JOINT RESOLUTION TO RATIFY THE AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA RELATIVE TO THE INCREASE OF THE STATE DEBT.

Whereas, the Constitution of the State of South Carolina provides that an amendment or amendments may be made to the same; and that such amendment or amendments shall be agreed to by two-thirds of the members elected to each House; such amendment or amendments to be entered on the Journals, respectively, with the yeas and nays taken thereon; and, that the same shall be submitted, to the qualified electors of the State, at the next general election thereafter for Representatives; and, if a majority of the electors qualified to vote for members of the General Assembly, voting thereon, shall vote in favor of such amendment or amendments, and two-thirds of each branch of the next General Assembly shall, after such an election, and before another ratify the same amendment or amendment or amendments by yeas and nays, the same shall become part of the Constitution: Provided, That such amendment or amendments shall have been read three times, on their several days, in each House; and whereas, the General Assembly, at its last session, did, in each branch, pass a Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the State of South Carolina which was agreed to by two-thirds of its members, to wit:

"Article XVI. To the end that the public debt of South Carolina may not hereafter be increased, without the due consideration and free consent of the people of the State, the General Assembly is hereby forbidden to create any further debt or obligation, either by the loan of the credit of the State, by guaranty, endorsement, or otherwise, except for the ordinary and current business of the State, without first submitting the question as to the creation of any such new debt, guaranty, endorsement, or loan of its credit, to the people of this State at a general State election; and unless two-thirds of the qualified voters of this State, voting on the question, shall be in favor of a further debt, guaranty, endorsement, or loan of its credit, none such shall be created or made."

And whereas, the said proposed amendment has been submitted to the electors, qualified to vote for members of the General Assembly, at the next general election following the action of the General Assembly, and a majority of the said electors have voted in favor of the same; therefore,

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of South Carolina, now met and sitting in General Assembly, and by the authority of the same, That the amendment to the Constitution of the State of South Carolina, proposed and agreed to by two-thirds of the members of each branch of the last General Assembly, and voted for by a majority of the electors qualified to vote for members of the General Assembly at the last general election, to wit: "Article XIV. To the end that the public debt of South Carolina may not hereafter be increased, without the due consideration and free consent of the people of the State, the General Assembly is hereby forbidden to create any further debt or obligation, either by the loan of the credit of the State by guaranty, endorsement, or otherwise, except for the ordinary and current business of the State, without first submitting the question as to the creation of any such new debt, guaranty, endorsement, or loan of its credit, to the people of this State, at a general State election; and, unless two-thirds of the qualified voters of this State, voting on the question, shall be in favor of a further debt, guaranty, endorsement, or loan of its credit, none such shall be created or made," be, and the same is hereby, ratified and made a part of the Constitution of the State of South Carolina.

[COMMUNICATED.] Sunday School Celebration.

AT JERUSALEM CHURCH SEPT. 27TH, 1873.

The procession was formed at 10 o'clock A. M., with a most beautiful banner at the head of the column, borne by Miss Jeroldino Rhame and Master Lee Irick, inscribed with the motto, "Feed my Lambs;" and marched to the Church singing "Happy Day." After being seated in the Church, that sweet and most soul stirring old song, "Let us walk in the light of God," was sung, and prayer offered up by Rev. Mr. Zimmerman.

The worthy and efficient Superintendent Mr. A. P. Avinger, then introduced the speakers in the following order: Walter A. Dantzier, John Avinger, L. R. Avinger, Lee Irick, Willie Rhame and Jeff Irick. Walter A. Dantzier, received the first award of merit, John Avinger second, L. R. Avinger award for best attendance, Lee Irick a prize for second best attendance, Jeff Irick a prize of merit by a friend.

GIRLS—Jeraldine Rhame a prize for best attendance, Oceola Avinger prize for second best attendance.

The School was then addressed by Mr. Zimmerman Dantzier in a chaste and eloquent style, taking for his theme the life and character of our Saviour from his infancy. The class was also addressed by the Rev. Mr. Zimmerman from Ecclesiastes 12th Chap. 1st verse, "Remember now thy creation in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them." This discourse was replete with most excellent and salutary advice to the young, and was edifying and interesting to all present. The assembly was then dismissed with the usual benediction, and invited to partake of a most splendid Pie-Nie dinner furnished for the occasion by the liberal patrons of the School, which certainly reflected great credit on the good taste of the contributors, as well as satiating the keen appetites of the partakers. We must add before concluding this account, that the worthy superintendent, Mr. A. P. Avinger, and Miss Electra Griffin the principal teacher, deserve the highest praise for the manner in which they discharged their several duties, O how important it is to bring up our children in the way that they should go. "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God" says our Savior; and how pure are the hearts of these little innocents! Unstained by the vices that corrupt and ruin the souls of adult mortals; and uncontaminated by the lust of the world, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life: Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven. And we too, unless we preserve that child-like innocence of character, purity of heart, and spotless nature, cannot ever hope to enter there. The rising generation must soap take our places in Church, and State, and all the vocations of life: How important it is then that we should leave them a good legacy. They are the future hope and promise of this great country. If men and women would obey God, and raise their children up in the fear and admonition of the Lord, this great world would soon be evangelized, and the Millennium of God ushered in.

ASHLAND.

Old Memories.

You can never forget them. The universe is full of them; they are wafted to you by every wind. You hear them in the falling rain and the rustling tree tops. They are sung by the song-birds of the wildwood, and are sounded by the surges of the sobbing sea. They look down upon you in the star-beams of a summer evening, and they shimmer through the locust in the cold moonbeams of a winter night.

Soft, sad, sweet, musical, melancholy, touching and tender, they come to you like echoes from the sounding shores of the river of time. They subdue the restless soul, and they kindle the better feelings of one's nature into a kindlier affection towards all of God's creatures.

Every human heart, is the grave of bygone days, and forth from it into the present, old memories come like phantoms in imperfect and fanciful resurrection, and the thoughts that they bring with them are the most sacred and holy of our lives. Thus do we worship our earthly idols long after they have been shattered and destroyed.

In life there are two great subdivisions prospective and retrospective, one is the creation of youth, the other the offspring of mature years; one of the possibilities of the future, the other of the realities of the past; both are beautiful, both are impossible with the present where we stand in middle life, reaching both forward, and backward and striving to vain.

The last is dearest of all, because it is of things that have been real. Their forms are imaged in the soul when all our early expectations are forgotten.

The Kind of Women to Marry.

They must eliminate from their idea of woman all her false adornments. Think of her in a plain dress of muslin minus her rats and mice, panniers and frizzes, seated at the breakfast table,—May you succeed in getting a true girl for a wife, full of womanly sweetness, one that will look as well at the breakfast table as when she bewitched you with the arts of her toilet; one who will not demand a carriage when you need a cart; one that will not require a mansion when you have only a cottage to offer; one that will be satisfied with plain dresses when you can not afford brocades; one that will entertain your friends on a dollar when you can not afford a banquet; one that will plant flowers in your yard and insist on you white-washing the fence; one that will be to you the ornament, pride and magnet of that dearest place on earth—"Home, sweet home."

A Horse Opens His Mouth And Puts His Foot In It.—The Athens Georgian assumes the responsibility for this: Mr. J. A. Langford, of this county, has certainly the trick horse of the present day. He has lately been trying the experiment. The other day he got his left hind foot between his fore legs and to his mouth. As he could not stand well in that position he concluded he would lie down, which he did, still keeping his foot in his mouth. In this condition he was found by his owner, and it took the combined strength of himself and another man to get the horse's foot out of his mouth.

As an evidence of the rapid increase of the order in the United States, we mention the number of Granges organized in the following States: Georgia 111, Illinois 591, Indiana 308, Iowa, 1, 776, Kansas 354, Minnesota 348, Mississippi 331, Missouri 628, Nebraska 310, South Carolina 151, Wisconsin 195, &c. These States have the largest number of Granges; but new Granges are being organized almost every day. The order is, also making some progress in the New England States, Massachusetts 4, New Jersey 3, and Hampshire 1 Orange.
