the President has had since he started on his tour. He visited the navy yard at Bremerton, went to Seattle thence to Everett and returned to Seattle again in the evening. During the day he made five addresses. Naturally the strain told on him, but when he arose this morning and appeared before the people he looked as if he was ready for another day of activity. During the morning the President attended the memorial services of the G. A. R. at the Grand Opera House. The Rev. J. M. Wilson, preached the sermon, that struck a popular chord, in which the President was highly interested.

There was a large gathering and the president was warmly greeted. In the afternoon the President and some members of his party took a horseback ride out to Fort Lawton, where they spent a short time looking over the grounds. There was nothing official in his visit, and he greeted the soldiers, mingling with them informally for a few minutes.

The headquarters of the President in Seattle have been at the Hotel Washington, and the National Guard has been on duty at the hotel during all the watches of the day and night.

It is a noticeable feature that the secret service officers accompanying the President have been keeping guard constantly. It is understood that these officers do not relish the idea of the President's coming visit to Butte, Mont, because of the alleged existence there of a number of Anarchists, some of whom, it has been said, were connected with the recent plot to blow up the Atlantic liner Umbria, in New York. As soon as the great mining camp is approached extra precautions will be taken. Naturally, the President scoffs at all these fears.

During the President's entire stay in Seattle the weather has been exceptionally fine and clear. The party will leave Seattle over the Northern Pacific on the return to the East early Monday morning. Stops will be made at various points in Washington State during the day.

In almost every neighborhood someone has died from an attack of colic or cholera morbus, often before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. A reliable remedy for these diseases should be kept at hand. The risk is too great for anyone to take. Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has undoubtedly saved the lives of more people and relieved more pain and suffering than other medicine in use. It can always be depended upon. For sale by J. F. Mackey & Co., Druggists.

HOW KELLY, THE SLAYER LOST HIS HORSE.

To the Editor of The State.

Spain C. Kelly, who shot W. F. Creech to death on May 6, 1903, rode straight to Monroe, N. C., arriving there on May 8. On May 9 he offered his horse for sale, asking Mr. E. M. Griffin $150. His talk became suspicious and Mr. Griffin offered him $65 as a test. This offer was accepted. Mr. Griffin had the horse put in the stable. Kelly was then asked to give reference, as he was a stranger. Kelly said: "Certainly I will," and went off as he was going to the telegraph office. He soon returned, stating that he would not give any reference as he was accustomed to doing business on his face. Kelly demanded his horse. Mr. Griffin refused to give up the horse, stating to Kelly that he had bought the horse and as soon as he proved a good title to the horse he would pay him the money. Kelly failed to appear for money or horse any more.

Kelly went under the name of Law while in Monroe, N. C. Kelly was traced to Randolph county, N. C., where he is now supposed to be in hiding. That section is being closely watched by officers of the law.

Spain C. Kelly is 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighs 150 pounds, square built, good looking, clean shaven, black hair, brown eyes, long eye lashes, teeth prominent, right lateral tooth very small and slightly curved in; 28 years old. One hundred dollars reward. If arrested notify
