PROSPERITY

The November meeting of the garden club was held Monday afternoon with Mrs. G. Y. Hunter.

Each member answered roll call with the name of a plant she was now enjoying, giving a few facts about the plant. Mrs. Wyche, gleaner, read several interesting items on flowers and trees. Bingo was played after the program.

During the social hour sandwiches, cakes and ice punch were served. Mrs. G. A. Meetze was a guest.

Mrs. John Stockman was hostess to the UDC chapter Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. G. W. Harmon led the historical program which centered around A. P. Hill and the Wayside hospitals, topics of the month.

Mrs. G. A. Meetze and Mrs. A. M. Ellis were guests. A sweet course was served.

Miss Thelma Ballentine celebrated her sixteenth birthday Wednesday with a dinner party to which six of her friends were invited. The center decoration of the table was the cake with gleaming tapers. Dahlias were used for the floral decorations.

Mrs. C. M. Singley was hostess to the Young Matron's bridge club Saturday afternoon with a lovely Halloween party. Mrs. W. O. Callahan, of Columbia, sister-in-law of Mrs. Singley, was a guest. Autumn leaves, black cats and witches formed an appropriate setting for the tables and their appointments. Mrs. G. W. Counts was winner of the high score prize, and Mrs. W. H. Leaphart, the bingo. A salad course with iced tea was served.

An announcement of interest is that of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Betty N. Workman to James M. Dorn, both of McCormick. Miss Workman was a member of the Prosperity high school faculty last session and made many friends during her stay here.

Jeanine Ballentine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ballentine, broke her arm Saturday morning while learning to skate. Jeanine is a popular member of the second grade and is able to be in school this week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lee Counts, and their daughter, Jennylee, Willie E. Hunter, and F. W. Herlong, attended the football game at Clemson Saturday.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Browne and Mrs. A. G. Wise were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Taylor of Charleston.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Hamm and Mrs. G. W. Hermon attended the Orangeburg county fair last Friday. Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sease were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sease and children of Columbia.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Counts and their daughter, Miss Dyrts Lee Counts, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Moyer, in Greenville Sunday.

Mrs. O. B. Shearouse, Miss Elanor Shearouse, Mrs. J. A. Singley, L. A. Black and J. E. Buck were guests Sunday of Mrs. W. E. Black in Columbia.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Barnes and children spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. James B. Hunt of Greenville.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Dowd and family of Johnston were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Livingston.

Mrs. A. G. Wise is spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wise of Greenwood, and Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Wise of Ware Shoals.

Miss Nannie Simpson of Columbia was the weekend guest of Mrs. J. H. Crosson and Mrs. John Stockman.

The Rev. J. A. Shealy of Willis, Va., was the weekend guest of his brothers here.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Dowd were Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Dowd and family of Newberry.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Wheeler were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wheeler of Spartanburg, and Mrs. A. L. Wheeler and two daughters of Statesville, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Long had with them Sunday Dr. and Mrs. Elmer Long and daughter of Columbia.

Mrs. Lola Shealy of Leesville spent Sunday with relatives here.

MEAT CURING

Pork prices are now at an eleven-year high. And as nearly half of all meat eaten in the United States is pork, the wisest way is the safest—kill the big hogs now and cure the hams, shoulders and middlings at the—

LET'S GO . . . SHOPPING

Aren't we lucky to have such wonderful weather in November? Perhaps by the time you read this, I might regret having said that but the first few days have been the kind of invigorating weather that makes you want to walk as well as shop and shop.

Let's race down to Stokes' drug store and find out "What's What" for wedding presents. We find the entire store resplendent with unusual gift suggestions . . . but as ever, silver is still the supreme gift. Here we find nationally known sterling and silver plate . . . May "they" prefer china in sets or individual pieces or pottery. Stokes' pottery is not only useful, but very lovely . . . And electrical appliances in this day and time when the couple "are planning to take a small apartment" are the most welcomed among gifts. One and all—you'll find at Stokes' that should be your shopping headquarters for wedding presents that are distinctive.

"When she's blond and dimpled and half past two, Oh, her very own colors are pink and blue" . . . These lines from a favorite poem of mine just fit the situation when we pause to look in at Miss Mattie Adams' shop . . . Just look, here's everything under the sun baby needs in pink and blue and, of course white. Upon sight of these things you just want to buy things whether for your baby or someone else's . . . See that little pink warm looking bath room set over there, and the knitted sacques and caps. Oh, here's a baby blanket, and a darling muff set. There is a feeding set and even a comb and brush set . . . And oh, that adorable white knitted cape and cap affair with the white satin ribbons. I understand that's quite new and a real hit for winter . . . And just see those tiny booties and tiny pink and blue anklets. We better move on before we run out of adjectives.

More and more Old Man Winter is keeping us inside, so now we turn to indoor entertainment, deserting the tennis court, old swimming hole, and golf course for a while . . . The radio is the greatest standby during winter months and these new Philco radios bring joy to any household as a beautiful piece of furniture as well as superb entertainment . . . A picture of comfort—a cozy room, an easy chair, and a new Philco purchased from Maxwell Brothers and Quinn.

I heard a man remark over the radio the other night that women's fashions this year showed the greatest change in 20 years. He followed up this remark by saying that women no longer dressed as to follow one style, but dressed for comfort and becomingness.

The newest and most dramatic hat lines for the winter of 1937-38 go skyward, upward, forward, downward or most any direction. The wide variation of styles makes it possible for you to buy the hat that is becoming. And this variation is found at Mrs. J. W. White's shop opposite the street from Central Methodist church. Make your choice at this shop, and here we find prices so very reasonable. And of course you know that feathers and veils are so fashionable—try one or the other.

"When one sees beautiful flowers or beautiful bouquets, Hal Kohn's Florist is always brought to mind," a prominent woman said when remarking about flowers used in a recent wedding in the city. Not only is Hal Kohn's shop Newberry's outstanding florist shop but a place where customers receive efficient, gracious service. It's a pleasure to "browse around" this attractive shop.

A personal touch, great or small, makes anything more interesting. And especially if that personal something is in a moving picture. "Annapolis Salute" starring James Ellison, and Marsha Hunt is playing at the Opera House Thursday and Friday of this week. Having minor parts in this picture is Miss Jesse Abrams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Abrams, who is well known here as she is a frequent visitor of her aunt, Mrs. Jordan Poole on Harrington street. Miss Abrams was at Annapolis last spring attending the June ball and other activities of the closing week. The picture was being made at the time, and she was asked to appear in various scenes. Look for her in the scene at Carvel hall, at the June ball, and at the dock seeing off the Annapolis boys who are sailing for Europe.

And just to remind all ye shoppers—in case your auto goes wrong—Walt Davis has moved his repair garage to lower Main street in the large convenient building formerly occupied by the county maintenance department. Your frequent visits to the new shop will be most welcomed by "Uncle Walt."

With so many attractive new cars coming on the market, dealers are advertising their used cars at such reasonable prices. When driving by Smith Motor company on upper Main street, notice the new used car lot just across the street. You'll find some real values. Tell the hubby or friends.
