A Bird Story.

The following letter to a New York A curious incident is related of a canary bird by a Georgia paper. The door of the bird's cage was occasionally left open that he might enjoy the free-dom of the room. One day he happened to light upon the maniel-shelf where GENTS .- Replying to yours of the 18th inst, I hav: to say, that for the prospect of having claims placed in my hands to collect, in this vicinity, and there was a mirror. Here was a new discovery of the most profound interest. He gazed long and cautiously at himself, uothing more, I do not feel willing to re-port the "standing" of the party men-tioned, or of any one else. I do not wish to be misunderstood as saying I do not know that a lawyer would starve as quick on commissions and fees of collect-tross as he would as are collect-tross as he would as are collect-ing since the war, or rather, in trying to collect. I have offered to comp nothing more, I do not fee! willing to reand then for a reply. None came, and moody and dispirited he flew back to his pearch, hanging his head in shame and silence for the day, and although the door was repeatedly left open, he refused to ceme out again.

Phillips and Hampton.

Wendell Phillips, the Massachusetts Thersite, delivered one of his charac-teristic snarls in the form of a lecture in teristic snarls in the form of a lecture in Philadelphia, last Friday night. He came out strong for Grant for President. Speaking of national affairs and South Carolina in particular, the old libeler gaashed his boneless gums and said t. at South Carolina was a "dangerous State, led by that vagabond Governor who calls himself Hampton, a liar, without charac-ter, morally a bankrupt, penniless in the street, who holds the hand of the traitor in the White House to betray a milliou street, who holds the hand of the traitor in the White House to betray a milliou of people of their votes." On last Thursday, Gov. Hampton was thrown from a mule and dangerously hurt, and it forcibly illustrates the truth of the aphorism that misfortunes never come singly that he should have been so viciously kicked by a Massachusetts jackass on Friday.-Baltimore Gazette.

When she had mailed the card her face lighted up with a cute smile and she went out chuckling : "When any postoffice beats me out of are thought to be slightly impaired, he nine cents I want to know it !'

A Watermelon Case.

A poor fellow was before the Inferior Court on the charge of stealing a water, melon out of a brether colored man's patch. The case went through the usual formalities of a trial and was submitted to the jury for a verdiet. After a short absence the jury returned and reported they had found the prison. er guilty of the change; also that every member of the jury had at some time been guilty of the same offense and they been guilty of the same offense and they unanimously recommended the prisones to the elemency of the court. The mem-bers of the court consulted a moment, and then confessed that they had been guilty of that offense, and that they had decided to discharge the prisoner on the payment of costs.—Salisbury Watchman, Wheat, beans, and clover seed, 60
