Of Galveston, Texas.

"Wine of Cardui is indeed a blessing to tired women. Having suffered for seven years with weakness and bearing down pains, and having tried several doctors and different remedies with no success, your Wine of Cardui was the only thing which helped me, and eventually cured me. It seemed to build up the weak parts, strengthen the system and correct irregularities."

By "tired women" Mrs. Adams means nervous women who have disordered menses, falling of the womb, ovarian troubles or any of these ailments that women have. You can cure yourself at home with this great women's remedy. Wine of Cardui. Wine of Cardui has cured thousands of cases which doctors have failed to benefit. Why not begin to get well today? ### JUDGE BREWER ON LYNCHING.

Justice of U. S. Supreme Court Blames the Law's Delay and He Denounces Lynching as a Disgrace to our Country, a Reflection on Our System of Self-Government.

New York, August 16.—Associate Justice David J. Brewer, of the Supreme Court of the United States, has contributed to Leslie's Weekly an article on the crime of lynching, in the course of which he says:

"Our Government recently forwarded to Russia a petition in respect to alleged atrocities committed upon the Jews. That Government, as might have been expected, unwilling to have its internal affairs a matter of consideration by other Governments, declined to receive the petition. If, instead of so doing, it had replied that it would put a stop to all such atrocities when this Government put a stop to lynchings, what would he have said?"

"It is well to look the matter fairly in the face. May good men join in these uprisings, horrified at the atrocity of the crime, and eager for swift and summary punishment. Of course they violate the law themselves but rely on the public sentiment behind them to escape from punishment. Many of these lynchings are accomplished by the horrible barbarities of savage trouble, and all that can be said in palliation is the atrocity of the offences which led up to them. For a time they were confined largely to the South, but that section of the country no longer has a monopoly. The chief offence which causes these lynchings has been the rape of white women by colored men. No words can be found too strong to describe the atrocity of such a crime. It is no wonder that the community is excited. Men would disgrace their manhood if they were not. And if a few lynchings has put a stop to the offence, society might have condoned such breaches of its law, but the fact is, if we may credit the report, the crime, instead of diminishing, is on the increase. The black beast (for only a beast, would be guilty of such an offence seems to be not deterred thereby. More than that, as might be expected, lynching for such atrocious crimes is no longer confined to them, but is resorted to for other offences.

"What can be done to stay this epidemic of lynching? One thing is the establishment of a greater confidence in the summary and certain punishment of the criminal. Men are afraid of the law's delays and the uncertainty of its results. Not that they doubt the integrity of the judges, but they know that the law abounds with technical rules, and that Appellate Courts will often reverse a judgment of conviction for a disregard of such rules, notwithstanding a full belief in the guilt of the accused. If all were certain that the guilty ones would be promptly tried and punished, the inducement to lynch would be largely taken away. In an address which I delivered before the American Bar Association at Detroit some years since, I advocated doing away with appeals in criminal cases. It did not meet the favor of the association, but I shall believe in its wisdom. For nearly a hundred years there was appeal from the judgment of conviction in criminal cases in our Federal Courts, and no review, except in a few cases, in which, to judges sitting, a difference of opinion on a question of law was certified to the Supreme Court. In England the rule has been that there was no appeal in criminal cases, although a question of doubt might be reserved by the presiding Judge for the consideration of his brethren. The Hon. E. J. Phelps, who was minister to England during Mr. Cleveland's first administration, once told me that while he was there only two cases were reversed. Does any one doubt that justice was fully administered by the English Courts?"

"It is said in extenuation of lynching in case of rape that it is an additional cruelty to the unfortunate victim to compel her to go upon the witness stand, and in the presence of a mixed audience tell the story of her wrongs, especially when she may be subject to cross-examination by overzealous counsel. I do not belittle this matter, but it must be remembered that often the unfortunate victim never lives to tell the story of her wrongs, and if she does survive, must tell it to some, and the whole community knows the fact. Even in the Court room any high-minded Judge will stay counsel from any unnecessary cross-examination, and finally, if any lawyer should attempt it, the community may treat him as an out-cast. I can but think that if the community feel that the criminal would receive the punishment he deserves, and receive it soon, the eagerness for lynching would disappear, and mobs, whose gatherings too often mean not merely the destruction of jails and other property, but the loss of innocent lives, would greatly diminish in number.

"One thing is certain—the tendency of lynching is to undermine respect for the law, and unless it be checked we need not be astonished if it be resorted to for all kinds of offences, and oftentimes innocent men suffer for wrongs committed by others."

HORRIBLE MURDER STORY

Capture of Lee Green, Charged With Killing Surasky.

Special to News and Courier.

Aiken, Aug. 21.—Lee Green, the alleged murderer of Surasky, the Jew peddler, was brought to Aiken by Sheriff Aldermen and posse last night about 9:30. Green was surrounded and captured at his father's place, near Hawthorne, about 20 miles from Aiken.

For several days two men of that section, Arthur Glover and West Cadden, have been on the watch for Green, and they finally located him at his father's place. Early yesterday morning they telegraphed Sheriff Alderman that Green was cornered and if he could come at once with a few men Green could be captured.

Sheriff Alderman left Aiken about 12 o'clock with ten men. Two of Surasky's brothers left here for the scene about the same time. The sheriff's party arrived at McClain's store, two miles from Green's house, at about 5 o'clock, where they found Glover and Cadden, who had slipped away to again communicate with the sheriff. Messrs. Glover and Cadden reported that they and Green had fired several shots at one another during the morning and that they felt sure that he was still on the place. Sheriff Aldermen, who now had about 15 men, sent part of his force around to come in at the back of the place and he and the remainder of his party went to the house.

Mr. Green, the elder, was asked if his son Lee was at home. He replied that his son was on the place, but he did not know where. The posse then searched all the buildings and it was at last discovered that Green was in the fodder loft of the barn.

It was at first thought that the building would have to be burned in order to chase Green out, but the sheriff finally told Lee Green's brother to go into the barn and tell him to give up.

The brother went in and came out in a few minutes with Lee's gun and a few moments later the man who has terrorized that section for nearly a month walked out and gave himself up.

The gun Green had was a single barreled breech loader and his ammunition was shells loaded with bird shot.

Lee Green is a young man of about 18 years, weighs about 175 pounds and is about six feet tall, and is a powerful man for his age. He is said to be a bad character and a great trouble to his father, who is one of the best men in that section.

Abram Surasky is said to have been killed while performing an act of courtesy for Green. On the day of the murder Green had been to the mill and was at his house on his horse, with his sack of meal and his shotgun across the saddle, just about the time Surasky drove up in his wagon.

This was about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. As the men alighted they shook hands, and Surasky walked over to Green's horse and threw the sack of meal across his shoulder, and told Green that he would carry it to the house for him. Surasky walked towards the house and when about 25 steps away Green shot him twice in the back, but did not hurt him, as the shot probably all entered the sack of meal. Surasky turned and, throwing the sack down, lifted his hands above his head and begged Green not to shoot him.

Surasky then saw Green reloading his gun, and so the peddler ran into the house where Mrs. Green was and begged her not to let her husband kill him. It is said that Mrs. Green pleaded for the life of the Jew, but Green rushed into the house after him.

Surasky held Mrs. Green between himself and his assailant, and then Green is said to have told his wife that if she didn't get out of the way he would shoot her. Surasky then tried to run away, but Green shot him twice in the back and brought him to the ground, just outside of the door.

The gunshots did not kill him, and Green then got an axe and chopped him until life was extinct. He then loaded the body on his victim's wagon and hid it in the woods, as before reported.

Suicide Prevented.

The startling announcement that a preventive of suicide had been discovered will interest many. A rundown system, or despondency invariably precede suicide and something has been found that will prevent that condition which makes suicide likely. At the first thought of self destruction take Electric Bitters. It being a great tonic and nerve will strengthen the nerves and build up the system. It's also a great stomach, liver and kidney regulator. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by Crawford Bros, Funderburk Pharmacy, and J. F. Mackey & Co, druggists.

Biggs—"Speaking of long lives I had an uncle on my mother's side who lived to the age of ninety-nine."

Diggs—"Oh, that's nothing, my aunt Sally Smasher didn't die till she was past one hundred and eight."

Young Man in the Corner—"I had a grandfather who beat that record all hollow."

Biggs and Diggs—"When did he die?"

Young Man in the Corner—"He didn't die at all. He's still alive."

Not Over-Wise.

There is an old allegorical picture of a girl scared at a grasshopper, but in the act of heedlessly treading on a snake. This is paralleled by the man who spends a large sum of money building a cyclone cellar, but neglects to provide his family with a bottle of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy as a safeguard against bowel complaints, whose victims outnumber those of the cyclone a hundred to one. This remedy is everywhere recognized as the most prompt and reliable medicine in use for these diseases. For sale by J. F. Mackey & Co., druggists.

As a lady entered a crowded street car the other night an old man, holding a little boy on his lap, arose and offered her his seat.

"Oh, no, keep your seat, thank you," replied the lady, "and hold your boy."

"Oh, that's different," replied the old man, who was slightly deaf. "I had to stand up for almost five days once myself with a boil. I'm sorry for you." And he resumed his seat amid the roar of laughter which followed.

Dysentery Cured Without the Aid of a Doctor.

"I am just up from a hard spell of the flux" (dysentery) says Mr. T. A. Pinner, a well-known merchant of Drummond, Tenn. "I used one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was cured without having a doctor. I consider it the best cholera medicine in the world." There is no need of employing a doctor when this remedy is used, for no doctor can prescribe a better medicine for bowel complaint in any form either for children or adults. It never fails and is pleasant to take. For sale by J. F. Mackey & Co., druggists.
