DRIVE CAREFULLY

You don't want to kill some little tot just beginnings its life. You don't want to bring sorrow into some Newberry home.

Then, by all means, be careful of your driving, particularly during the hours when school children are on the streets.

Remember, children do not possess the same judgment as grown people and often dash into the streets without thinking.

The death of a child under the wheels of your car will stay with you the balance of your life. How much better to drive carefully and save yourself remorse as well as some mother and father.

MCLEAN ADMITS TAKING LARGE AMOUNT OF CASH

ABBEVILLE, Sept. 3.—F. B. McLean, sheriff of Abbeville county for 21 years, pleaded guilty this morning in criminal court to embezzlement of more than $200,000 of county money and was sentenced by Judge William M. Grimball of Charleston to five years and was put on probation for this time.

Affidavits by Dr. Wilkinson of Greenville and Dr. Rainey of Anderson, testifying to the condition of health of the former sheriff, were also read. He is 72 years of age. McLean was accompanied in court by his son, Giles McLean.

DRAFT AND DISCHARGES PLAGUE LAWMAKERS

Some Want Soldiers Out, Others Do Not Want Youths Called

Washington, Sept. 3.—An avalanche of letters and telegrams from constituents wanting somebody let out or kept out of the Army put Congress members in a quandary today as they prepared for the first post-war session of the national legislature.

With the reconvening of the two houses after the summer recess due Wednesday, lawmakers at both ends of the Capitol admitted frankly that they were undecided what to do about the ever-tightening issue: who shall be taken into the services or kept there?

Letters Pour In

Their problem was described by Senator Lucas who said he was one of those who had been getting a flood of letters. The writers, he told reporters, leave no doubt how strongly they feel on the question of getting long-service veterans out of uniform, or stopping the drafting of their 18 and 19 year olds.

The possibility of having to choose between keeping the veterans and taking the youths makes the problem tougher.

And, on the other hand, said Senator Lucas:

"I am not going to vote for anything that will reduce occupation forces below the level that the army and navy say they need to show the Germans and the Japs that we mean business this time."

"We're going to have to keep a watch on them until they change their way of life."

"I don't know how this matter of the draft and the release of veterans is going to work out."

Solons Are Swamped

Senators Taft, George and White, were among others who said they had been "swamped" with communications on the subject.

Until the returning legislators began to compare notes on how the people are reacting to peacetime armed service, job and pay check issues had had the spotlight in preliminary committee meetings. These issues centered around the proposal to boost unemployment pay with federal funds to a level of $25 a week for 26 weeks, and the so-called full employment bill.

But most of the returning lawmakers saw the draft and discharge questions as more persons, and therefore more immediate, matters. They said that might change as more war jobs are cut off.

Mrs. W. F. Partridge (Clara Eskridge) and children, Molly and Frank returned to their home in Savannah, Ga., Sunday after a stay of several weeks here with her mother, L. G. Eskridge. Mr. Partridge came over on Saturday for the weekend and they went back with him.

J. D. French has returned from a business trip to Boston and other eastern cities.

ARE WE PLAIN SAPS

It is surprising to see how England and France have adopted planned national socialization of industry as a political philosophy after they turned to the biggest capitalistic country in the world to save them from destruction by it.

There was delightful sarcasm in the remarks of "conservative" Sir Oliver Lyttleton in the House of Commons, when he told the house that the British standards of living depend on financial aid from the U. S., and that "you must be careful about the nasty things you say about private enterprise that will affront American opinion."

Why should the socialistic regime in England think of turning to the United States and private enterprise to finance its socialistic schemes? Let the "liberal" party in England tax its own people to pay for the "gifts" which it promises them at the hands of government. If socialism is superior to free enterprise, it can certainly finance its spendings.

Mr. deGaulle is now in the United States. He will undoubtedly seek financial aid for the program of "national socialization" of industry which is planned for France. Why should we finance a system of government that threatened world peace? We spent countless American lives and some three hundred BILLIONS of dollars to help curb the crushing effect of national socialism under Hitler and Mussolini.

The seeds of national socialism are well planted in our own soil, in the form of electric power "authorities." And congress is being asked for additional billions of dollars to nourish and expand this malignant political growth here.

Are we now ready to admit that the totalitarian type of centralized government is superior to our own free enterprise and profit system? The United States stands as the last great exponent of private enterprise, private opportunity and the philosophy of allowing the individual to profit from his own labors. Are we going to throw in with schemes of those who cried for help from political oppression and, now seek to adopt the system we fought to save them from?
