Zaccheus F. Wright Passes To Reward

Zaccheus Franklin Wright, 80, one of Newberry's most outstanding citizens, church and civic leader, trustee of Newberry College, former merchant, banker and mill executive died at his home here early Wednesday morning following a long siege of illness.

Funeral services were conducted at 4 p. m. Thursday at his late residence. Rev. George H. Hodges, his pastor and Dr. E. V. Babb of Seneca officiated. Burial was in rosemont Cemetery.

Funeral bearers were George K. Dominick, A. W. Murray, C. C. Hutto, T. E. Epting, Hal Kohn, Jr., Dr. James C. Kinard, J. W. Wood and Seth A. Meek.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. W. G. Houseal and Mrs. C. H. Cannon; one brother, R. Herman Wright all of Newberry, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Mr. Wright was the son of the late Robert H. and Mary F. Bowers Wright, the Wrights, all of Scotch-Irish extraction, and was born and reared in Newberry where he attended school, and Newberry College, graduating from the Lutheran institution in 1888.

STARTED AS MERCHANT
Soon after graduating he engaged in the mercantile business as Wright's Book and Stationery Store. Later he became cashier of the Commercial Bank which position he held for nine years. In 1905 he accepted the presidency of the Newberry Cotton Mills, which position he held until sale of the mill a few years ago.

Since that time Mr. Wright, who did not like the word "retired," maintained an uptown office in order to keep in touch with the various civic and community organizations in which he served during his long business career and for general pleasure. Until illness overcame him he continued his routine of arriving at his office at 9 o'clock and leaving at 5 o'clock. He was a bachelor but his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wright, lived with him.

Mr. Wright was regarded as a fine speaker and was called on at numerous meetings for talks and was in much demand as an after dinner speaker. His oratorical ability was first noted when he won a medal in an oratorical contest at Newberry College. In recognition of his ability as an outstanding citizen and worthy of the title Newberry College bestowed upon him the title L.L.D. for distinguished service.

HELPED EDUCATE BOYS
Through his influence and ability many young men were able to obtain an education. At Newberry College is Wright's Hall, a recreation center named in honor of Mr. Wright. Mr. Wright served as mayor of Newberry for nine years, having held the office until he decided not to accept another term.

He was a member of the Central Methodist Church, serving as an officer for many years. He was chairman of Newberry County Hospital many years.

During the big Sesqui-Centennial celebration in Newberry Mr. Wright served as honorary chairman of the event and had a large part in its success.

He was elected the first president of the Newberry Rotary Club and served continuously as a leader in that organization. In 1924 he was elected district governor for South and North Carolina District of Rotary International.

His outstanding work for the Newberry Country Club is best shown on a bronze tablet erected by the members of the Club which reads as follows: "This tablet will forever serve to express the gratitude of the Country Club of Newberry for the generous gifts of Zaccheus F. Wright whose sympathetic leadership has assured for existence its availability to the people of this community."

During the 41 years Mr. Wright served as president of the mill, 1905 to 1946, he worked hard to make his employees happy. He knew every one of his 700 employees by name and was responsible for building Willowbrook Park, located in the mill village. He was largely responsible in organizing the Newberry Concert Band composed of members of his mill, who achieved national recognition in playing before high ranking officials and at special occasions.

PRESENTED LOVING CUP
In 1935 as an expression of their personal regard the 700 employees of his mill got together and presented him with a loving cup on the occasion of his 30th anniversary as president of the mill. It was their way of paying tribute to a man who had been their friend. Every contributor's name was inscribed on the cup and included every employee from the veterans to the newest apprentice.

While on the streets Mr. Wright enjoyed greeting and conversing with his friends. His main hobby was flowers in which red roses were his favorites. He was a member of the Rose society for 25 years. He had roses blooming in his garden practically throughout the year. He was generous with his flowers and on many occasions flowers which graced the various churches were from his garden.

A large oil painting of himself hangs on the wall in his office. It was painted by a doffer in his mill several years ago.

A long and faithful service with the Southern Railway System will end on November 1 for Mr. J. P. Sheely, freight agent at Newberry for the Southern Railway.

Mr. Sheely was born and reared in Newberry County between Pomaria and Little Mountain. In 1889, when he was 21 years old, he began his work with Southern as a telegraph operator on a work train, used in those days to keep the tracks and railroad beds in repair.

He was later assigned as agent at Peak; from there was night operator at Alston, and continued his service with the Company as agent at Pomaria.

Mr. Sheely was transferred to Newberry in August 1900 as ticket seller and telegraph operator, and in February 1904 was made freight agent here. He has continued in this capacity since that time.

Forty nine of Mr. Sheely's 60 years with Southern have been in the same building on Main street, which was constructed in 1861. His entire sixty years were spent within a 21 mile radius.

Mr. Sheely was a guest of honor at the Chamber of Commerce banquet in Newberry on April 2, 1948, and was highly commended by the guest speaker, E. R. Oliver, a vice president in charge of traffic of the Southern Railway System, of Washington, D. C.

Mr. Sheely states that his entire interest and the only hobby he has had has been the railroad and his life has been devoted to that interest.
