MAYOR OTTO KLETTNER WELCOMES CONFERENCE

MATTER OF REMOVAL OF FEMALE COLLEGE POSTPONED UNTIL TODAY.

Made The Special Order For Ten O'clock This Morning—Recommendation Of Committee Overruled—Mr. Clifton's Response to Welcome Address.

The second day's session of Conference held yesterday was largely taken up with an address of welcome, on behalf of the city, by Mayor Klettner, responded to by the Rev. J. A. Clifton, D. D., on the part of Conference; and the discussion of the matter of the removal of the Columbia Female College. The Board of Trustees of the College submitted their report recommending that the institution be moved from Columbia to Greenwood. The point was raised that in making this recommendation the Board had transcended its authority, and the point was sustained and the recommendation overruled. After a good deal of discussion the consideration of this matter was postponed until today, and it was made a special order for 10 o'clock this morning.

The session was opened at 9:30 o'clock with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. J. C. Stoll.

Mayor Klettner was introduced, and on behalf of the city of Newberry extended to Conference a most hearty welcome. The welcome address was appropriate and delivered in a pleasing manner. Mayor Klettner said:

Venerable Bishop and Members of the South Carolina Conference: You are here upon invitation of the Johnstone Street Methodist Episcopal Church, heartily endorsed by a resolution of the city council, for the purpose of taking counsel with regard to the varied interests of you, Conference.

But while your sessions will be held in this church the intervening hours of rest and recreation will bring you in contact with Newberry and her people. During the days that you will spend here you will be the guests of our city, and it becomes my pleasant office and duty, as mayor of Newberry, to extend to you a most hearty welcome on behalf of the good people for whom I have the honor to speak. I wish to assure you that it is not within my power, being unused to public speech, nor would it be even if I were one of the most polished and brilliant orators, endowed with the power of eloquence, to find proper words to give expression to the great pleasure and honor that we feel in having you to meet amongst us. Your coming here affords us great pleasure for several reasons: In the first place we Bishop E. R. Hendrix of Kansas City, Mo., endorses the Library Filing Cabinet as a "Mental Savings Bank" by buying one in August, 1902.

That newspaper clipping or book reference or illustrative note would apply so aptly now if you could get it. You remember a part of it but cannot find it.

Tomorrow you do not clip or take notes because you lost yesterday's and thus you become less systematic.

Are you not in need of a good system for saving your sermon or lecture data?

Is there anything more important in your library equipment?

A preacher is strong today by what he can command not what he can remember.

Why not have a thorough up-to-date system as thousands of other preachers have?

know that you represent a great and influential Church, a Church that can boast of many great and mighty men, who have battled nobly in the cause of God and of humanity. A Church which still today has thousands of strong men who stand well to the front in every effort for the betterment of mankind.

DR. JAS. H. CARLISLE.

We know of your great activity in the Mission work, sending hundreds of men and women to all parts of the world to preach the gospel, carrying light and comfort to those who are in darkness and spreading that kingdom which must triumph over all the world. We know of your tender sympathy and love for the widow and the orphan, and for all who suffer under the misfortunes which deprive so many of our fellowmen of the joys of life. We are also acquainted with your zeal in the cause of Christian education, and we look with unbounded admiration upon the grand results which you have achieved in connection with your Twentieth Century Endowment Movement.

Such has been your success that we wonder sometimes what new and peculiar methods you have adopted in the matter of raising money, and which have enabled you to take the lead in endowing your institution.

But we are glad and proud to have your Conference convene in the midst of us, because you represent a great and glorious cause, a cause in which all Christians have a common interest.

The different Churches or denominations are like so many divisions of a great army. They all have a common foe to fight. They all contend, each in its own way, against the evil that is in the world. All of them are seeking to promote peace and good will among men, to make men better morally and truer and kinder in their relations and dealings with one another. All labor for the advancement of God's kingdom and the enrichment and elevation of human life through out the world. All have the same aims and all have the same hopes.

"Our hope is in heroic man, Star-led, to build the world again."

We would be strange, therefore, if we did not feel interested in one another's undertakings, and rejoice in one another's successes.

We welcome you here again, because we believe your coming will do our city good. An intelligent community can not fail to be impressed by the presence of such a host of great, noble, and mighty men, gathered together in so good a cause.

It is with no thought of devising ways and means to enrich your own selves that you come here. It is not the ambitious hope of political honors and the profits of office that have caused you to gather in this church. No, ten thousand times no, it is the unselfish purpose of taking counsel together in the interest of the souls of men, to provide for the directing of the attention of man to the things that are higher, grander and more important than all earthly things. And this fact can not and will not fail to cause many to think of that bright and better home and those more enduring riches which the Word of God alone holds out to men. Men may pool their millions for the sake of increased profits in trade or manufacture, but you are pooling your experience and wisdom in the unselfish cause of religion and philanthropy.

AMENDMENT TO CHARTER NECESSARY

IN ORDER TO REMOVAL OF COLUMBIA FEMALE COLLEGE.

Understood that Committee on Legal Status Will so Report to Conference This Morning.

It is understood that the committee appointed by Conference at the session yesterday morning to look into the charter of the Columbia Female College and to report upon the question of legal obstacles in the way of the removal of the institution, will report today that an amendment of the charter is necessary in order to its removal. It is thought that this amendment may be secured through the Secretary of State without action by the legislature.

The general opinion seemed to prevail last night that, from information obtainable without an examination of records, the committee was inclined to the belief that the deed is held in fee simple. If this be true, there is then no legal obstacle whatever in the way of the removal of the college, or of the sale of the property in the city of Columbia.

The whole matter in regard to the removal of the college was to have been settled yesterday, but several questions arose, and some of the members desiring a longer time for consideration, it was postponed today. It will come up as a special order at 10 o'clock this morning. It is an open question whether or not it will then be definitely decided. However, it can be confidently predicted that there will be a lively discussion.

Teachers Meeting.

The next Teacher's meeting will be held in the Boundry Street school on Saturday, December 13, at 10 o'clock a. m. Prof. E. L. Hughes of the Greenville City Schools, will be present and deliver an address. All the teachers in the county should show their appreciation by attending. Teachers are urged to be present promptly at 10 o'clock.
