

Setzler awarded Book of Golden Deeds by Club

Hubert Holland Setzler was recipient of the Exchange Club of Newberry Book of Golden Deeds Award at the club's ladies night Tuesday at the Exchange Club lake house.

The award is made to a person in private life, business or profession who has done outstanding service to his fellowman.

Donald Layton, chairman of the club committee, made the presentation to Mr. Setzler describing him as an educator, humanitarian and churchman.

Setzler was born Jan 6, 1906 at Newberry to Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Setzler and was educated in the public schools of Newberry and received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Newberry College in 1926. He studied at George Peabody Teachers College where he received his Master of Arts degree in 1930. He taught in the Whitmire schools and was later supervisor for high schools for the State Department of Education. In 1933 he joined the faculty at Newberry College and has since taught in the field of natural sciences, particularly in chemistry and biology.

He is married to Callie Mayre Thomas. They have two children, Carol Harley and Hubert H. Setzler, Jr.

In the presentation, Layton said of Setzler, "In addition to his effective teaching at Newberry College where he endeared himself to a number of students who have passed through his classes during the 39 years of his teaching experience, he also held many committee duties at the college and for a number of years on occasion assisted with the coaching of the athletic teams. More lately he was associated with Coach Harvey Kirkland mainly in the capacity of administrative work and physical therapy.

"For a number of years, he has been active in the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, having taught Sunday School and served in many official capacities in his church."

Layton continued, "He is a quiet, unassuming person who has effected much influence upon those with whom he comes in contact especially the handicapped. He experimented and developed a formula for the effective relief of sinus problems and more lately has been active in physical therapy for stroke patients as well as arthritic patients. Most any evening you might find him busy in the training room at Newberry College gymnasium assisting with those physical problems, all of which has been done without compensation and fully out of his desire to relieve the suffering of others.

"He has also found time for his hobbies of fishing and hunting. He is an excellent outdoorsman, excelling in all these areas."

In making the presentation Layton said, "Hubert Setzler is a man who believes in keeping physically fit and assisting those who are less fortunate than he in this respect.

"It is my understanding that he has stated his intent to retire following the current academic year and hopefully he will continue to devote his time to his hobbies, his educational interest, and to the welfare of the citizenry of the community."

Newberry College recently honored Mr. Setzler by electing him Professor Emeritus of Newberry College.

Canine joins Newberry staff

William L. Canine has joined the Newberry College administrative staff as the Associate Director of Development, according to Dr. Fredric B. Irvin, the College's president.

His major responsibilities in the new position will be to supervise the College's Annual Giving Program that will begin in September and to organize a Deferred Giving Program, Dr. Irvin said in making the announcement of his appointment.

Prior to joining the Newberry College staff, Canine worked for conservation agencies in the Washington D. C. area. He has also had experience in the College development field serving as the Director of Development at Hollins College in Virginia from 1963-1968 and the Assistant Director of Alumni Affairs at Duke University from 1960-1963.

He received his undergraduate training at Duke University and his graduate work at the University of Chicago. He is married and has four children.

Speaker named for Newberry College finals

The Rev. Dr. Robert J. Marshall, the president of the Lutheran Church in America, will deliver the commencement address at Newberry College on May 28.

He will be one of three persons who will receive honorary degrees during the Sunday afternoon ceremonies, President Fredric B. Irvin has announced.

Others who will receive honorary degrees include Charles H. Carlisle, a Newberry alumnus and the vice president for business and finance at Erskine College, Due West and Clarence Rowland, a retired businessman from Camden.

Dr. Marshall was elected president of the Lutheran Church in America in 1968 to complete his predecessor's term and to a full four-year term in 1970. The churchman, well known in Lutheran circles for many years had widened his influence as president of North America's largest Lutheran denomination.

He has been active in pursuing Lutheran unity and is a member of the executive and central committees of the World Council of Churches, a vice president of Lutheran World Federation, and a member of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. Dr. Marshall will receive the honorary Doctor of Divinity degree.

In addition to his duties at Erskine College, Carlisle is the moderator-elect of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian General Synod. A 1944 graduate of Newberry, Carlisle joined the Erskine College faculty in 1947 as assistant professor of history. He served in this capacity until 1954 when he was appointed business manager. He assumed his present position in 1966. He will receive the honorary Doctor of Laws de-

Demos have two contests; filing time extended

The Newberry County Executive Committee was called into special session Wednesday morning in the courtroom of the Newberry County Courthouse to decide what course to take after a restraining order was issued to extend the time for candidates for county offices.

Judge John Grimboll of the Fifth Judicial Circuit ordered the extension after suit was filed by Dr. Frank Harrison III of Richland County.

C. A. Shealy, Jr., chairman of the Newberry County Democratic party presided at the short meeting. Invocation was given by Committeeman Dewey Kinard.

Shealy said much confusion had been created by the change in closing dates by the court order. He said he had been in contact with the state party on the matter and that state party leaders and their attorneys would seek to have the order set aside at the Saturday morning court session in Columbia.

The group adopted a resolution to the opinion that the filing deadline should remain closed according to state election laws. They voted to accept conditionally, candidates for county offices until noon Saturday. The extension would allow for candidates to file for offices that no one filed for at the Monday deadline.

It appeared from remarks made at the session that it would not be possible to hold the primary in June as scheduled.

Until an approved reapportionment plan is forthcoming, candidates for the House of Representatives and State Senate are unable to file for office. This is one of the reasons cited for holding open the filing date for county offices by Harrison in his court proceedings.

Since the Monday deadline two candidates have filed for county office. Mrs. Cheryl Folk
