City Hall Stuff

Jimmie Wiseman, jovial host at the Hotel Wiseman is now jovial Mayor of the City of Newberry. This newspaper saw him elected with a degree of pleasure like unto that the devil gets out of sticking his pitchfork into a wife-beater. Not that he will set any woods afire but that Newberrians are assured of a continuation of honest government.

To Mayor Wiseman and to Councilmen Boozer, Dickert, Dufford, Kinard, Layton and McDowell this newspaper bespeaks two years of easy sailing. Ed, Blackwell is there to get the cats out of the trees, so your tasks should indeed be pleasurable for the next two years.

In passing it should be noted that Newberry is indebted to ex-Mayor Pickens Salley for bringing it into line with other progressive cities of the State in the matter of city management. In this and in many other ways "Pick" Salley put in two good years for Newberry. About all Pick got out of it was a gold watch and a new insight into just how cussed some people can be when they want.

Jesse T. Anderson, State Supt. of Education sent a letter to the superintendents and principals of the state on November 23rd, endorsing the Christian Rural Overseas Program in the schools and suggesting that all funds that are collected be turned over to the respective County Superintendent of Education.

County Supt. Brown wishes to thank the school children of Newberry County for their willingness to share with others.

RED CROSS CLASSES BEGIN JAN. 9TH

A course in first aid will be given by the local chapter of the Red Cross. The classes will begin January 9th and will be taught by William Flix, First Aid Instructor with the American National Red Cross.

The purpose of Red Cross First Aid training is to develop knowledge and skills needed to give immediate and temporary care to the victim of an accident or sudden illness while the services of a physician are being obtained. Oftentimes knowledge of first aid has meant the difference between life and death or it has meant the difference between temporary and permanent disability or between rapid recovery and long hospitalization. If you don't know how to administer first aid, why don't you call your Newberry Chapter of the Red Cross now and find out about the free courses in first aid. The telephone number is 78. Mrs. Hannah R. Pool will be glad to tell you about the course.

Dennis' Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Many friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. Thompson Dennis gathered at the Community Hall of Newberry on Wednesday night, December 28th, to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the date when Miss Tarsie Aileen Singley and J. Thompson Dennis said their marriage vows before the Rev. Mr. Freed, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, in 1924.

The Community Hall was attractively decorated for the formal reception, which was held from 8:00 p.m. until 10:00 p.m.

Receiving guests with Mr. and Mrs. Dennis were their daughter, Joan; Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Dennis and Mr. Luther Dennis, parents and grandfather of Mr. Dennis.

Mrs. Dennis was charmingly attired in a white crepe dinner gown, which featured an arrangement of silver sequins. She wore an orchid corsage.

Mrs. George Hawkins, Mrs. O. J. Wilson and Mrs. Louis E. Brossy presided at the coffee table, which was decorated with an artistic arrangement of white carnations and snapdragons. White candles in silver candelabra glowed on either side.

The center of attraction in the room was the wedding cake. The two tiers of the cake were separated by pedestals attractively decorated with cake icing, and between the tiers stood a miniature bride and groom. Underneath the lower tier, which stood on pedestals on a reflecting mirror, was a cluster of flowers, and the top of the cake was decorated with a bouquet of white rosebuds and orchids, fashioned from icing. Wedding bells were placed on reflectors on either side of the cake, and white candles in crystal holders gave a soft illumination to the scene.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Saye presided at the guest register, and assisting the guests with their wraps were Billy O'Dell and Harold Byrd.

Out of town guests who attended the reception were: Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Dennis of Columbia; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dwyer of Rock Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Donald and children of Atlanta, Harold Byrd of Atlanta, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Koehler of Newark, N.
